Japan, the League, China. Civilization's Start. Wong Sang Is Direct. 113 Miles for $1.20.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS says to Japan: "Get out of Manchukuo." Japan says, in polite Oriental phrase: "Mind your own business."

Japan says to China: "Get out of Jehol." China replies: "I shall not," and makes threats.

The League of Nations also makes threats.

Presently the world will know what the threats amount to, and what they amount to will probably not be much.

MR. HEARST, from Los Angeles, wires:

"Is it not fortunate that we are not in the League of Nations? If we were in it, we should probably be ordered over there, to settle the Oriental situation, and ruin ourselves."

We were ordered to Europe once, our men and our billions, and we are learning the price of that trip, now.

EVERYBODY INTERESTED in what we call "civilization" will learn with interest that civilization, or "culture," in the Nile valley is older than that of China.

Settled life, or "civilized," with kings, religions, taxes, engineers and armies begins where there is a constant, reliable water supply.

In the valley of the Nile, in Mesopotamia, where the Tigris and Euphrates guaranteed fertility; along the Yellow River, in China, men having rich soil, plus water, and therefore a regular supply of food, could have leisure, use their brains, think, and start the human race on its career of settled living in cities and fixed abodes, instead of eternally migrating.

That the Nile civilization is older by two thousand years than that of the Yellow River, reaching to Southern Manchuria and Mongolia, is important.

THERE IS a direct simplicity in the Chinese mind, totally unlike Bret Harte's "Heathen Chinee." This simplicity Percy Castro, would-be hold-up man in New York, found most annoying.

He said to Wong Sang, at peace in his laundry: "Stick them up!" Wong asked, politely: "Have you a gun?" Castro said: "Yes." Wong said: "Show it." Castro didn't. Wong hit him in the eye. Castro is in jail; Wong still busy in his laundry.

THE NATIONAL TRANSPORTATION COMMITTEE, the late Calvin Coolidge and Alfred E. Smith, former Governor of New York, has made its report. It would have one great railroad system, including all railroads, and "regulate" ships and motor buses that interfere with railroad profits.

QUESTION NUMBER ONE: Who, in other words, what banking house, would control the railroads of the country, all in one system? Would that not be a big job for anything but the government of the United States?

Question number two: How would it be to have the postoffice in the hands of some one private financial organization, industriously issuing stocks and bonds against it?

What chance do you think there would be of sending a letter from Florida to Seattle for three cents, or ten cents either, under private ownership?

COMMISSIONS trying to help the railroads by strangling a later invention, the automobile, or preventing canal construction or use, might do well to advise railroads to improve their methods.

Nothing could have saved the stage coach. Nothng can save railroads unless they keep up to date. They might investigate the Diesel electric train that has just traveled from London to Edinburgh, 113 miles, at sixty-five miles an hour.

THAT TRIP of 113 miles cost for fuel ONE DOLLAR AND TWENTY CENTS. That, you are told, "opens startling possibilities to the hard-pushed British railroad companies." It should do the same for worse than hard-pressed American railroad companies.

Providence gave her the wonderful voice. Oxygen and deep breathing have given her health, powerful lungs, good blood, keeping her young at seventy-five. To sing well you must expand your lungs and that means health. Not everybody can be an opera singer, but everybody might take the trouble to breathe properly.

GEORGE BERNARD SHAW, who has ups and downs like the Alps, one day tells you he is greater than Shakespeare, and now, on the steamship between Hongkong and Shanghai, says:

"A man of my age has no right living; he is only fit for the grave."

He adds:

"Only 5 per cent of the world's population is enlightened, and only 2½ per cent of its statesmen."

One-tenth of one per cent in each case would be nearer the fact.

SHAW AMAZES and grieves many by saying:

"Russia is the only country that has a religion and practices it. Intelligent nations should study Russia, and learn numerous things for mankind's good."

POLICEMAN ALONE SEES DANGER

Mrs. Roosevelt, Party In Path of Moving Freight Cars

ITHACA, N. Y., Feb. 16.—(AP.)—Prompt action by the escort of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt narrowly averted her being struck by a train as she was walking up the tracks in the station here this morning.

The wife of the President-elect was escorted by a policeman out of the way of an oncoming string of railroad cars that had come within 20 feet of her at the Lehigh Valley station, shortly after her arrival here.

FATALISTIC VIEWS

Mrs. Roosevelt had just given expression to a fatalistic attitude in regard to her husband's escape from an assassin's bullets at Miami. She said:

"If they want to get you they can, and so the only thing to do is just to go along and not think about such matters any more than you have to."

In these words, quietly, with a thoughtful expression on her face,

PRESIDENT-ELECT SAVED FROM SHOTS BY WOMAN; ASSAILANT BOASTFUL

By FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 16.—(AP.)—A woman's bravery saved President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt from assassination, but five other persons were wounded by bullets intended for him and today they lay in a hospital, some near death, as the man who fired the shots was held in jail. Among the seriously wounded was Mayor Anton J. Cermak, of Chicago.

Shortly before noon today Cermak was reported "resting much easier" and attending doctors said no unfavorable developments had arisen. After visiting the wounded at the hospital, Roosevelt took a train this morning for New York.

The attempted assassination came as a melodramatic climax to a happy scene of welcome in beautiful Bay Front Park last night.

The President-elect had just returned from a fishing trip, tanned, healthy, ready for the long, hard task ahead. He drove to the crowded park and spoke a few words of greeting to thousands gathered there.

Then Guiseppe Zangara, a swarthy former bricklayer, warped in mind by unreasoning hate, climbed on a bench beside Mrs. W. F. Cross, of Miami. He rested a pistol on the shoulder of a man in front of him and began firing at the Roosevelt car, some 25 feet away.

SPOILS ASSASSIN'S AIM

Turmoil and uproar were immediate. Mrs. Cross threw herself upon the man beside her, clutching his arm and spoiling his aim. The President-elect was saved, but those close to him were less fortunate.

As citizens, police and secret service men hurled themselves on Zangara, and the cry of "kill him" rose from the infuriated crowd, Mayor Anton Cermak, of Chicago, fell with a bullet in his abdomen.

Nearby Mrs. Joe Gill, of Miami, also dropped to the pavement with a similar wound.

Miss Margaret Kruis, of Newark, N. J., was shot in the hand, and head wounds were inflicted on William Sinnott, New York policeman, and Russell Caldwell, of Miami.

The reaction of the President-elect was immediate and his concern was entirely for the injured, apparently having no time for thought of his own narrow escape from death just as he was preparing to assume the highest office in the land.

CARES FOR WOUNDED MAYOR

Into his own car he ordered the secret service men to place the wounded Mayor of Chicago. And they drove to the hospital thus, Cermak held tight in the arms of his party's leader. The other wounded were also quickly transported to the hospital and today all five were still alive, although doctors had to resort to a blood transfusion on Mrs. Gill, and Mayor Cermak was for many hours given but an even chance of survival.

COUNTY HEADS SET PAY CUT

After the majority of elected county officials had decided today that they favor a pay cut of 10 per cent, and possibly an additional 5 per cent, for all on the county payroll, Commissioners William D. Mansfield and C. C. McGovern said it would be much more than 10 per cent. McGovern said the slash would be "15 per cent and maybe more."

Mansfield commented:

"I don't see how they can talk 10 per cent reduction when other people have been cut three or four times that much. We will go much farther than 10 per cent."

The "they" Mansfield referred to were the elected officials who went into a huddle and came out with the announcement they recommended for themselves and all county employes a pay cut of 10 per cent, with an additional 5 per cent reduction if the first 10 is insufficient.

McGovern's comment was:

"We will first equalize all the salaries, paying the men the

Cermak Death Rumor Swamps Telephones

False rumors of the death of Anton Cermak, Mayor of Chicago, wounded by a bullet believed to have been intended for President-elect Roosevelt, today caused the offices of Pittsburgh newspapers to be deluged with telephone calls.

The latest reports from Miami indicate that Mayor Cermak's condition is slightly improved and that he has an even chance to live.

Pinchot Gives Thanks For Roosevelt Safety

This was the message of Gov. Gifford Pinchot, of Pennsylvania today to President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt.

BANDITS HOLD GIRL PRISONER

An 18-year-old girl was held prisoner for several hours by two gunmen who had robbed both her and her escort early today.

Anna May Stumpf and J. Donald Ferguson, Jr., 20, of 916 Wallace avenue, Wilkinsburg, were in his car on Route 51 when the bandits ordered Ferguson from the machine.

They took Ferguson's watch and $5 from the girl, who hurriedly slipped her wrist watch into a pocket, then they drove off in Ferguson's car with Miss Stumpf.

Later in Crafton they allowed her to leave the car without harming her.

Ferguson hiked 10 miles to the McKeesport Police Station, where his father, a Wilkinsburg school director, later met him. His car presumably is still in the hands of the stickup men.

The bandits are believed to be the same two who earlier held up William Hillgartner, 21, of Brownsville road, and Edna Mae Lanz, of Westmont avenue, Carrick, on the same highway. Miss Lanz lost her wrist watch and a ring.

Roosevelt's Own Story Of Shooting; Believed Cermak Dead in Auto

By GEORGE E. DURNO
International News Service.

EN ROUTE WITH PRESIDENT-ELECT ROOSEVELT, Feb. 16.—President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt today related his own eyewitness account of the attempt made to assassinate him last night in Bay Front Park at Miami.

Speeding northward by special train, the President-elect gave a graphic picture of the confusion that prevailed when a radical fanatic felled five spectators in the crowd with bullets intended for him.

Roosevelt revealed that for three blocks, traveling in a motor car, he failed to detect a pulse beat in the wrist of Mayor Anton J. Cermak, of Chicago, believing him dead. Here is Roosevelt's story:

"I have heard so many accounts myself that I have been trying to think what really happened as I saw it.

"After I had finished speaking someone from the talking picture people climbed on the back of the car and said, 'You must repeat the speech for us.' I said I would not. He said, 'We have come 1,000 miles for this.' I said I am very sorry, but I can't do it."

"Having said that, I slid off the back of the car into my seat.

JOINED BY CERMAK

"Just then Mayor Cermak came forward and I talked with him about a minute about Chicago in general. Then he moved off behind the car. Bob Clark (one of the Secret Service men) was standing right by him. As he moved away, a man came forward with a long telegram and started telling me what it contained. While he was talking I leaned forward.

"Just then I heard what I thought was a firecracker, then several more. The man talking with me pulled back and the chauffeur started the car.

"I looked around and saw Mayor Cermak doubled up, with Mrs. Gill collapsing. I told the

Eloping Pair Elude Hunt By Police

Miss Genevieve Price, 17, of Carrick, and Ted Page, 24, a University of Pittsburgh freshman, had eluded Bridgeville police and county detectives today, in an apparent elopement to West Virginia.

County detectives had been asked to head off the couple by the girl's parents. Authorities at Wellsburg, W. Va., have been notified to send them back to Pittsburgh.

The girl had worked several days at the home of George S. Rickenbach, 676 Elizabeth street, Bridgeville. When Page called for her today, Mrs. Rickenbach told the girl's parents and they notified county detectives.

HOOVER WIRES ROOSEVELT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—President Hoover, shocked by the attempt upon the life of Franklin D. Roosevelt, today found a doubly alert guard of secret service agents watching over his own safety.

On their own initiative, White House secret service guards threw extra precautions around the Chief Executive even before word of the Miami shooting was relayed to him. This added watch was continued today as Mr. Hoover received by his own request more details of the attempted assassination.

"I am deeply shocked at the news. It is a dastardly act."

These were the words of the President as he and members of the White House family were awakened last night by the startling report from the South.

The Chief Executive's deep feeling was felt throughout Washington. On every street corner there were words of anger, shock and surprise.

Lame Duck In Death Plunge

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—Representative Godfrey G. Goodwin, of Minnesota, was found dead of injuries received early today in a fall from the window of his room at a local hotel.

Goodwin, a Republican, was first elected to the Sixty-ninth Congress. He was not re-elected last November.

Sergeant-at-Arms Kenneth Romney, of the House, later today announced that a verdict of death by accident had been rendered after an inquest into the death of Goodwin.

night, but after the shooting he immediately changed his plans and went back to the Vincent Astor yacht, on which he had made his fishing trip. Before he finally departed for New York today he paid a call upon the wounded in the hospital and there was a dramatic scene between him and the Chicago Mayor. Cermak said:

"I am mighty glad it was me instead of you."

He had been standing just behind the Roosevelt automobile when Zangara fired the shots which he later said he had first intended firing at President Hoover. Cermak continued weakly:

"I wish you would be careful. The country needs you."

ROOSEVELT CHEERS CERMAK

The President-elect replied, gently:

"We need you and men like you."

He leaned over the bed on which lay his wounded friend and political ally.

As Roosevelt rode toward New York this afternoon the shots of the man who would have killed him echoed in every capital of the world and expressions of joy at the President-elect's escape and sorrow at the wounding of those who had stood about him were voiced everywhere.

Zangara himself, held in the County Jail high above the city he had thrown into a turmoil, spoke of what he had done without hesitation and without regret. He said:

"I meant to kill Roosevelt and I'm sorry I didn't. I would kill all Presidents and all officers."

Elaborating this theme, Zangara said that he had once intended to kill the King of Italy, but the plan had not worked out. Recently, he said, he decided to kill President Hoover, but, hearing that Roosevelt was coming here, he substituted him as the target for his hate of authority and leadership.

Polic were still holding Andrea Valenti, arrested on suspicion last night because he resided at the same place with Zangara, although police indicated they did not think he was connected with the incident.

With an old-fashioned .32-caliber pistol, Giuseppi Zangara shot wildly into the crowd gathered about the automobile of Mr. Roosevelt in the picturesque Bay Front Park just as the next President had concluded a brief speech.

Mayor Cermak, standing just behind the Roosevelt car, was among the first hit. A bullet lodged in his abdomen.

Shocked and startled by the gunplay, Mr. Roosevelt waited to pick up the Chicago Mayor, and sped to the hospital with him. He remained there to visit the other victims and canceled his train departure for New York until today.

Firing blindly into the throng, the assassin made each of his five shots good although he missed the mark for which they were intended.

WOMAN SEIZES GUNMAN

As the bullets sped to their marks a woman, Mrs. W. F. Cross, of Miami, grabbed at the arm of the assassin. James Galloway, of Miami Beach, joined her. George Broadnax, a Secret Service operative, pounced on the shooter. Police joined. With the departure of Roosevelt and the hurried carrying away of the assassin, order was quickly restored.

"Tell them I am all right."

Returning to the yacht of Vincent Astor, from which he had just landed from a fishing cruise, the President-elect early today issued the following statement:

"I am deeply moved by the serious injuries inflicted upon my friends tonight and I am remaining in Miami to learn in the morning of their condition. I am entirely unharmed."

ASSAILANT'S STORY WEIRD

Gruelling examination of the swarthy complexioned, stocky assassin by Secret Service men and Miami officials brought out a disconnected, weird story.

According to their account, Zangara purchased his pistol in a pawn shop here three days ago for $8. He told them he intended to kill President Hoover, but when he read that Mr. Roosevelt was coming here he decided to give attention to him.

Newspaper clippings found on Zangara reported the movements of Mr. Roosevelt and police said one of the clippings told the story of the assassination of President McKinley.

Asked if he intended to kill Roosevelt, police said he replied:

"Yes, and I am sorry I didn't. I would kill all Presidents and all officers. I like Roosevelt personally, but I don't like Presidents."

Police also said that Zangara told them he had wanted to kill the King of Italy but he had never had a chance while in that country. He was said to have lost $200 recently at the dog races. A postal savings account book on him indicated he had about $850 in the bank.

Intimate friends of Mr. Roosevelt stood about his car for the brief speech he made as he motored from the yacht to the train. They included Robert Gore, of Chicago; Marvin McIntyre, secretary to Roosevelt, and Representative-elect Wilcox of this district.

The next president had just spoken a few words into the microphone from his automobile. Sitting down beside Mayor Gautier of Miami, he turned to talk with him when the firing started about 25 feet away.

Mayor Cermak sagged to the pavement. Mrs. Gill also fell. The victims appeared stunned. It was the bystanders who did the shouting and screaming.

Newspapermen and photographers were gathered close to the car. It was over the shoulder of Rex Saffer, correspondent of the Associated Press Bureau in Miami, that the assassin had fired.

Joe Murphy, assistant chief of the United States Secret Service, was on the scene. He took over the investigation.

MOLEY QUIZZES CAPTIVE

Prof. Raymond Moley, economic adviser to Mr. Roosevelt, and Judge Frederic Kernochan, of New York City, who was on the Southern seas vacation cruise with him, went to the Dade County jail here and interviewed the prisoner. Zangara was placed in the regular jail quarters, 21 floors above the ground in the County Building towering above the railroad station where Mr. Roosevelt was to have departed.

Miami citizens were sad and outraged at the attack made on the President-elect in their city, but there was complete order.

Police details were doubled and very precaution exercised. So strong was the detail that one of the press members of the Roosevelt party were temporarily arrested when they sought to get back to the Roosevelt train.

The hospital where the victims were taken was besieged by relatives and friends. The telephone switchboard was plugged up most of the night with calls. Telegrams poured in by the hundreds.

Capt. James Reidy, in charge of Secret Service detail with Roosevelt, remained with the President-elect throughout the night. He and Al Towsley, another Secret Service man, were standing on the running board of the Roosevelt car when the firing occurred.

The President-elect was calm throughout the incident. He went to bed aboard the Vincent Astor yacht tied to a dock here early today.

Wounding of 'T. R.' By Maniac Recalled

Many Rulers Have Fallen Victims Of Assassins

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Feb. 16.—(AP.)—The attempt on the life of President-elect Roosevelt recalled last night that former President Theodore Roosevelt was once wounded by an insane person in an attempted assassination.

The shooting of former President Roosevelt occurred October 14, 1912, when he came to make a speech in this city following his nomination for President by the Progressive party. The former President recuperated in a Chicago hospital.

Besides the three martyred presidents—Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley—assassins have taken the lives of other notable political leaders in the United States. In 1893 Carter H. Harrison, Sr., Chicago's Columbian Exposition mayor, was slain. In 1900 William Goebel, Democratic claimant to the office of Governor of Kentucky was assassinated. Another slaying attributed to political activities was that of former Gov. Frank Stuenenberg, of Idaho, in 1905.

Heads of states who have fallen victim to political assassins in recent years include:

1881—Alexander II, of Russia.
1894—Sadi-Carnot, President of France.
1896—Naso ed Din, Shah of Persia.
1897—President Borda of Uruguay.
1898—President Barrios, of Guatemala.
1898—Empress Elizabeth, of Austria-Hungary.
1900—King Humbert, of Italy.
1913—President Madero, of Mexico.
1913—King George, of Greece.
1915—President Sam, of Haiti.
1918—President Paes, of Portugal.
1919—Ameer Habibullah, of Afhganistan.
1920—President Carranza, of Mexico.
1922—Premier Michael Collins, of the Irish Free State.
1932—President Paul Doumer, of France.

U. S. Recognition Of Soviet Rumored

TOKIO, Feb. 16.—(INS.)—Rumors the United States may soon recognize Soviet Russia were revived today with announcement Alexandre Troianovsky for five years Soviet ambassador to Japan, will return to Moscow Friday.

According to the rumors, Troianovsky is slased for the post of Soviet ambassador to Washington, when the United States and Russia resume relations.

JAPS MOBILIZE FOR BIG DRIVE

MUKDEN, Manchuria, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—Roads southward and westward from this most important Manchurian city are alive day and night with Japanese and Manchukuo troops moving steadily toward positions, whence they will "jump off," probably within two weeks, for the long-waited invasion of Jehol Province.

The drive along the 200-mile front is expected to bring the biggest Sino-Japanese clash fighting began in September, 1931, with the capture of this city by the Japanese.

The combined Japanese-Manchukuo force is expected to total 50,000, half of them tested Japanese veterans. They will oppose about 150,000 loosely organized Chinese.

The Japanese confidently predict the Jehol campaign will last less than one month after it is definitely under way. Independent military authorities, however, predicted a much longer conflict.

Guard for Inaugural Will Be Increased

WASHINGTON, Feb 16.—(AP.)—Plans for protecting Franklin D. Roosevelt at his inaugural here March 4 were being revamped today as a result of last night's attempted assassination at Miami, with expectation that Congress will be asked to increase an appropriation for handling crowds during the inaugural parade.

The "public order committee" arranged to "greatly increase" the force to be brought here from outside to supplement local police.

Maj. E. W. Brown, superintendent of police, said that it had been planned to have 75 plainclothesmen come here from eastern and mid western cities in addition to 200 uniformed men from Baltimore.

It is probable that the number of secret service men and plainclothesmen to be detailed to duty in protecting the President by the Treasury Department will also be increased.

Congress has appropriated $25,000 for special expenses in handling crowds at the inaugural of which about $10,000 was to have been spent for police.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—Police Commissioner Mulrooney said today that "every man necessary" will be assigned to guard President-elect Roosevelt when he returns to New York.

Expressing shock and regret at the Miami shooting, Mulrooney said it was proof that "in these times too many precautions cannot be taken."

SENATE NEARS VOTE ON REPEAL

Bitter Battle Over Saloons Precedes Showdown

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—A bitter battle over saloons featured the prohibition debate in the Senate today just prior to a vote on the Blaine resolution, proposing repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment.

Republican leaders sought to carry out their party platform's declaration against the return of saloons in event prohibition is repealed. Senator Reed (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, moved to reconsider the Senate's action last night when it struck from the resolution a section giving Congress power to outlaw saloons.

This section was eliminated by a vote of 33 to 32 at the insistance of Democratic leaders.

CAMPAIGN PROMISE'

Senator Robinson (Rep.), of Indiana, charged the Democrats were "keeping one campaign promise—to bring back the saloon."

The revenue from a tax on liquor following repeal would be "pitifully inadequate," Robinson charged. Assuming that a beer bill would be enacted early in the Roosevelt administration, he added:

"Then there will be a saloon on every corner. America will go on a spree such as never before. It won't be safe to use the streets with 32,000,000 automobiles in America."

COLLEAGUES 'DIZZY'

He asserted some of his colleagues have become dizzy "running from one side on this question to the other every time the wind changes," and remarked:

"It gives me the jitters to see such switching about."

The Nineteenth Amendment granting the ballot to women will be the "next to go," the Senator insisted, adding:

"Let the women of America beware."

If the Senate adopts the Blaine resolution for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, the House will pass it on Monday, Speaker Garner, of the House, predicted today.

The resolution then would go to state conventions for ratification. A similar resolution was defeated by six votes in the House on the opening day of the session.

Weather Conditions.

The high pressure that caused the drop in temperature over this section yesterday and last night is now centered over the Middle Atlantic coast, and low pressure covers most of the western country. There is a center north of Lake Superior, another over Colorado and another over Alberta. Highs overlie the Dakotas and northward and off the Washington and Oregon coast. The skies are clear over the Ohio Valley states, but for the country as a whole there is considerable cloudiness. Precipitation for the last 24 hours was limited to small areas and was light except for moderately heavy rain in Southern Texas and heavy snow in Idaho. There was a marked drop in temperature over the Atlantic Coast states, while westward over the country temperatures are rising. There is no cold weather indicated for this section for the next several days.

Insull System 'Vast' Puzzle, Young Testifies

BULLETIN.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—Charles G. Dawes, former vice president, took the stand this afternoon in the Senate banking committee's investigation of the Insull utilities collapse.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—Owen D. Young, who worked out a plan for the settlement of reparations, told a Senate committee today he had a feeling of "helplessness" when he discovered the complicated structure of the Insull organization.

"I think it is impossible for any man, however able, really to grasp the real situation of that vast structure."

He made this statement to the Finance Committee after relating the part that he had played in working out a $2,000,000 loan from the General Electric Company, of which he is chairman, to Samuel Insull, Sr. He said:

"We should try to work toward the objective of having these structures simplified."

Young testified after evidence had been put into the record that while the public statements of the Insull properties were showing net profits of millions of dollars, tax returns were showing losses of huge sums.

Insull agreed with Pecora that the public statement of the company showed net earnings of more than $2,000,000 at a time when the tax report showed a loss of $3,463,000.

Pecora also put into the record a notation that 1,000 shares of Insull stocks had been put aside to "take care of certain people."

Insull said he did not know to what this referred, but that he could write to his father, now in voluntary exile in Greece, and find out.

At about the same time, Carl Depue, an examiner for the Federal Trade Commission, was telling that commission that the Insull-owned Public Service Trust had existed for two years with its chief income funds derived from acting as intermediary between Insull companies.

KIDNAP SEARCH GIVEN SETBACK

DENVER, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—Investigation of the kidnaping of Charles Boettcher II, wealthy young Denver broker who is held for $60,000 ransom, encountered a setback when Mrs. Anna Lou Boettcher, failed to definitely identify N. W. (Red) Mitchell, reputed alcohol runner, as one of the men who abducted her husband Sunday night.

"A resemblance" was as close as the attractive blonde wife would come in her identification of Mitchell yesterday as one of the two men who seized her husband as they drove into the garage at their fashionable home after returning from a party Sunday night.

Three Pittsburgh brothers, related to Charles Boettcher 2nd kidnaped Denver broker and clubman, are anxiously watching developments in the case today.

Spartan Bravery Myth, Book Says

CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—Spartan bravery was something of a myth, in the opinion of Preston H. Epps, author of "Classical Philology," published by the University of Chicago Press.

Alarm and dismay, the reluctance to fight were more typical of the Spartan character than natural valor, the author says, quoting extensively from ancient writers to suport his contention.

WOMEN OUTWIT EXTORTIONIST; HE ENDS LIFE

Pens N[illegible]e to Mother, Shoots Himself as Police Arrive

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—Outwitted by a 19-year-old nursemaid from the Ozarks and the wife of the banker whose home he had invaded, an extortionist took his life as police cornered him in the home of R. Crosby Kemper.

The extortionist, identified by police as K. W. Lattin, 34, unemployed son of a rooming house proprietor here, voiced threats of death against Mrs. Kemper, Ann Wilde, the nursemaid, and Mrs. Kemper's 9-year-old daughter, Sally Ann.

Saying he wanted $15,000, he terrorized the household, which included three other women, all servants.

FAREWELL NOTE

Before firing a bullet through his head in an upstairs nursery as police closed in on him, Lattin picked up a Christmas card which had been sent to Sally Ann and upon it scribbled:

"Goodbye, mother. I can't stand to see you starve."

His mother, Mrs. W. M. Towers, whose different name was accounted for by a second marriage, became hysterical when informed of her son's death.

"All that I have in the world is gone."

The man confronted Mrs. Kemper yesterday when she returned to her home from a luncheon. As he menaced her with a gun she demanded:

"Is Sally Ann all right?"

He assured her her daughter was safe and said he wanted money. She said:

CALMS GUNMAN

Mrs. Kemper was compelled to sit down and wait for the arrival of her husband, who had been summoned by telephone by a nurse who made the call to Mr. Kemper's bank under compulsion of the terrorist.

As the man moved about uneasily during the wait, Mrs. Kemper said:

"You had better cool down yourself.

The doorbell rang.

The man saw that the callers were officers, summoned by a nurse who had locked herself and the child in an upstairs bedroom.

He ordered Mrs. Kemper to go to the door, but not to reveal anything under threat of shooting her in the back. She said:

POLICE ARRIVE

When the officers asked if anything was wrong, Mrs Kemper remained silent for a moment. She was aware the extortionist was on the stairway leading to the second floor, ready to shoot her if she made a false move. She said:

"No, I don't know of anything."

Then she winked.

Not understanding, they pushed past her into the house. She cried:

"My God! Don't go up there. He'll kill my daughter."

As the officers moved up the stairs, the man shot, the bullet just missing Patrolman R. G. Dunn.

Meanwhile, Mr. Kemper arrived. Seeing him outside, Mrs. Kemper warned:

"You stay out of here if you don't want to get killed."

Then more police arrived and the extortionist, seeing flight was impossible fired a bullet into his head. He died at a hospital.

Weeping Girl Delays Plea in Kidnaping

LOS ANGELES, Feb 16.—(AP.) Luella Pearl Hammer, in tears, and her ex-convict companion, W. P. Howard, yesterday were arraigned on a charge of kidnaping Mrs. Mary B. Skeele, 65, professor's wife. The Superior Court set next Monday for pleading at the request of defense counsel who said Miss Hammer's mental state was such she had not made up her mind what her plea would be. Mrs. Skeele was kidnaped last week and released a day later without ransom being paid.

Quotations Tell Story Of Miami Shooting

Associated Press.

President-elect Roosevelt, hearing the gunfire, sought to calm the crowd, saying:

"I'm all right."

When he saw the bullets had found human targets, ejaculations of deepest concern came from him.

Joe Zangara, the assailant:

"I kill all presidents! Kill all officers!"

The crowd:

"Kill him! Lynch him!"

Anton Cermak, Bohemian born Mayor of Chicago (as Mr. Roosevelt bent over him at a hospital):

"I am glad it was me instead of you."

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, white-faced:

President Hoover:

"It is a dastardly act."

Col. Louis Howe, Mr. Roosevelt's bosom friend:

"I seriously doubt whether the bullets were meant for Mr. Roosevelt. He is not the type of man who would be the target of such an assault.

James A. Farley, chairman of Democratic National Committee:

"Now probably Mr. Roosevelt will have to refrain from making so many public appearances."

opened it, and two $50 bills dropped out.

A man who had sold more copies of a great encyclopedia than any other salesman once said:

"I could have put $50 in the middle of any volume, come back in ten years, and found my money safe."

MEETING OF THE MAYORS OF TWO GREAT CITIES LAST YEAR

Cermak, Critically Hurt, Says, 'I'm Glad 'Twas Me'

Men and Women In Shooting and How They Acted

Associated Press.

Franklin D. Roosevelt—Tanned, smiling, winner of the largest presidential majority ever given a Democrat, he had just returned from a sea vacation to tackle, in less than three weeks, perhaps the world's hardest job. The man who faced death by infantile paralysis and conquered was hailed for the coolness he showed before an assassin's bullets.

Anton Cermak—Immigrant boy and miner's son, who rose from teamster's seat to Mayor's chair in Chicago. Round-faced, quick-eyed, hailed by his friends as nemesis of Chicago crime, he failed to quail as a bullet tore into his body. "I'm glad it was me instead of you," he told the President-elect.

Joe Zangara—Thick set, swarthy bricklayer, a man with a brain that brooded until it produced a craze to "kill all presidents!" Brokenly, almost incoherently, he screamed out that he bought his $8 pistol to kill President Hoover; that he had tried to kill the King of Italy. When the crowd cried, "Lynch him!" secret service men closed about him, protecting him.

Mrs. Joe H. Gill—A gentlewoman of the South, hit by a bullet intended for the President-elect. She is the wife of the president of the Florida Power and Light Company. Mayor Cermak, saying, "Take care of the lady first," refused to start for the hospital until she was taken there.

Roosevelt Shocked By Wounding of Chicagoan

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 16.—(AP.)—Lying critically wounded from an assassin's shot intended for President-elect Roosevelt, Mayor Anton Cermak, of Chicago, said to Mr. Roosevelt at the hospital here last night:

"I am mighty glad it was me instead of you."

A deep expression of agony showed in the sun-tanned face of President-elect Roosevelt as he bent over the bed while Cermak went on:

"I wish you would be careful. The country needs you."

Mr. Roosevelt, who had held the Mayor on his lap en route to the hospital, replied:

"We need you and men like you."

He spoke words of encouragement and sympathy as he left.

OPERATION DELAYED

At first physicians decided upon an operation, but a second consultation resulted in a contrary decision. The physicians early today issued the following statement:

"His condition is regarded as dangerous, but not immediately critical. The bullet evidently traversed the diaphragm and margin of the liver and lodged in the body of the eleventh dorsal vertebra. Surgical intervention is deemed unwise unless his condition becomes worse."

"Mayor Cermak is resting much easier, has slept part of the morning (pulse 98, temperature 99, respiration 14). No unfavorable developments have chauffeur to stop. He did, about 15 feet from where we started. The Secret Service men shouted to him, 'Get out of the crowd.' The chauffeur started again and I stopped him again, this time at the corner of the bandstand.

FEARED FOR MAYOR

"Looking back I saw Cermak being carried along and we put him in our car. He was alive but I was afraid he wouldn't last. I got my hand on his pulse and found none. He was on the seat with me and I had my left arm around him. He slumped forward. A detective from Miami, standing on the running board on that side of the car was leaning over him. He said after we had gone a couple of blocks he was afraid Cermak would not last.

"I, too, was fearful. Just then Cermak straightened up and I got his pulse. That was surprising. For three blocks I actually believe his heart had stopped.

"I held him all the way to the hospital, and his pulse constantly improved. It seemed like 25 miles to the hospital. I talked to him all the way. I remember I said, 'Tony don't move—keep quiet—it won't hurt if you keep quiet and remain perfectly still.

"I found that a bullet—the only one probably that hit Cermak—grazed the top of Clark's hand. His hand was all bloody and scratched.

"You know I knew Bill Sinnot. I kidded him at the hospital this morning and told him they couldn't hurt him with a bullet in the head. It would just bounce off. I left orders for them to starve him and take off at least 20 pounds."

New Amendment Provides Garner Would Succeed

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—Speaker John N. Garner, the Vice President-elect, would become President should anything take the life of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

This is provided in the twentieth or "lame duck" amendment, recently ratified by the states. Under the Constitution prior to this amendment's adoption, there was no definite provision for the selection of a successor to the President-elect.

Mrs. Roosevelt Periled By Approaching Freight

Mrs. Roosevelt reaffirmed her philosophy concerning whatever dangers may surround her husband, into whose party at Miami Giuseppe Zangara fired five bullets last night, wounding Mayor Cermak of Chicago and four others.

Mrs. Roosevelt arrived here to speak on the farm and home week program at Cornell University. She heard of the shooting before leaving New York City last night but held to her schedule with the remark:

"I have the habit of doing things I have said I will do."

SUBJECT DROPPED

After breakfast she was shown the latest bulletin on the condition of Mayor Cermak. She said:

"That's good, at least the fact that his temperature is under 100 sounds rather reassuring."

She then turned the conversation to the worries that go with her position as the wife of a man in public life. She said:

"We all realize that things like this may happen. There is nothing we can do, nothing anyone can do. Anyone can shoot a man in public life if he doesn't mind getting caught and suffering the consequences. And the people who do that don't mind getting caught, because they are off balance.

"As a matter of fact, I am inclined to think he didn't intend to shoot Franklin. You can't believe what he says. As a matter of fact he probably didn't know what he was doing. But if he had wanted to shoot Franklin, he had his opportunity while Franklin was standing up making his speech. He didn't start shooting until my husband had sat down and had removed himself as a target.

MUST 'GO ALONG'

"But whether he intended to shoot Franklin or not doesn't matter. This thing is apt to happen to you when you are in public life. And you have got to face it. The only thing to do, as I see it, is just to go along and not think about such things any more than you have to."

Mrs. Roosevelt expected to get in touch later in the day with Louis Howe, her husband's secretary, to find out about the condition of Mayor Cermak and the others who were wounded. She said:

"I hardly expect to hear from Franklin direct."

Last night Mrs. Roosevelt talked over the telephone with the President-elect, broke the news gently to his mother, conferred over the telephone with her son, Elliott, in New York, and sent to Groton School in Massachusetts a telegram requesting that the Roosevelt boys, Franklin, Jr., and John, be told in the morning and assured that their father was safe.

TOLD BY DAUGHTER

Mrs. Roosevelt received the news last night from her daughter, Mrs. Curtis Dall, as she was entering her house in East Sixty-fifth street. She had attended earlier in the evening a meeting of employes of a motion picture firm.

She immediately put in a long distance call for her husband, whom she located at the hospital in Miami with Mayor Cermak, and, while waiting for the call to be completed, went in and told his mother what had happened. Mrs. Roosevelt said:

"She took it very well.

"It might have been better to let it go until morning, but I was afraid someone might call her and tell her, and I thought it was better for me to do it."

BUTLER GETS NEWS

The President-elect's butler, Reynolds, got the household's first word of the shooting, a call from a newspaper. He turned to Mr. Roosevelt's daughter, Mrs. Anna Curtis Dall, and said:

"Your father's been shot at five times."

By the time Mrs. Roosevelt arrived, reporters were there with the tidings that the President-elect had not been hit. Mrs. Dall went to the door and gave her mother the facts then available.

Mrs. Roosevelt, her face blanched and her hands trembling, walked into the room and sat on the edge of a chair, saying:

"Phew!"

TWO ASSASSINS COMPARED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—(INS.)—Guiseppe Zangara, the Italian-born prisoner who attempted to assassinate President-elect Roosevelt, bears a striking resemblance to Leon Czolgosz, the radical who killed President William McKinley at Buffalo, September 6, 1901, W. H. Moran, chief of the secret service, recalled today. Moran said:

"There is a strange similarity between the teachings and background between Czolgosz, the killer, and Zangara.

"Both men were single, sober, industrious, uncommunicative and radical to the core. Zangara is a bricklayer. Czolgosz was a carpenter. Each absorbed radical teachings to the limit of their mental capacities. Both purchased guns and sulked about for several days before making their attacks.

"Zangara had in his pocket a newspaper review of Lincoln's assassination, published recently. He also had some clippings referring to the movements of Mr. Roosevelt's party in southern waters."

Moran said reports from Miami convinced him that Zangara had acted as an individual, or had been very clever in hiding his associates.

Cermak On Federal Job Eligible List

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—The name of Mayor Anton Cermak of Chicago was included in a list of Illinois Democrats "worthy of government positions" submitted by United States Senator James Hamilton Lewis to President-elect Roosevelt January 12.

Senator Lewis specified no position in his recommendation of Cermak and there was no comment from Mr. Roosevelt.

Cermak Declares, 'I'll Pull Through'

CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—(INS.)—The grim determination of Mayor Anton Cermak to live was disclosed in a message received by telephone from the Mayor to State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney. The Mayor said:

"I know that all Chicago is pulling for me, and I am going to pull through for Chicago."

Writer's Shoulder Used To Aid Assassin's Aim

Newspaperman Tells Own Story of Attack On Roosevelt

By REX SAFFER

Miami Associated Press Correspondent.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 16.—I thought it was all a part of the celebration, with some fool firing blank cartridges, when a pistol sounded sharply behind my ear last night as I followed President-elect Roosevelt.

Only when Mayor Cermak, of Chicago, slumped down before me did I realize that my shoulder was being used by an assassin to steady his aim for an attack upon the next President of the United States.

About the same time I got wise to this, the tumult broke. Men and women screamed and shouted:

"Kill him! Stop him!

"Don't let him hit Mr. Roosevelt!"

Turning about I saw two men bearing down on a little, swarthy, stockily built man. They certainly manhandled him. I didn't realize for the moment that anyone else but my old friend Tony Cermak had been hit.

NEAR ROOSEVELT CAR

I was near Mr. Roosevelt's car and, of course, my first thought was of him. Getting near I heard him say:

"Tell them I am all right."

I knew he had not been hit. Then it was a question of getting to the telephone. I did and I got called plenty of names for hanging on to it.

There was blood on the street as I jumped past the scene of carnage for the phone. It was the blood of Tony Cermak and Mrs. Gill.

World Shocked By Attempt to Kill Roosevelt

Associated Press.

The shock which President Hoover expressed when he was told of the attempt on the life of his successor was echoed in every capital of the world.

From London to Mexico City government heads, some of whom have themselves been assassins' targets, sent messages expressing horror at the crime, but gratification that the President-elect had escaped.

In London, Ambassador Andrew W. Mellon said:

"I can conceive of no other crime that would outrage the American people more than an attempt on the life of their President or President-elect. I congratulate Mr. Roosevelt with all my heart that no harm has come to him."

At the Vatican City Pope Pius, informed of the attempt on the life of President-elect Roosevelt, expressed regret that the incident had occurred, but sincere joy that the attempt had failed. He awaited dispatches from the apostolic delegation at Washington before telegraphing Mr. Roosevelt.

From Havana President Machado sent this cablegram to President-elect Roosevelt:

"Deeply shocked by attempt upon your life which I imagine the deed of an insane person. Beg to convey to you my heartiest congratulations upon your escape."

LEADERS GIVE PROSPERITY 'TONICS'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—A far-flung program of national and international steps to help America back to prosperity was sketched for the Senate Finance Committee yesterday by John W. Davis to aid a nation which he sees as "more in need of surgery than of opiates."

The opinions of the 1924 Democratic presidential standard bearer were contained in a telegram made public by the committee as it pushed ahead its economic survey sponsored by the Democrats to obtain material to help the incoming administration fight the depression.

MANY TONICS

They were added to proposed tonics ranging from an embargo on gold exports to war debt cancellation, along with reiterated pleas that the budget be balanced and the currency not tampered with, presented by witnesses, including:

Myron C. Taylor, chairman of the board of the United States Steel Corporation; Jackson Reynolds, president of the First National Bank of the City of New York; Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, whose views were expressed in a letter; Frank A. Vanderlip, the New York financier, and Rene Leon, of New York, former technical advisor of the House Coinage Committee.

NO 'MIRACLES'

Davis told the committee in answering by telegraph its invitation to appear that he had nothing to offer "that has not already been exhaustively discussed," but added:

"As the depression is not due to any single cause, unless it be human folly, I am sure it cannot be cured by any single remedy. I have long since ceased to believe in government miracles or legislative cure-alls."

What Congress should do, he said, is to devote itself to "the obvious things that lie close at hand," and:

Balance the budget by radical and drastic economy and general taxes, including a sales tax if necessary.

Reduce the "swollen and excessive appropriations to veterans."

Repeal the Eighteenth Amendment.

VANDERLIP SECRETIVE

Vanderlip, in a two-hour appearance behind closed doors, suggested adding silver to the metallic base of the currency and balancing the budget.

He himself would not tell newspapermen what he had proposed, but some committee members said these were the main points he brought out.

Veteran Dead

J. K. SPANGLER

SPANGLER DIES IN M'KEESPORT

J. K. Spangler, Civil War veteran, died yesterday at the home of his son, at 5112 Jenny Lind street, McKeesport. Mr. Spangler enlisted at the age of 16, and served in Company A, 54th Regiment.

After the war he was graduated from Mt. Union College, and later worked in McKeesport steel mills. He finally became superintendent of music of the McKeesport school system, holding that position 20 years.

Mr. Spangler had recently returned from a trip to Florida, where he has spent many winters. He leaves a son, John, and a daughter, Miss Pearl.

POLICE STATION PLEA STUDIED

City Council today has under consideration an appeal made by several North Side civic and business groups urging the reopening of Woods Run Police Station.

At a hearing before Council yesterday afternoon representatives of the North Side organizations argued that Council should reconsider its action in the closing of the Woods Run station.

Tritle Urges Work To Combat Slump

BANKING 'CZAR' TAKES CHARGE IN MICHIGAN

International News Service.

DETROIT, Feb. 16.—George W. Davison, prominent New York banker, arrived in Detroit today to become "czar" of Michigan banks.

With full authority from the state and national governments, Davison will attempt to end the confusion resulting from the proclamation of an eight-day banking moratorium throughout the state.

Davison's arrival followed reopening of most of the state's banks for limited withdrawal of deposits. Detroit banks were releasing 5 per cent, or about $28,000,000 of the $1,220,000,000 tied up by the moratorium. Upstate banks, however, followed no unified policy. Some remained closed entirely, others opened for unlimited business, and the rest released portions of deposits, ranging up to 25 per cent.

CLEARING HOUSE

Davison will organize a clearing house for all bank transactions in the state during the present crisis. In 1907 he organized a national clearing house of similar nature, which was credited for carrying the country safely through the financial upheavals of that year.

To make his program effective, legislation giving the sanction of the state and Federal governments to the financial dictatorship of Michigan, is being prepared at Lansing and Washington, bankers said.

PUBLIC INDIFFERENT

Detroit bankers, expecting almost anything when they opened their doors at 10 a. m., rejoiced at the comparative indifference of the public. No lines formed at the bank doors, and depositors appeared to be in no hurry to take advantage of the five per cent withdrawal privilege.

The withdrawals may be made at any time during the holiday ending February 23, and the banks will be open to this extent during the usual banking hours. Deposits will be held in trust.

It is understood that President Hoover has been in close touch with the situation by long-distance telephone, and is willing to approve of any suitable legislation which might be rushed through Congress to relieve the situation.

New Writ Attaches Comstock's Salary

FLINT, Mich., Feb. 16.—(INS.)—A second writ of garnishment against Gov. William A. Comstock's salary had been obtained today by Frank T. Freeman, of Flint, on the strength of an $8,000 judgment against the Governor and two associates in a real estate enterprise.

While the previous writ tied up the Governor's salary for the last half of January, the new one ties it up for the first half of February.

COUNTY SCHOOL DISTRICTS MAY BE CUT TO 70

HARRISBURG, Feb. 16.—School districts in Allegheny would be reduced to 70 by passage of the proposed new code which is before the General Assembly, the Department of Public Instruction announced today.

The department has grouped the various districts of the county into new districts, each of which has more than the 5,000 minimum population provided for in the code.

Under the proposed school code the number of districts in the state would be cut from more than 2,500 to approximately 500. Savings in school operation would result from this chance, according to Dr. James N. Rule, superintendent.

COUNTY GROUPINGS

Approve Annulment For Norman's Bride

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 15.—(Universal.)—Pope Pius XI has approved annulment of the first marriage of Mrs. Montagu Norman, bride of the president of the Bank of England, and annulment papers are expected to be granted in a few days, it was stated in a reliable quarter today.

The Vatican expects that the Normans will supplement their civil marriage, January 21, by a church ceremony shortly after the documents are received.

Thinks U. S. Agents Bandits, 'Ducks' Coin

CINCINNATI, O., Feb. 16.—(AP.)—A street car conductor took one look at the "determined" expressions on the faces of four men who boarded his car today, decided they were bandits and threw his money out the window.

A moment later the quartet—federal agents—arrested a passenger on a narcotic charge. The conductor hastily halted the car and spent some minutes scrambling for his money.

Reds Found Guilty; Troopers Guard Trial

ERIE, Pa., Feb. 16.—(AP.)—While state troopers and deputy sheriffs guarded the Courthouse, a guilty verdict was returned late yesterday against two alleged Communists tried on a charge of assault and battery.

Casimir Nimeyiski and Joe Ceaser were convicted on charges brought by Patrolman James Niland, who testified he attempted to arrest a speaker addressing a crowd without displaying the American flag and the pair interfered.

Dormont School Pay Pact Indicated

Reports from Dormont schools yesterday indicated that teachers had agreed to deferring payment of one-third of their salaries for the remainder of the year. This would be paid when the more than $150,000 in delinquent school taxes is collected, it was said.

Dr. P. W. Snyder, secretary of the school board, said that due to unemployment a large number of students were returning to school and had placed an increased burden on the school system.

BANKS CHARGE PERSONAL TAX HARMS THEM

Pittsburgh banks unanimously favor legislation to exempt deposits from the four mill personal property tax. This was made known through telegrams transmitted today to State Senator Morris Einstein, to the Pennsylvania Bankers' Association and to the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce by James C. Chaplin, president of the Colonial Trust Company.

The telegrams disclosed that the Pittsburgh Clearing House Association yesterday unanimously adopted the following resolution:

"Whereas it has come to the attention of the Pittsburgh Clearing House Association that the enforcement of the 4-mill tax on money at interest is causing serious trouble to savings banks by withdrawals of funds from savings banks and savings institutions and is causing the hoarding and withdrawal of money from circulation and causing embarrassment to savings depositors and is a deterrent to thrift and home building.

"Therefore, it is the unanimous opinion of this association and a resolution has been unanimously adopted that this association indorse Senate Bill No. 302 introduced by Honorable Morris Einstein. It was further resolved that this resolution be sent to the Pennsylvania Bankers' Association, also to the proper officers of the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce."

ADMITS 'PHONE' BROADCASTS

John Brownlee Spriggs, in whose name is licensed radio station WNBO at Washington, Pa., yesterday in a Public Service Commission hearing said representatives of the station had on several occasions opened bell boxes of the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania to attach microphones and make possible broadcasts.

Spriggs had protested to the commission against rates charged by the telephone company and against an interruption to the use of a telephone line by the company which halted a broadcast on November 19, 1932.

Under cross-examination, Spriggs testified bell boxes were opened once in broadcasting a political rally in Washington and once for a football game in Uniontown, Pa. He said the consent of the subscriber had been obtained.

ROWAND PLEADS FOR VETS

Judge Harry H. Rowand, at the annual Maine memorial service in Carnegie Music Hall last night, declared that the men who fought for this country are being forgotten by city and county officials. He added:

"They say we are getting too old to be of service and they are dropping our comrades from the payrolls. But as long as I have my voice to give places to my comrades they will not be forgotten."

Judge William H. McNaugher also spoke.

At 9:40, the time of the explosion which sank the Maine with a loss of 266 lives 36 years ago, taps were sounded by Past Commander James H. Rea.

The observance was under the auspices of the Allegheny County Council, United Spanish War Veterans.

I Never Cough More Than Once

"At the first cough I take a swallow of Thoxine and in a few minutes my cough is gone—it's wonderful for sore throat, too, and when I have a cold it fixes me up in less than a day. I wouldn't be without it."

Thoxine is an entirely different medicine—it neutralizes the toxins and poisons that cause sore throats, coughs, and colds—something that gargles, salves and cough syrups do not do—it's real prescription medicine—safe even for children—35c all drug stores.

Maryland Bill Urges Educated Patriots

BALTIMORE, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—A bill in the Maryland General Assembly would require members of politically active patriotic organizations to pass eighth-grade history and civics tests.

Its author, Mrs. Marie Bauernschmidt, said:

"I think it is time for patriots to know what their ancestors died for as well as what they died of."

KILLS WIFE, SON, SELF IN SCHOOL

DOWNEY, Cal., Feb. 16.—(AP.)—A husband angered by a divorce complaint turned the little Gallatin grammar school into a shambles, shooting and killing his wife, their 8-year-old son and himself. Another son escaped by running.

Twenty-five terrorized children and the teacher, Edith Unswerth, yesterday saw Dr. Vernon Blythe, 35, a Santa Ana dentist, slay Mrs. Eleanor Blythe and their 8-year-old son, Robert.

Students and teacher huddled in mute horror as the frenzied man left the school, fired three futile bullets at the older son, Vernon, 10, who fled from a motor car in which he had accompanied his father to the school.

Blythe had been given a summons in a divorce suit filed by Mrs. Blythe. She was visiting Robert, sitting with him in his seat in the rear row, when Dr. Blythe entered and opened fire. Mrs. Blythe and Robert fell and the dentist went outside, firing at Vernon, who ran at the sound of the first shots. When the boy escaped Blythe re-entered the school and killed himself beside his wife and Robert.

BRIDE DESERTS, MAN ENDS LIFE

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—Charles H. Bray, 27-year-old ex-marine from the National Military Home at Leavenworth, entered police headquarters yesterday and asked for a pencil and paper. As he wrote, Patrolman W. B. Horowitz glanced over his shoulder and read:

"I am tired of living. I've been married three months, but my wife left me six weeks ago and came to Kansas City and got a job in a restaurant. I——"

The patrolman interrupted:

"Say, what are you doing?"

Bray explained:

"I've just taken poison, and I didn't want to die on the street, so I came here."

An ambulance was summoned. The driver, Alex Costello, offered Bray a cigaret, and, as they smoked, inquired when he had taken the poison. Bray said:

"Oh, a little while ago."

A few minutes after he reached the hospital Bray died.

St. Timothy Library Will Open Tonight

An entertainment will precede the opening of the circulating library tonight in the basement of the St. Timothy's Church, Third street and Broadway, which is being sponsored by the Stowe-Ken-Rocks Community Council. The council includes residents of Stowe and Kennedy Townships and McKees Rocks. Alfred Williams, secretary, will be the principal speaker. The library now consists of more than 1,000 books.

Dwelling in Hays Damaged by Fire

A roof fire did $25 damage to the home of Franklin Wiggins, at 467 Armour avenues, Hays, early today. Firemen from Engine Company No. 20, summoned by a still alarm, extinguished the flames.

MRS. MASSIE TELLS OF 'DEAL'

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—The Philadelphia Record quotes Mrs. Thalia Massie as stating she left Hawaii in keeping with an agreement to save her mother and husband from serving prison terms for the slaying of Joseph Kahahawai, one of five men accused of attacking her.

The paper quoted her as saying:

"Honolulu authorities offered to commute the sentence to one year, if I would leave Hawaii immediately. The offer was refused. They immediately offered to commute the sentences to one hour. This offer was accepted and shortly afterward we left Hawaii."

Mrs. Massie, wife of Lieut. Thomas J. Massie of the United States Navy, the Record stated, said she was making her statement to vindicate herself of "aspersions" cast on her by territorial authorities when they dismissed charges against the four remaining natives who were accused of attacking her. The charges were nolle prossed.

Pat Sullivan Dies; Creator of 'Felix'

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—Pat Sullivan, who turned from pugilism to drawing "Felix" the cat, died yesterday of pneumonia at Sherman Square Hospital. He was 45.

Sullivan was born in Sydney, Australia. As a youth he tried his hand in turn at being a song-and-dance man, motion picture exhibitor and artist.

Young Mrs. Hoover's Grandmother Dies

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—Mrs. Joseph L. Moody, 90, grandmother of Mrs. Herbert Hoover, Jr., and also of Frederick S. Moody, Jr., died here yesterday. Moody is the husband of Helen Wills Moody, tennis star.

OBITUARY

Schmidt Funeral.

Funeral services for Nicholas G. Schmidt, 69, who died Tuesday, will be held at his home, 2711 Jane street, South Side, tomorrow afternoon. He was born in Germany, and came to Pittsburgh in 1882. He was a blacksmith, and was employed by the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation, South Side, 42 years, retiring eight years ago. He was a member of the German United Evangelical Church, South Side; Peter Fritz Lodge, No. 486, I. O. O. F.; Robert Blum Encampment No. 155, Fredericka Rebekah No. 291 and Odd Fellow Liedertafel. Besides his widow, he leaves two sisters, Mrs. Margaret Beck and Mrs. Katherine Zahringer; three daughters, Mrs. Bertha Kimberly, Mrs. Elizabeth Wurst and Miss Hilda M. Schmidt, and eight sons, Joseph N., Nicholas J., Henry W., John P., Albert G., Edward F., Herman A. and Frederick W. Schmidt.

Gallagher Funeral.

Funeral services for Mrs. Anna Gallagher, who died yesterday at the home of a son, Leo B. Gallagher, 900 Western avenue, North Side, will be held at 9 a. m. Saturday, when requiem high mass will be celebrated in St. Peter's Church, North Side. She was a member of Branch No. 90, L. C. B. A., and the Third Order of St. Francis. Besides her son Leo, she leaves three other sons, F. A., of Pittsburgh; Joseph, of Erie, and Alphonsius, of Canonsburg, and five daughters, Mrs. R. F. Mellor, of Jamaica, N. Y.; Mrs. J. B. Quigley, of Jeddo, Pa.; Mrs. William F. Kopmehl, of Beaver Center, Pa.; Mrs. William Cloonan, of Homestead, and Mrs. Patrick Madden, of Perrysville.

William H. Furlong.

William H. Furlong, retired Homestead business man and last member of the Charles Griffin Post, No. 207, G. A. R., died in Mercy Hospital yesterday at the age of 89. Death was caused by a fractured hip, suffered when he fell Sunday. Mr. Furlong was born in Scott County, Iowa, in 1844, and moved to Homestead a year later with his parents. At the outbreak of the Civil War he enlisted and at the end of the war returned to Homestead, where he has lived since. He is survived by a sister, Mrs. Margaret McCarthy, of Aliquippa. His body is at the home of George Laughlin, 102 East Sixteenth street, Homestead, until Saturday morning when services will be held at St. Mary Magdeline R. C. Church, of which he was a member.

Shapera Funeral.

Funeral services were held this morning for Ruben Shapera, 70, at his home, 375 South Evaline street. He was born in Austria and was one of the first settlers in Lawrenceville. He conducted a department store in Butler street until his retirement a few years ago, when his son, Peter Shapera, took charge of the business. He leaves his widow, a daughter, Mrs. Anna Ravich; three sons, Peter, Harry and Dr. William Shapera, all of Pittsburgh; a brother and a sister. Burial was in Beth Abraham Cemetery.

W[illegible] Funeral.

BUT I'M GLAD OUR NEW CAR DOESN'T LOOK LOW-PRICED!"

I WAS terribly upset when I learned we had to buy a low priced car, if we wanted a new car this year.

That's before I knew there was anything as nice as a Rockne, the low priced car the Studebaker people are behind.

Now I'm as thrilled as can be. Because our new Rockne really is lovely. I mean especially the inside, the upholstery and things like that. They're so smart and so rich looking. I'm never ashamed to ask anybody to come along.

And Rockne's a perfect dream of a car to drive. Why, you scarcely have to do anything. You know you turn on the power just by switching a key. And if you free wheel most of the time as I do, there's scarcely any work for your feet at all. It's a fast car, yet you don't have to slow down to a crawl on the turns. Rockne's so beautifully balanced you can take them fast without a swerve or sway.

They say that it's the Studebaker in it that gives you such thrilling performance. And I guess it must be. At any rate I went for Rockne strong when I learned Studebaker backed it because I know you can count on Studebaker to give you something really fine.

I'm not trying to advise anybody, of course. But if you're economizing at your house as we are, don't buy one of the ordinary low priced cars until you first go over and see a Rockne—and drive it.

You'll love Rockne for its body lines. And for its beautiful outside finish. And when you get in—well, you won't want to get out, Rockne's so roomy and so comfortable and so costly in everything but price.

TRY A ROCKNE . . . AND YOU'LL BUY A ROCKNE

Rockne offers you a six-cylinder, 70 horsepower engine floated in live rubber . . . free wheeling, synchronized shift, silent second . . . automatic switch key starting . . . double-drop, rigid "X" frame . . . one piece all steel bodies of full aerodynamic design . . . electro-plated pistons . . . silent threaded spring shackles . . . hydraulic shock absorbers . . . extra large capacity batteries . . . extra powerful brakes . . . contoured upholstery with special coil springs . . . smaller wheels, lower over-all height.

FEARS BUS LINE WOULD BREAK RAILWAYS

Thomas J. Fitzgerald, vice president and general manager of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, has testified before the Public Service Commission that a plan for bus service on a membership basis such as proposed by the Community Service Association would probably result in breaking up the railways as a unified system.

Testifying before Commissioner Samuel Walker, Fitzgerald said the railways company is in "a desperate financial condition" and that the taking away of only a few riders might be fatal.

REVERSION SEEN

He disclosed that the company is trying through financial arrangements to preserve the railways company as a system, declaring that if the attempt fails the property probably will revert to about 70 underlying companies.

Several railways employes testified to the activities of C. V. Shoup in organizing the Community Service Association.

Shoup on the stand denied any agreement ever had been executed with the Community Transportation Company to lease buses, and said his organization in setting up a fee for riding was simply charging each member for a privilege. He said:

AUTHORITY QUESTIONED

Commissioner Walker declared the bus service opposed by the Railways, if not a common carrier, is outside the jurisdiction of the commission.

Recently Common Pleas Court on the plea of the railways company issued a preliminary injunction restraining the transportation company from operating buses until the case had been reviewed by the commission.

2 Tech Boys Win Prizes for Designs

Two Carnegie Institute of Technology students have been awarded prizes in national competitions of architectural societies, according to an announcement made today. William R. James, Jr., has been selected to compete in the second preliminary for the Paris prize. His solution for "A Monumental Bandstand" was one of the nine selected in the first preliminary exercises. Francis O'Connor Church, a junior, has been judged winner in the Warren prize competition, conducted by the Beaux Arts Institute of Design in New York.

Bride Charges Star Forced Her to Wed

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Feb. 16.—(INS.)—Testifying she was forced into marriage under threat of death, Mrs. Katherine B. Van Meter Goff, 20, of Kearneysville, W. Va., yesterday was granted an annulment from her marriage to Delvin K. Goff, 25, of Middletown, Pa., former Shepherd College football star. She charged Goff forced her to accompany him to this city in 1931 to marry him.

WOMEN STUDY MANAGER PLAN

CINCINNATI, O., Feb. 16. — Three women leaders of the movement to adopt the city manager form of government in Pittsburgh were surveying today the city manager plan as it is operating here.

The visitors are Mrs. R. Templeton Smith, chairman of the Allegheny County League of Women Voters; Mrs. J. O. Miller, chairman of the government committee of the league, and Mrs. Frank A. Bond, vice-chairman of the county government committee.

The women met City Manager C. A. Dykstra, were taken on a tour of City Hall, and then attended meetings on the women's division of the charter organization supporting managership.

CLUE TO FATAL BOMBING FOUND

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 16. — (AP.)—Revelation that an attempt to shoot John M. Di Silvestro, national head of the Sons of Italy, probably saved him from the explosion which killed his wife a day later, gives the first indication that police have a definite clue to the bombers' identities.

Di Silvestro had been conferring with an Assistant United States Attorney about the shooting, detectives disclosed yesterday, until a few minutes before the explosion. When he arrived home he found rescuers searching the ruins of his house for his family.

Investigators expressed the opinion that the shot which narrowly missed Di Silvestro had been fired from a hotel window across from his office.

GROUP BACKS SCHOOL PLAN

Proposing to crystalize sentiment in favor of the retention of the appointive board of education in Pittsburgh, an organization, to be known as the Allegheny County Committee on School and Legislation, has been formed here, it was announced today.

The committee will study every bill dealing with school matters which comes before the Legislature, and will work for the continuance of the present educational standards, the announcement said.

Mrs. Hannah J. Patterson is chairman, Mrs. J. B. Roessing and Dr. Marion K. McKay, vice chairmen, and Dr. G. D. Whitney, secretary-treasurer.

Jobless Join Police But Get No Pay

SHARPSVILLE, Pa., Feb. 16.—Eight unemployed men were added to the local police force today by Burgess George Mahaney in an attempt to put down a crime wave which began two weeks ago. No salaries are to be paid, the Burgess announces.

Death Reveals Romance of Co-ed

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Feb. 16. —The romance of two former Waynesburg College students has been revealed by the death of Marie Whyte McVicker, of Rogersville. It was revealed that she was the bride of Henry McVicker, of Canonsburg. They were married December 1, last.

Mrs. McVicker underwent an operation recently and while convalescing went to the home of her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James McVicker in Canonsburg. While there she suffered a relapse and died. She also had studied voice at the Chicago Conservatory of Music. Her husband was graduated from Waynesburg last June.

COLOMBIA, PERU CLAIM VICTORY

Associated Press.

Colombia claimed victory against Peru in their clash in the Leticia border country and blamed Peru for opening the hostilities. Peru likewise claimed victory and blamed Colombia for starting the fight.

An official Peruvian communique yesterday said the forces of the Lima government retained control of Tarapaca, a fort of the Putumayo River about 80 miles north of Leticia. A Colombian announcement said:

"Our flag floats on the hills of Tarapaca, captured in battle by the artillery supported by planes."

The Colombian government delivered passports to the personnel of the Peruvian legation, an act which in international usage means the severance of diplomatic relations.

DICKEY FIGHTS SCHOOL BAN

Asking delay in condemnation proceedings against Horning School, declared unsafe by County Fire Marshal Thomas L. Pfarr recently, A. C. Dickey, superintendent of county schools, revealed plans for repairing the building. Superintendent Dickey, in a letter to Pfarr, declared if the school were torn down 150 children would be left without educational facilities.

Pfarr was preparing an answer to Superintendent Dickey to inform him of the seriousness of the building's condition. He said:

"In a high wind, the building is in danger of collapsing. I think the safety of the children should receive more consideration than their lack of school facilities."

Superintendent Dickey informed Pfarr plans were being made to have the building strengthened. Pfarr asked the plans be submitted to him before he would approve the repairs.

$1 does the work of $3 when you use Pepsodent Antiseptic

PEPSODENT ANTISEPTIC is 3 times as powerful as other leading mouth antiseptics. Hence it goes 3 times as far. And whether you buy the 25c, 50c, or $1 size, you still get 3 times as much for your money.

FEWER colds this year—quicker relief from those you catch—and money saved besides. That's the promise Pepsodent Antiseptic makes you. Millions by experience can tell you it's true. Pepsodent Antiseptic is different from other leading mouth antiseptics.

$1 does the work of $3

Pepsodent is 3 times more powerful in killing germs—it goes 3 times as far—gives you 3 times as much for your money and gives you extra protection against sore throat colds. In fighting stubborn colds, remember there really are only two leading kinds of mouth antiseptics on the market. In one group is the mouth antiseptic that must be used full strength to be effective. In the other group is Pepsodent Antiseptic, utterly safe when used full strength, yet powerful enough to be diluted with two parts of water and still kill germs in less than 10 seconds!

Don't fool yourself

It is bad enough to pay the extra cost of using antiseptics that must be used full strength . . . it's worse to dilute them and fail to kill the germs . . . so choose the antiseptic that kills the germs even when it is diluted. Insist on Pepsodent Antiseptic. Be sure—and be safe.

IMPURE BREATH
(Halitosis)

The amazing results of Pepsodent Antiseptic in fighting sore throat colds prove its effectiveness in checking Bad Breath (Halitosis). Remember, Pepsodent is 3 times more powerful in killing germs than other leading mouth antiseptics. Remember, even when diluted with water it still kills germs.

COMMISSARIES DEFENDED BY MRS. PINCHOT

Need of the commissary system or "community markets" for dispensing unemployed relief, if only to assure prevention of midespread malnutrition, was upheld today by Mrs. Cornelia Bryce Pinchot, wife of Gov. Pinchot, before the Kiwanis Club of Pittsburgh in the Fort Pitt Hotel.

Mrs. Pinchot, who was principal speaker at ladies day program of the 21 Kiwanis Clubs of Western Pennsylvania, said she was "shocked" by the news of the attempted assassination of President-elect Roosevelt in Florida.

HALTED BY POLICEMAN

Welcomed at the Pennsylvania Station by a committee, Mrs. Pinchot met a traffic policeman as the car bearing the party to the hotel was stopped going through a changing traffic light at Liberty avenue and Grant street. The officer apologized for the interference with the explanation he had his duty to perform.

Admitting the community market plan had objectionable features, Mrs. Pinchot questioned whether the state should continue on the present food order system at the reputed extra cost of $40,000,000.

DEFENDS MARKETS

Mrs. Pinchot said:

"While it would be hard on the local groceryman who would be deprived of the food orders—though the independent receives only about 30 per cent—we must ask: If you spend $40,000,000 yearly for the grocer, why not provide for other classes of business?

"By the community market system, you can feed the people for one-half the cost of the present system."

Mrs. Pinchot pointed out that malnutrition among children is as high as 50 per cent in some counties.

BOAST OF SLAIN MANAGER TOLD

WASHINGTON, Pa., Feb. 16.—Two employes of the chain store of which Charles E. Bittner was manager when he was fatally shot last August by Patrolman John Cochran, today testified to Bittner's marksmanship at Cochran's manslaughter trial. Herbert Dunn and Earl Knotts testified that last summer Bittner showed them his revolver and said:

"No cop will stop me if I have this gun."

They testified he then fired three shots into a box to prove his marksmanship.

Constable Gilbert Stainbrook testified to an attempt on Bittner's part to break away from the officer after he had been arrested for loitering. Mayor Robert E. Griffiths testified to giving Cochran orders to prevent loitering on the streets.

Chilean Doctor Martyr to Science

Your Income Tax

Capital Assets' Effect On Returns Explained

—By GEORGE H. SNYDER—

This is the twenty-second of a series of articles discussing the Revenue Act of 1932 and analyzing the problems of income taxpayers.

Stocks or bonds which were held more than two years previous to being sold are considered to have been capital assets. The treatment of gains or losses resulting from the sale of capital assets under the Revenut Act of 1932 remains the same as under the Revenue Act of 1928.

Capital assets include various types of property held for more than two years. Stocks and bonds constitute only one type of property falling under this classification. Capital assets do not necessarily have to be connected with a trade or business. They do not include a stock in trade or other property of a kind which would be included in a statement of inventory or primarily intended for sale in a trade or business.

In explaining the method of reporting gains or losses from the sale of capital assets the Bureau of Internal Revenue says:

"In the case of an individual, any loss sustained in respect of capital assets is first offset against any gains from such source. A capital net gain may, at the election of the taxpayer other than a corporation, be taxed at the rate of 12½ per cent instead of the regular rates for computing the normal tax and surtax on ordinary income. No election is allowed, however, with respect to the treatment of a capital net loss, as the reduction in the amount of the tax liability as a result of such capital net loss is limited to 12½ per cent thereof. The amount of the tax payable in such case is subject to the further provision that in no case is the amount of tax to be less than it would be if computed without regard to the capital net loss provision."

Helping Hand Group To Inspect Mayview

Representatives of the Helping Hand were to inspect the new utility building at Mayview today. The building, constructed by the city at a cost of approximately $40,000, is being used to house homeless men sent to Mayview from the Helping Hand.

A committee of three members of City Council will also visit Mayview today. The Council committee is to study the Mayview payroll, with attention centered on the titles of positions. It has been said that the titles of the positions in many instances do not conform with the duties.

FRAMED BY FOE SAYS DEPUTY

Abe Feldman, of 317 North Craig street, Fifth Ward, deputy constable, today declared that the larceny charge preferred against him and Deputy Constable Hyman Shalansky, of 2408 Wylie avenue, was a "frame-up."

Feldman and Shalansky waived hearing for court yesterday before Alderman Frank T. Halloran. The charges were filed by Sam Rutkin, who operated an upholstery shop at 2105 Murray avenue, on information rereived from David Leibling, of 911 Bryn Mawr road. Rutkin placed a like charge against Leibling, but he was discharged by Halloran.

Feldman said the case was a retaliatioon for his and Shalansky's part in having Alderman Robert H. Logan and his constable, Earl R. Sams, held for court on charges of malfeasance in office in connection with a liquor raid in which he, Shalansky and Sams participated. He also alleged he had been offered $5,000 to drop the charges.

Alderman Logan and Sams are now awaiting trial in connection with the alleged freeing of two men arrested in the raid. Several days later prohibition agents raided the place and found a still in operation.

Fake Employe Robs North Side Woman

North Side police today sought a man who stole a purse containing a necklace valued at $80 and $20 in cash from the home of Josephine Walker, 1234 Filson street, after asking her if she wanted a job, they said.

When the stranger walked in to her home and inquired if she wanted a job, the Walker woman told the man she was employed, but would ask her girl friend in the other room if she wanted a position, police said. As she walked into the other room the stranger picked up the purse and fled.

GROUP AIDS 208 HOMELESS BOYS

Making a plea for a plan of national scope to combat the problem of the homeless boy, Miss F. Hays, executive secretary of the Travelers Aid Society here, announced today that organization had handled the cases of 208 homeless boys under 21 last month.

Twenty-two of the boy wanderers were returned to their homes at a cost of $57.93 to the society, Miss Hays said.

Most of the boys are normal and healthy, Miss Hays said, but unless some plan for their care is evolved they will become chronic drifters, presenting a growing crime menace. Over 300,000 boys are "on the road" in this country, it is estimated.

Two Injured as Auto Skids, Strikes Pole

Two men were treated in South Side Hospital today for injuries suffered when the automobile in which they were riding skidded against a pole after a tire blew out.

They were James King, of 511 Island avenue, McKees Rocks, driver, and E. J. Boyle, of 510 Island avenue, McKees Rocks.

Idle Mob in Seized City Building Grows

SEATTLE, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—A patient, determined army of unemployed demonstrators, augmented almost hourly by new delegations from Seattle and other cities of Washington, saw their numbers pass the 5,000 mark as they held the County-City Building in a state of virtual siege today.

Science Fraternity Admits 28 at Pitt

Eleven members and 28 associates were initiated into Sigma Xi, national honorary scientific fraternity, University of Pittsburgh, at a dinner in the University Club last night. Dr. Herbert Donaldson, professor at Wister Institute of Anatomy, spoke at the ceremony.

'PLAYGIRLS IN LOVE' ON AIR

Rudy Features Jane Cowl, May Usher

A dramatization in six episodes of the first six installments of "Playgirls in Love," a new serial story by May Christie starting in tomorrow's Sun-Telegraph, opens on WCAE tonight at 6:45.

Under the direction of Ed Harvey, the programs are presented by an all-star cast including Helen Wayne, Pearl Hamel, Stephanie Diamond, Tom Wilmot and Mr. Harvey. The drama depicts the battle for romance between a siren of the post-war type and a modern girl of 1933 femininity. It will be offered nightly through Wednesday.

A radio event of outstanding importance is the new series of weekly 30-minute concerts by Josef Lhevinne, one of the greatest of living pianists, inaugurated over NBC-KDKA tonight at 11:30 o'clock.

Two other weekly features have their debut tonight. Wayne King adds a third broadcast to his schedule with the inauguration of a Thursday-at-9:30 program of operetta excerpts on KDKA. On WJAS at 10:30, the WJAS Radio Parade has its premiere. Leading local features heard regularly on that station, including Joey Jay's Band; Thomas Hackett, tenor; Defonso, accordionist, and the Cavaliers Quartet, have been banded together for the Parade, to be heard each Thursday at the same hour. Jim Hughes, WJAS program director, acts as master of ceremonies.

Rudy Vallee goes Shakespearean over WCAE tonight at 8 when he presents Jane Cowl and Rollo Peters, noted stage stars, in the balcony scene from "Romeo and Juliet." Funnyman Jay C. Flippen; May Usher, vaudeville comedienne, and Clifford and Marion, known as the "International Comedy Couple," also are billed.

American Weekly Dramas on Air

Four stations in the Pittsburgh area today present the first of this week's American Weekly dramas—"Black Ivory," a story of modern slave-trade in Africa with Pedro de Cordoba portraying the leading role—on the following schedule: KQV, 3:30 p. m.; WWSW, 4 p. m.; WJAC, Johnstown, 5 p. m., and WWVA, Wheeling, W. Va., 5:30 p. m.

"The Hotel Racket," the second of this week's dramas, is listed on WFBG, Altoona, at 3 p. m. and WKBN, Youngstown, O., at 9 p. m.

Taken from the contents of the next issue of the American Weekly, which is distributed each Sunday with the Sun-Telegraph, it depicts the activities of up-to-date swindlers who victimize hotel clerks and managers.

Globe-Trotting

With the Globe-Trotter of the Sun-Telegraph and Hearst Metrotone News

By LOUIS L. KAUFMAN

Hello, ladies and gentlemen:

Here is the truth about the globe trotters trip to the jungle.

Bring-'em-Back-Alive Frank Buck might have passed through more thrilling experiences than I did, but I'll bet he never was as scared running before a herd of stampeded elephants, as I was when that gentle appearing lion decided to get a bit more friendly.

Feeling perfectly safe with those heavy iron bars between Leo and Louie, I moved close to the cage murmuring "Nice Kitty" when, with a roar and a leap, old Numa hit the bars. The transformation from a docile pet into a snarling, clawing beast with dripping fangs, froze the blood of the globe trotter. Of course, Leo is all of 19 years old, and wouldn't hurt a fly, and besides that he was in a stoutly built cage, but somehow you forget about those things at the moment.

The boys around here can laugh all they want to. I'm convinced that groundhogs are my speed.

One globe trotter writes:

"Keep the doors locked, or Jumbo will be walking in on you, or maybe a flea circus."

Not having enough to worry about, we start an argument concerning the birds by printing a piece from a letter telling us that the birds we think are robins are really starlings.

Now comes Mrs. Bragg, from Sharpsburg, and William E. Young, from Charleroi, with the opposite idea. Mrs. Bragg invites the doubter to Sharpsburg where there are plenty of the real robins, while Mr. Young feels that there is some mistake or else he's seeing pink elephants because there certainly was a flock of robins down his way the other day.

Miles Mainwaring after hearing the radio description of our contract system aptly names it "The Reproach Forcing—and how!

Have just been tipped off that Troop 163 of the Bellevue Boy Scouts, is presenting a radio program over the NWC (National Wise Cracks) network. Dick Wiederkehr will be the Globe Galloper of the Moon Telephone and of course won't forget the "Seven Satellite Edition."

Cantor Tosses Wallington Orchids

By AIRCASTER

Surprise! Columbia is moving all possible forces to get Gracie Allen's real brother, George, on the next broadcast of the California melodies, which will be next Tuesday night . . . Bing Crosby is dieting because the film execs demand a sylph-like figure for his next picture . . . Cowboy Tom and Mrs. Tom are telling the world of the arrival of an eight-pound heir . . . Tom Howard, late of the cigaret bill at Columbia, will get another job, this time at NBC . . . He goes on the musical grocery store show, which debuts March 3 . . . Harry Salter's band will do the music-making.

Nellie Revell marks her second anniversary as a microphoner next Wednesday by staging a half-hour show, and bringing many old-time song writers to the cavesdroppers.

Eddie Cantor has just completed a tribute to the straight man of the air . . . He throws posies at Jimmy Wallington, his stooge, giving him 50-50 credit for the Cantor success . . . A nice gesture!

Isn't It Romantic?

The sponsors of the Mills Brothers are looking for new talent, but whether to replace them, or to inaugurate an additional program, is not yet clear . . . The Funnyboners get another sustaining spot . . . No less than 110 romantic young women have taken Tommy McLaughlin's radio title, "Romantic Bachelor," seriously, and have sent him proposals of marriage . . . Both Andrea Marsh and Welcome Lewis will get sustaining spots with the NBC shortly.

Radio will enter for the first time into inter-fraternity competition at the University of Pittsburgh, when the Theta Chi fraternity "rushes" its candidates over the air, in a series of three broadcasts over WWSW on Saturday at 7:30 p. m., and Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. A cast of students from the fraternity will present the program, a mystery play complete in three installments.

Sammy Fuller, the KDKA Kiddies Klub's "Uncle Sammy," is exhibiting 135 valentines sent to him by children from all parts of the country...

Wagner Epic Finale On Air Tomorrow

The first and second acts of "Gotterdammerung," the concluding music drama of Wagner's epic, "Der Ring des Nibelungen," will be broadcast over a nation-wide NBC network including WCAE tomorrow from 1 to 4:30 p. m.

'Playgirl'

Stephanie Diamond has one of the principal roles in "Playgirls in Love," nightly series of dramatizations of May Christie's new story, inaugurated on WCAE tonight at 6:45. Helen Wayne, Pearl Hamel, Tom Wilmot and Ed Harvey also are cast. The serial begins in tomorrow's Sun-Telegraph.

Globe-Trotter Schedule Changes

Two changes—effective tomorrow only—have been made in the broadcast schedule of Louis L. Kaufman, Globe-Trotter of the Sun-Telegraph and Hearst Metrotone News. In deference to three network features, Mr. Kaufman's 12:15 p. m. broadcast will be carried by WCAE only, and his 2:15 p. m. period will be cancelled entirely. The chain programs are the Congressional Memorial Service, WJAS at 12 noon; the NBC-Metropolitan Opera, WCAE at 1, and the American School of the Air, WJAS at 2.

A quarter-hour of fun with Uncle Bob and Betty as they read the Sun-Telegraph comic pages is listed for WCAE listeners at 6 tonight.

I'M AGAINST ALL PRESIDENTS', ASSAILANT DECLARES

FANATIC ONCE ATTEMPTED TO KILL KING

By DAMON RUNYON
Universal Service.

MIAMI, Feb. 16.—Giuseppi Zangara, the man who last night tried to assassinate President-elect Roosevelt, and wounded Mayor Tony Cermak, of Chicago, and two women and two others, is a little skinny Italian.

He is short and weighs only 105 pounds. He is as slight built as a girl. He talks only broken English. He is 33 years old, and comes from Hackensack, N. J. He seems to have no particular occupation.

He has bulging eyes that hold a wild expression. He is extremely dark. He has been in this country about nine years, most of which time he spent in New Jersey, and has been in Miami about two months.

His explanation, in his garbled English, of his act was:

"I am against all presidents, and for people out of work."

TRIED TO KILL KING

He says he once tried to assassinate the King of Italy. That was 10 years ago. He didn't seem at all regretful.

He says he gets terrible pains in his stomach and that when he has these pains he has wild thoughts. He has a big scar across his stomach, as if from an operation. He says he came to Miami on account of his stomach. He said he had been living in the northwest section of Miami, but investigation proved this false.

DENIES BEING 'RED'

Zangara denies that he is an anarchist, a "Red" or anything else. He wore a white shirt and cheap white striped trousers when he was first arrested, though they had him stripped naked when he was first seen at the jail.

He didn't appear frightened or contrite.

Not many of us in the crowd of 25,000 that gathered in Bay Front Park to hear Mr. Roosevelt realized for a few minutes what had happened when we heard the rat-tat-tat of the revolver.

Some thought at first it was part of the big demonstration to the President-elect who had concluded his brief remarks, and was sitting in his automobile talking to Mayor Cermak, who was leaning against the car.

CROWD DRAWN BACK

The crowd was commencing to break up and drift back into the streets approaching the park to watch the parade that was to escort Mr. Roosevelt to the station. But as the shots rang out they were immediately followed by yells from the men and screams from the women close to the President-elect.

Zangara stood up on a bench and fired over the heads of the crowd. Bay Front Park is a palm tree-studded plaza in the heart of the city, bordering on Biscayne Bay. It is there the people gather at night to listen to band concerts. A great canopy of colored lights stands in the center of the little park.

Mayor Cermak had been sitting in the front row of the seats on the band stand when President-elect Roosevelt came up in his automobile. With Mr. Cermak was L. L. Lee, city manager of Miami, and William Sydow. Mr Roosevelt recognized Mayor Cermak, who is an old friend, and waved at him and called:

"Come on down."

Mayor Cermak replied that he would as soon as Mr. Roosevelt finished his speech. The address concluded, he walked down to the Roosevelt automobile with Mr Lee.

arisen to the present time.

"Signed,
"DR. J. W. SNYDER,
"DR. E. S. NICHOL,
"DR. T. W. HUTSON."

'50-50 CHANCE' SEEN

The bulletin was signed by Dr. John W. Snyder, Dr. Thomas H. Hutson and Dr. E. S. Nichol. Dr. Snyder is in charge, and at the hospital this morning, he said:

"Mrs. Gill and Mayor Cermak have more than a 50-50 chance to recover."

More than a hundred telegrams and long-distance calls from all parts of the country were received at the hospital expressing hope for Mayor Cermak's recovery. Among the telegrams was one from President Hoover.

CHICAGO WAITS NEWS

CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—Shocked by the news that its anti-gang crusading and "world's fair" Mayor had been shot down in Miami by an assassin, Chicago awaited today the outcome of Anton J. Cermak's condition with anxiety and hope for his recovery.

First reports that the Mayor had been shot by the gunman who failed to take the life of President-elect Roosevelt, were followed by speculation that a gangland plot might have been responsible because of Cermak's determination to drive all hoodlums out of Chicago before the World's Fair opens in June, only to be discounted later by officials.

DAUGHTERS COLLAPSE

The Mayor's daughters, Mrs. R. V. Graham and Mrs. Frank J. Jirka, collapsed when news of the shooting was received.

Dr. Jirka, the Mayor's son-in-law and personal physician, and director of the Illinois Department of Health, left Springfield by automobile for Evansville, Ind., to board a train for Nashville, Tenn., from whence he planned to go by airplane to Miami.

Mayor Cermak was described by Dr. Karl A. Meyer as being organically sound but somewhat fatigued from the work and worry brought on by present economic conditions.

Miami officials were asked by Schoemaker to arrest 18 Chicagoans reported seen in Florida recently.

Crowd 'Spoiled' Aim, Assailant Declares

Constant Torment His Excuse for Shooting

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 16.—(Universal.)—This is the story of the attempt to shoot President-elect Roosevelt as told by the would-be assassin, Joseph Zangara, in the Miami County Jail:

"I tried to kill President-elect Roosevelt because I have been in constant torment from a stomach operation. I have six inches of stitches in my right side.

"I have always hated the rich and the powerful. When I read in a newspaper that President-elect Roosevelt was coming to Miami, I determined to kill him.

BEMOANS 'FATE'

"I hoped that I would have better luck than I had 10 years ago in Italy when I bought a pistol to kill King Victor Emanuel. By a queer trick of fate, the same thing that foiled me at that time was the same thing that prevented me from killing Mr. Roosevelt. Their was too dense a crowd around me and I couldn't shoot properly.

"After I read in the paper about Mr. Roosevelt I went to a store on North Miami avenue and bought a pistol. There was a sign in front of it which read 'money to loan.'

SOUGHT FRONT PLACE

"I paid $8 for the gun. I tried to get to the park early so as to be up as close to the President-elect as possible, but some people were before me.

"I sat there waiting and my stomach kept itching more than ever. Maybe the excitement was responsible. I kept thinking if the crowd does not get too thick around me I will not fail.

"I meant to shoot the President-elect while he was talking, but the people in front of me were standing. I am a short fellow. I didn't have a chance.

"My only chance came when some people got tired and sat down. I stood on the bench and pointed the gun at Mr. Roosevelt, but the people around were pressing against the bench and making it wobbly. The gun started to shake, but I pulled the trigger anway, I don't know how many times."

Mussolini Given Word of Shooting

ROME, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—Premier Benito Mussolini was informed of the attempt on President-elect Roosevelt's life as soon as he awakened today. He expressed gratification that Mr. Roosevelt was unharmed.

HOOVER WIRES ROOSEVELT

pressed his disturbance over the news.

He sent this telegram to Mr. Roosevelt:

"Infinitely rejoiced at your escape. May the Good Lord be with you."

The President himself had retired early last night. Suddenly the communications office of the executive mansion burst into jangling activity.

Newsgatherers all at once poured in reports by telephone of the shooting of five and the fortunate escape of Mr. Roosevelt from the wild bullets.

The usher on duty throughout all the Chief Executive's waking hours had gone to bed, and there was a delay before a White House secretary could get word beyond the door of Mr. Hoover's bedroom.

HOOVER SENDS MESSAGE

Aroused, the President quickly dictated this message to the man who shortly will take his place as leader of the nation:

"Together with every citizen I rejoice that you have not been injured.

"I shall be grateful to you for news of Mayor Cermak's condition."

The President-elect replied:

"I deeply appreciate your message. Mayor Cermak is resting, but his condition is still serious. I will wire you in the morning after I have been to the hospital."

BEDROOM GUARDED

Mr. Hoover waited before returning to bed to receive further word of the condition of the Mayor of Chicago. He inquired also for the four others wounded.

A Secret Service guard was posted not far from the President's bedroom door throughout the night.

Two uniformed patrolmen, wearing the gold badge of the White House detail, paced back and forth before the front door of the mansion. Another officer stood inside.

Even after the huge iron grilled gates of the White House grounds clanged shut at mid-night there was no relaxing of the guard. Additional patrolmen kept minute watch over the south grounds at the rear of the house.

Richard Jervis, chief of the White House Secret Service detail, was informed of the assassination attempt even before the Chief Executive. Immediately he gave out word for the redoubled watchfulness.

Through the White House switchboard long distance telephone lines were connected to gather in first-hand word of the Miami shooting, and to dispatch secret service and other orders considered necessary.

MIAMI HEROINE TELLS STORY OF SHOOTING

International News Service.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 16.—Mrs. W. F. Cross, of Miami, was the heroine of last night's attempt on President-elect Roosevelt's life.

She was the brave woman who pushed the gun in Giuseppe Zangara's hand out of position so that it failed to pour a deady barrage into Mr. Roosevelt.

She was standing next to the wild-eyed Italian. She related:

"I couldn't see when Mr. Roosevelt started to speak, because so many people in front of me stood up. I climbed up on one of the benches, too.

SHARE BENCH

"This man (Zangara) stood up with me. The bench almost collapsed.

"I looked at him and saw he had a pistol in his hand. He began shooting at the President-elect.

"I grabbed his hand and pushed it up in the air. Then I called for help. Tom Armour, the man next to me, grabbed his hand and between us we held it there so he couldn't shoot any more.

"In a minute more, all of those around us were trying to choke him. He went down under a pile of men."

NOT FRIGHTENED

Mrs. Cross, 48, and weighing but 100 pounds, didn't get frightened or nervous when she saw the weapon. She said:

"I didn't begin to get nervous at all until after it was all over. I knew he was aiming right at the President. I said to myself in a flash: 'Oh, he's going to kill the President.'

"That's why I grabbed his arm. I had my bag in my right hand, but I switched it to my left and caught his arm and twisted it up. I don't know how many shots he fired or where they went. But I could tell he was aiming right at Mr. Roosevelt, because the gun was pointed right over my shoulder on a line with Mr. Roosevelt. I know if I hadn't hit him he'd have hit the President-elect."

Mrs. Cross disclosed she had noticed the would-be assassin earlier.

IN FRONT SEATS

She drove to the park with her husband, Dr. W. F. Cross, she said, and Mrs. Willis McCrary, a friend, of Atlanta. Mrs. Cross and Mrs McCrary got seats in the front rank. Dr. Cross sat further back She continued:

"President-elect Roosevelt was only about 15 feet from us. He had just finished his speech and was about to drive away. I stood up on the bench to see him better. Then this man stood up on the bench, too, but on the back part and it sort of folded in the middle. It was a folding bench, you see.

"I was afraid I was going to fall, so I turned and said:

"'Don't do that, please, you're going to knock me off.' Then I saw the pistol."

The shots were fired so close to Mrs. Cross' face her right cheek was smudged with powder—but she didn't notice it until she arrived home, she said:

Asleep At School, Sons Not Told News

GROTON, Mass., Feb. 16.—(AP.)—Two sons of President-elect Roosevelt went to bed in their quarters at Groton School last night unaware that an attempt had been made to assassinate their father at Miami.

The boys, Franklin D. Jr., and John, were asleep when the news reached the school and were not awakened.

Kermit Roosevelt's Wife Voices Concern

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—Mrs. Kermit Roosevelt, whose husband was a member of the President-elect's yachting party, called the Associated Press twice last night to learn the details of the Miami shooting.

She expressed anxiety over all members of the party and said the shooting was a "horrible thing."

Planes and Polo Ruin Romance of Baroness

Interest in Sports Parts Heiress, Rich Husband

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Feb. 16.—(INS.)—Polo, airplane flights and trapshooting helped break the international romance of Baroness Emily Von Romberg, she admitted today in revealing she was living apart from her young millionaire husband, Baron Maximilian Hugo Converse Von Romberg, of Wiesbaden, Germany. The pretty baroness said:

"I am thinking about seeing an attorney, but I am not sure this separation will go so far as to bring about a divorce.

"Everything is up in the air between us—like the honeymoon we had five years ago, an airplane honeymoon."

Incompatibility of temperament was all Baroness Von Romberg would say when she was asked what had come between her and her husband Von Romberg, now living at Santa Barbara, has found such excitement in sports that romance was crowded from his life, the baroness hinted.

The marriage of the American heiress and the baron occurred in New York in April, 1928.

London Stirred By Miami Outrage

LONDON, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—The story of the attempt on the life of President-elect Roosevelt was immediately rushed into special editions of morning newspapers, all the biggest news of the day being displaced and the Miami outrage given top columns under page-wide heads with the fullest details available.

The lateness of the hour precluded comment in these hasty editions, but the news caused an immense stir here

Paschwitz, Former Kaiser's Aide, Dies

DRESDEN, Saxony, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—Admiral Herbert von Rebeur-Paschwitz, the fourth Kaiser's adjutant-general, died of pneumonia today. He was 69.

LEWIS BLAMES 'MANIAC'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—Illinois friends of Mayor A. J. Cermak, of Chicago, today expressed the deepest regret that he had been seriously wounded in Miami.

Senator James Hamilton Lewis said he could only believe that a maniac "would be guilty of such a crime," adding:

"Our Chicago Mayor was down in Florida taking an innocent, well earned holiday from his tasks, with Mr. Roosevelt and his friends, when this occurred. I can only express my deepest regret, and hope for his speedy recovery."

Representative Britten said he hoped the Mayor would soon be back in Chicago "where he is badly needed," continuing:

"The Mayor has taken Chicago through three years of depression with splendid results, and should anything occur to interrupt his administration, it would be a serious blow to his city."

Representative Rainey said he "sincerely hoped that the Mayor would recover as quickly as possible."

Hoover Death Plot In Miami in 1929

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 16.—(Universal)—The attempt to assassinate President-elect Roosevelt recalled that police uncovered a plot against President Hoover when he was sojourning here as President-elect in 1929.

Three men were arrested at that time and detained in jail for 11 days. Police said they had made detailed plans to kill Mr. Hoover.

Mollison Hops Off For Buenos Aires

FLORIANOPOLIS, Brazil, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—Capt. J. A. Mollison, who took off early today from Rio de Janeiro for Buenos Aires, passed over this town at 11:30 a. m. (9:30 a. m., E. S. T.).

TRACE ZANGARA IN EAST

HACKENSACK, N. J., Feb. 16.—(AP.)—Police Sergeant George Greeland said today he learned a man named Joseph Zangara had lived at 100 Green street here until September 1931.

He said the man came to this country from Italy nine years ago and was a bricklayer by trade His real name, Greeland said, was Giuseppe Zangara, but he often used the name Zingara.

In September, 1931, Zangara left Hackensack, Greeland said, for either Paterson or New York.

PATERSON, N. J., Feb. 16.—(AP.)—John J. McGrogan, business agent of the bricklayers masons and plasterers union of Paterson, today said Joseph Zangara of Hackensack had joined the Paterson union about eight years ago, but left this vicinity about three months ago because he could not find employment here.

Cermak Is Second Chicago Mayor Shot

CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—Anton J. Cermak is the second Mayor of Chicago to be shot while in office. Carter Harrison, Sr., was killed the evening of October 28, 1893, at his home by Patrick J. Prendergast, a disappointed job-seeker, who surrendered and was hanged.

Canal Boosters Meet At Beaver Tonight

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Feb. 16.—Representatives from Beaver County municipalities and civic bodies will attend the meeting in the city hall tonight to boost the proposed construction of the Ohio River and Lake Erie canal by way of the Beaver and Mahoning rivers. Dr. J. S. Louthan is chairman of the local group.

STATE RELIEF TO FORE AT HARRISBURG

HARRISBURG, Feb. 16.—Relief problems were to the fore in legislative, civic and business circles today while the General Assembly was in recess until next Monday night.

UTILITIES—The public utility investigation was in the hands of a revamped Senate committee and steps were taken to obtain funds for continuing the inquiry.

COMMISSARY — While the state's community market system was withstanding attacks and giving evidence of eventual statewide maturity, this plan of unemployment relief was assailed in a resolution by the state councillors of the Pennsylvania Chamber of Commerce meeting here today.

RELIEF ESTIMATES

RELIEF FUNDS—Gov. Pinchot's unemployment relief message early this week brought a statement from Representative Wilson G. Sarig, Democratic floor leader, saying Pinchot was "nearly correct" in his estimate of relief requirements, but that the Governor's request for $20,000,000 state money was not in accord with those needs. Sarig said he expected a recommendation of a larger appropriation in view of Pinchot's estimate that $125,000,000 is required to take care of the jobless.

SALES TAX—The state expects to collect $12,000,000 within the next two months on the emergency relief one per cent sales tax from approximately 300,000 retail and wholesale merchants. The tax expires February 28. The amount must be paid by April 1.

THRIFT GARDENS—Plans for "thrift gardens" for the unemployed are before the state Emergency Relief Board in rudimentary form, the board's advisory committee having made recommendations on which the board is to base its program for establishment of gardens in all communities. Seeds are to be bought with money advanced by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

CITY MANAGER—The Pennsylvania Chamber of Commerce adopted a resolution indorsing a Senate bill to make the city manager plan with proportional representation optional for the city of Pittsburgh.

NEW SCHOOL CODE

SCHOOL CODE—The Department of Public Instruction began a campaign today to acquaint local districts with the effect of the redistricting plan provided in the administration's new school ocde. The department is preparing data for each of the 66 counties affected, showing suggested county set-ups under the code which reduces the number of school districts from 2,587 to approximately 500.

TOWNSHIP ROADS—Gov. Pinchot's proposal to have the state take over the remaining 53,000 miles of second-class township roads was under the fire of Township Supervisors. They adopted a resolution describing the plan as "inefficient, extravagant and dangerous."

BLUE LAW—In connection with United States Senators Reed and Davis' denial they opposed modification of the Sabbath observance law, William H. Ridgeway, of Coatesville, president of the state Y. M. C. A., asserted his testimony at a Senate committee hearing "speaks for itself." Ridgeway told the committee the two Senators were opposed to the Schwartz bill to legalize Sunday afternoon outdoor sports. Ridgeway said he had not received a "letter of rebuke" from either Senator."

Meet to Protest Commissaries Set

A mass demonstration against the state commissary plan, being proposed for Allegheny County, will be held Friday afternoon in Ormsby Park, Twenty-second and Carson streets. The protest meeting is being sponsored by the Unemployed Councils of Allegheny County.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Artificial Fever as Remedy

Not long ago one of my younger colleagues had dinner with me. During the course of our conversation, malaria was mentioned. The young doctor told me he had seen his first case of malaria that morning.

Dr. Copeland

Today, malaria is a rare, an unusual disease. I could appreciate the enthusiasm of this young doctor who had read so much about malaria, was familiar with all the signs of the disease, yet had never seen a sufferer from it. The case of malaria that my young friend saw was contracted deliberately.

Within recent years it has been discovered that persons afflicted with certain chronic nervous disorders are markedly benefited by high fever, artificially produced. In many institutions patients suffering from "paresis," or softening of the brain, have been benefited by this treatment. The desired and temporary fever is produced by inoculations with malaria. Prior to the treatment the sufferer may be unable to walk. After the malarial treatment, many are able to resume their former occupations.

Of course the treatment is attended with considerable risk. It can only be undertaken at institutions which specialize in this work. The afflicted individual is inoculated with blood from a person ill of malaria. The parasite that causes that disease is transferred into the blood of the sufferer. The inoculated person runs a high fever for several days.

The patient develops chills, fever and sweats. Malaria is actually produced. But, as I have said, these patients require expert attention. They are isolated and confined in quarters where strict quarantine is enforced. This prevents the danger of the spread of malaria.

This treatment, known medically as "pyrexia therapy," or treatment by fever, exerts a definite beneficial action on the nervous system of the patient. In some cases it is necessary to repeat the inoculations two or three times. At times the results are disappointing. But since there is no other known method of treatment for these unfortunate sufferers, every effort should be made to help them.

The treatment can only be given in selected cases. Careful check-up of the heart, kidneys, liver and other organs must be made before the malaria germs are injected. When the sufferer is in poor physical condition, this treatment is inadvisable.

Producing an artificial fever as a cure for certain ailments has been known for many years. There still remain many problems, of course. When they are solved, persons afflicted with paresis will no longer be doomed to the usual fate.

Cipher Editor.

Again we hear from Malcolm Nevins, of New Kensington. He contributes Cipher No. 58. You should solve this one in an hour and a half.

This is a numerical substitution cipher and should be easy. A letter frequency table will help. Now let's see what you know.

Did you have trouble with Cipher No. 57? It was really hard. Here's how it was done. Cut out the white squares in the black stencil and place the stencil directly over the chart with the letters. Start with the blank chart and place the letter "n" over the "n" in the letter chart. You then turn the stencil to the right and read the second part of the message. Keep turning the stencil around until you have completed the message. The message read:

TAX PROTEST MARCH LOOMS

Members of the General Assembly, returning to their homes after the seventh week of their session, face increasing demands for legislation to prevent mortgage sales of farms and small homes.

Disquieting reports filtered in during the week from communities where mass meetings were held and where speakers who urged drastic steps were cheered and applauded. The executive committee of the Tax Justice League of Pennsylvania, met Tuesday night. Emerging from the meeting, T. J. Rawlings, Blairsville, one of the committee leaders, said:

"Thousands will march down here unless we get relief and get it quickly. We do not intend to wait until this session is over—we can not wait that long—and we'll come down here like an army to see that something is done to relieve our tax burdens."

Major party leaders have held consultation recently in an effort to work out some program of relief for the tax-burdened farm folk and owners of small dwellings and some means by which their lands and homes can be saved from the hammer. Questionnaires were sent out to sound sentiment of the various communities.

Cabinet to Remain On Albert's Request

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—Premier de Broqueville's Cabinet, whose resignation was not accepted by King Albert yesterday, decided today to remain in office in deference to the King's wishes. The resignation resulted from a vote of censure against the Minister of the Interior in Parliament.

24 IN STRIKE PARADE SHOT

BUCHAREST, Feb. 16.—(INS.)—Twenty-four persons, 17 women, lay seriously wounded today after they had been fired on by government troops while staging a parade on behalf of 4,000 striking railroad workers, barricaded in the workshops.

Most of those in the parade were the wives and children of the strikers.

Pleading to the officers not to shoot their husbands, the furious women attacked a major who ordered them from the streets, causing the troops to open fire.

BUILDING OWNERS DEMAND DRASTIC COUNTY ECONOMY

Verbose Controversy Over Prize Award Continues

The battle over Artist Ralph Bowman's paintings in the Associated Artists' exhibition drew the association's president, Chris Walter, to the defense of the association today.

PAINTINGS SIMILAR

While artists and connoisseurs talked and talked and talked, the only positive thing was that either coincidence, as Bowman claims, or copying, as Artist Louise Pershing claims, has produced from Bowman's brush paintings decidedly similar to those of Petrovits and Shannon.

Walter, long-time leader of Pittsburgh's art colony, strongly objects to Miss Pershing's allegation that the jury that awarded Bowman's prize was insincere, however. So he tells you:

"I am sorry that all this furore has arisen around our exhibition. Much of it, I think, is inspired by a small fraction of dissenters within the organization.

"I do not condone Mr. Bowman's action in copying others' compositions, if he did. He denies it, but three such close resemblances are a strain on the word 'coincidence.'

"Since Mr. Bowman denies that his pictures are copies, I can hardly, however, ask him to withdraw his work.

"Pictures are accepted by us on their merits, not on the reputations of artists. If copies slip through uncaught, it is a service to us if they are discovered later. As for Miss Pershing's allegation that the jury was insincere, I might say that that group was picked by a ballot among the members from a list of nationally famous artists.

"And I might ask of Miss Pershing, who condemns the jury's deliberations:

"'Vas you dere, Sharley?'"

NOTED SIMILARITY

Walter later told the Sun-Telegraph that Milan Petrovits, member of the hanging committee who yesterday condemned the association for discouraging artists in favor of crude beginners, had recognized the similarity of the second prize picture to that by Shannon of Lady Diana and had called the rest of the committee's attention to it.

The information was not relayed to Walter, however, and nothing was done about it.

Bowman's defense to revelation of the remarkable likeness of the two pictures came when he asked:

"How many English hunting scenes have you seen with horses and hunting dogs and hunters with red coats and black caps? They all look alike and yet they're all different, aren't they? It's the same way with portraits. There are just so many positions for a person to sit in and many must look alike, even if they're not.

"Mine is not a copy."

Carnegie Encouraged Intense Competition Between Mill Workers

FROM THE LIFE OF ANDREW CARNEGIE
by BURTON J. HENDRICK

Abridged for exclusive publication in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, by special permission of Mrs. Andrew Carnegie

The Edgar Thomson Steel Works began operations in September, 1875. Carnegie always liked to recall that the first month's earnings amounted to $11,000. Despite the cloud everywhere overhanging the United States, prosperity began to smile upon one region—that small area on the Monongahela River where Gen. Braddock had met defeat a century before.

The man whom he selected to manage his works—a leader who speedily developed into the greatest maker of steel in the United States and probably in the world—was, at the time Carnegie appointed him, little better than a discharged employe of the Cambria Iron Company. From the leavings of one of Carnegie's "Fathers in Israel" emerged the heroic figure of Captain "Bill" Jones.

The famous "Jones Mixer," his greatest patent is one of the most profitable possessions of the United States Steel Corporation at the present time. Henry Bessemer, viewing Capt. Jones's performance from his home on Denmark Hill, declared that he knew more about steel than any man in the United States, and Carnegie himself said that "Captain Jones was the most remarkable character we ever had, Schwab not excepted."

A Generous Offer

The Edgar Thomson recognized Captain Bill's accomplishments and wished to reward him as it always rewarded its capable subordinates—by making him a partner. So one day Carnegie called Captain Bill into his office and told him the good news. The share would cost the Captain nothing. A certain interest would be placed aside in his name and paid for out of dividends. As soon as the capital sum should be acquitted, then the stock would be the Captain's absolute possession. At the rate profits were piling up that process would only take a short time. The Captain was to have a comfortable interest and advance in wealth as the business itself advanced.

Jones showed gratitude but no enthusiasm. Instead he shifted around in the chair and stammered:

"Give me a little time to think it over."

The next day he returned. He had decided not to accept the offer. He was just a plain workman, he said. His great influence over the men consisted in that fact. If he became a partner his comrades would think that he had risen far above them and was putting on airs. He would not be able to control them as he had done. He was very grateful for the proposal but it was better for the future of the works that he decline.

But Carnegie could not leave things that way.

"We must recognize in some way what you have done," he told Captain Bill. "What would you suggest?"

"Well, you might give me a hell of a big salary!"

"We'll do it!" replied Carnegie. "From this time forth you will receive the same salary that the President of the United States receives."

"Ah, Andy, that's the kind of talk," said Capt. Bill.

And so, until the day of his death—for he was killed in 1889, in a terrible accident in the Edgar Thomson Works—Capt. Bill drew the presidential salary, with bonuses, royalties on his inventions and other emoluments.

Intense Rivalry

To pit his men against the workers in other plants was a favorite procedure. The most sensational episode of the seventies was the constant

Andrew Carnegie's Biography Tells of Early Steel History

The history of the early years of the Edgar Thomson Steel Works—a period of intense competition—is told in today's installment of Burton J. Hendrick's "Life of Andrew Carnegie."

The biographer tells of the redoubtable Capt. "Bill" Jones, whom Carnegie chose to manage the works and of the sensational rivalry between the Lucy and Isabella furnaces.

We are also given a picture of the other side of Carnegie's life in a sympathetic description by the late Dr. William J. Holland of the steelmaster's pursuits while living at his summer home near Cresson, where a colony of Pittsburghers had cottages.

Democrats Due to See Capital; Were Long Away

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

Republicans are congratulating themselves on Mr. Hoover's final speech. So are the Democrats.

It marks the swan solo of the administration. The old guard packs its tents like the Arabs and silently steals away with cocoanut shells on its feet.

In three weeks the last shall be first. The outs shall be in. And the meek and lowly shall inherit the postoffices.

The G. O. P. exodus starts soon. On March fourth the conquering Democratic legions skirmish up Pennsylvania avenue like locusts outflanking a Kansas farm.

It will be a glorious day of days for the Jeffersonians. They are returning to the land of their fathers at a time when only the very oldest Jacksonian remembered the mailing address.

Our only and best advice to the Democrats is not to stay away so long the next time. The watch dog might bite 'em.

CALLS TEACHER 'INDISCREET'

John C. Kramer, the resigned McKeesport High School civics instructor, was "indiscreet," Dr. J. B. Ritchey, superintendent of McKeesport schools, announced today. Dr. Ritchey admitted he had asked for Kramer's resignation.

The school superintendent otherwise refused to comment on the resignation of Kramer, who a year ago was also assistant coach of the high school's football team.

Kramer announced his resignation Friday, and the move created a stir in school circles. Kramer was silent on his action, and Supt. Ritchey's admission that Kramer had been "indiscreet" was the only official comment.

COUNTY HEADS SET PAY CUT

same wages when they do the same kind of work, and after the equalization, we will go ahead and cut them 15 per cent and maybe more."

When other officials conferred on the salary matters, which do not affect the new county budget, Judge James R. Macfarlane, of Common Pleas Court, who would have represented the jury commissioners; Treasurer Robert S. Cain and Coroner W. M. McGregor were absent.

The Conferees estimated the cut they agreed upon will save the county approximately $350,000 a year; with addition of the 5 per cent cut, the total would rise to more than $500,000.

County employes earning $125 a month or less are specifically exempted from the proposed slash. Exceptions will be made of a few individual employes in the offices of District Attorney Andrew T. Park and deputy sheriffs in the office of Sheriff Frank I. Gollmar, if the County Commissioners agree, the sheriff and district attorney announced.

The conferees included Park, Gollmar, Register of Wills Joseph N. Mackrell, Clerk of Courts S. J. Topley, Recorder of Deeds Samuel D. Foster, Deputy Treasurer A. E. Anke, representing Treasurer Cain and Controller Robert G. Woodside.

A decision of Judge Elder W. Marshall may have an important bearing on the Commissioners' efforts in the next two weeks to slash by salary board action the payrolls of the elective officers. Judge Marshall's ruled Sheriff Gollmar was within his right in hiring four watchmen to guard ballot boxes in his office and in setting their pay at $5 a day. The Sheriff had asked the Commissioners for approval of the special payroll, but they had refused on the grounds that hiring watchmen and fixing their wages was a matter for salary board action.

Judge Marshall also dismissed a demurrer filed in behalf of the Commissioners which held that it was the salary board's function to approve hiring of the deputies and set their pay. It asserted the Court was without authority to ratify employment of the deputies.

The Court ruled their employment was an emergency not within the province of the salary board.

TAX RATE CUT ONE-EIGHTH MILL

Salaries and Offices Hit by Reduction In Le...

A demand that the County Commissioners reduce to an absolute minimum the operation of the county parks, the aviation field, the county buildings and the divisions of county trucks and engineering, was made today in a letter from the Building Owners and Managers Association of Pittsburgh.

The letter was sent before the Commissioners had set the 1933 millage at 8¼ mills, one-eighth of a mill lower than last year.

J. W. Bamford, chairman of the taxation committee of the association, declared that no matter what millage had been set the recommendations for reductions in operating costs were still in order. He urged a flat salary and wage reduction for all county employes and substantial reductions in the appropriations for the Recorder of Deeds, the Board of Viewers, the Department of Elections and the Board for the Assessment and Revision of Taxes.

SUGGESTS CUT

Bamford suggested the park appropriations be cut to $75,000 each and that all construction work and improvement work suspended for the remainder of the year. He urged the golf courses tennis courts and swimming pools be put on a self-supporting basis. The park requests for this year totaled $549,003.

The Coroner's office was pointed out by Bamford as a suitable office where savings could be made. He said there is a slight decrease in the requirements for this year, but he has been informed of several wage increases having been put into effect in this department during 1931. He declared he could see no reason for having 28 employes. He suggested a thorough check on the department and appropriation.

Having cut one-eighth mill from the tax levy, the Commissioners themselves are fully aware drastic cuts and close checks must be made to keep from having a deficit. The cut in the tax levy will be taken from the county or general funds and will mean a savings of more than a half million dollars to the taxpayers.

Of the levy of 8¼ mills, 6¼ will go into the debt fund, which means that about 75 per cent of the revenue will go for interest and redemption bonds. One-eighth of a mill is set aside for park funds and a similar amount for road fund.

OFFICES' FUNDS CUT

The 1932 rate gave the general or county fund 1⅞ mills, which this year is cut to 1¾. The entire saving of one-eighth mill will be taken out of the funds for salaries, court costs and general operation of the county offices.

In setting the levy it is understood the Commissioners estimated tax collections for the year at about 70 per cent.

On the basis of a 70 per cent collection the amount due the county fund under the new levy would be approximately $2,200,000. However, there will be money due from delinquent taxes and other sources.

The tax levy of 8¼ mills on each dollar of assessed valuation of real property amounts to 82.5 cents on each one hundred dollars. In the county, outside the city, a 3 mill poor tax is levied by the Poor Board, which makes the total tax 11¼ mills or one dollar and 12½ cents on each one hundred dollars of assessed valuation.

$100,000 Child Feeding Fund Action Near

A $100,000 appropriation to supply food for undernourished school children, probably will come before City Council Monday for final action.

The measure was called out of finance committee late yesterday by Councilman Robert Garland and received an affirmative recommendation.

Garland's action followed the state's recent refusal to grant the Pittsburgh Board of Education funds to continue the school feeding.

The $100,000 appropriation from the city's $800,000 relief bond funds would be turned over to the school board for purchase and distribution of food.

The Allegheny County Emergency Association for several months has opposed the appropriation declaring the association can care for undernourished children in the homes. The school board has held that the schools are better able to distribute the food.

Search For Woman Lost at Sea Futile

NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 16.—(Universal.)—No trace had been found by the police today of Mrs. Charles Hall, of Boston, who boarded the Merchants and Miners steamer Allegheny at Boston on February 3, and was missing when the steamer arrived here on February 7.

Relatives in Boston have asked a police investigation, but no trace of her is yet available. Mrs. Hall boarded the steamer without baggage and was last seen when a maid served dinner to her Sunday night, February 5.

NATIONAL 'BUY AMERICAN' BODY FORMED BY MERGER

LEADERS FUSE MOVEMENTS AT PARLEY

The fusing of four organizations into one—with the common objective the maintenance of the "Buy American" plan—was an accomplished fact today.

Leaders of four groups, after an all-day conference yesterday in the William Penn Hotel, at which Victor V. Kelsey, chairman of the "Buy American" program of the American Ceramic Society presided, agreed not only to merge the four into the new national association, but to invite other similar organizations to follow.

AIMS DECLARED

The title of the new body has not as yet been decided, but the conferees issued a statement as to their aims. The statement was signed by C. S. Clark, national executive secretary, Made In America Club, Chicago; Mrs. H. H. Lund, Washington, director of public relations, "Buy Uncle Sam's;" Capt. George E. Stookey, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., executive secretary, The American Patriotic League, and L. D. Odner, of Philadelphia, general manager, Buy American Association. The statement follows:

"We have definitely decided today to consolidate the four organizations represented at the meeting in the Hotel William Penn, Pittsburgh, into a national body with the purpose of educating the American people to buy goods made or grown in America in preference to foreign products. Invitations will be extended to all similar organizations with a similar objective to become a part of this national body."

CERAMIC PROGRAM

The "Buy American" program of the American Ceramic Society aside from the conference of the other groups, was being held today.

Speaking this afternoon was Judge M. A. Musmanno, of Allegheny County courts, on "American Patriotism." Clark, Odner and Stookey also were on the program.

SEES ECONOMIC WAR

An economic war is being carried on between the United States and foreign countries exporting cheap merchandise to this country, Judge Musmanno declared.

He said:

"Patriotism is just as essential in time of peace as in war. We are as much in a state of war as if a foreign army were camping in our midst. I say we are in a state of war—the enemy has actually landed. He has captured many factories, which are America's greatest boon to prosperity. He has closed many mines which yield America's greatest treasures. He is on the way to capturing railroads, to paralyzing commerce."

AMERICA THREATENED

Judge Musmanno pointed out that Pittsburgh—"The Workshop of the World"—last year imported $17,714,604 worth of iron and steel. The Pittsburgh district, he added, during 1932 alone, imported $7,644,765 worth of pottery products, $6,396,572 worth of glassware, and 169,529 tons of bituminous coal. He continued:

"None of the European nations are concerned about our preservation. They are concerned with their own fate, and naturally so. And they are not concerned if in putting into execution the law of self-preservation we should be damaged. In a contest of man against man we can hold our own, and have demonstrated it frequently in the past. But when it comes to a contest in glass and pottery they will smash us. They can send their men, women and children into their factories and give them from 10 to 50 cents a day, and, in that way, fight us in America. In that way they can vanquish us just as effectively as one can be vanquished on the battlefield. They can starve us. By starving us, they can kill us much more cheaply than if they used ammunition.

"There is scarcely a basic article used by America daily that cannot be made better in this country than in Europe.

"We will win this economic war if we Buy American. It has always been a privilege to be an American. Eternal vigilance is the price of that privilege. Let us guard it with boldness, fortitude, ardor and intelligence."

SEE ENDURING ROADS BY NEW BRICK PROCESS

Possibility of longer-lasting highways through a de-airing or vacuum process of brick manufacturing or stronger chinaware for the home today were cited in a technical progress report submitted to the American Ceramic Society convention in the Hotel William Penn.

Described as the greatest development in structural clay products industry in nearly 100 years, the report submitted by Edward E. Krauss, Philadelphia, and P. T. Bonnot, Canton, O., cites how air is extracted from clay before it is burned in a furnace. Bricks can be made harder than granite so they can be polished like marble. Cups and plates can be produced in thinner and finer shapes, they reported.

Paving advantages were explained:

"Paving brick made in this manner will make possible the building of highways that will virtually never wear out in the press of modern traffic."

Greater use of advertising was urged yesterday by Dr. David R. Craig, director of Research Bureau of Retail Training, University of Pittsburgh, to advance the use of American ceramic products.

WIFE DIVORCES FOOTBALL STAR

Mrs. Lillian M. Cook, of the Pennsylvania Apartments, 4403 Center avenue, was granted a divorce today from Cleveland Lawrence Cook, Jr., former captain and fullback of the Washington and Jefferson College football team.

Cook was anything but a star as a husband, according to the wife's testimony before Judge Elder W. Marshall. She charged him with cruelty, and alleged he was drunk frequently and struck her. He was drunk at a downtown hotel when a bell boy aroused him to break the news that their child was born two years ago she said.

Mrs. Cook averred she was left without money while her husband traveled for a firm that employed him, and that on some occasions she had to call upon her father for food.

They were married October 15, 1929.

FRENCH STORES ON STRIKE

PARIS, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—The shutters were closed at noon on thousands of stores and even restaurants in Paris and tens of thousands of others in France as a protest by storekeepers against higher taxes and Parliament's reluctance to economize.

Dressmakers and the de luxe trades set the example, but many trades refused to sacrifice business, although sympathizing with the movement.

Taxpayers meanwhile called meetings in Paris and the provinces, and at Lille the textile exchange ordered quotations suspended tomorrow.

George K. Thomas, Of Hero Fund, Dies

George Keppel Thomas, 49, special agent of the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission and a Pittsburgh newspaperman for many years, died Tuesday night in St. John's Hospital, St. Louis, according to word received here today. He had been ill two weeks suffering with pleurisy and bronchitis. He leaves a sister, Mrs. J. W. Allison, 815 Eldora place. The body will be brought to the Semmelrock funeral parlors, Brownsville road, for burial Saturday.

Women Voters Ask Students to Meeting

Its plan approved by school principals as a practical presentation of civic matters, the League of Women Voters has invited pupils in the two upper high school grades to attend their "Open Forum" Saturday morning in the Court House. Senator Frank J. Harris and Representative William A. Walker III will speak.

'Vicious' Dog Romps With Children; Life Spared

Frank Sechan and his mongrel dog, Sandy, were happy today over the action of Judge Samuel H. Gardner in granting the stay of execution to Sandy.

Sandy seemed to realize he would not have to die to save his master from jail, and Sechan, although disliking to part with the dog, said he would go it gladly if the court allowed Sandy to live. He said:

"I know Sandy will have a good home wherever he goes, because he's a good dog and anybody who gets him will soon learn to love him like we love him. I only wish I could keep him."

Judge R. L. Reed, visiting from Cambria County, made the dog's death a condition of a six-month parole imposed upon Sechan, who pleaded guilty to keeping a vicious dog.

A petition for modification of sentence was presented to Judge Gardner Tuesday by Attorney Charles D. Coll, who promised that the dog would be taken out of the neighborhood where his presence has caused so much trouble.

Sandy romped with children as if to deny the allegations of viciousness brought against him by neighbors. Many offers to provide a home for the dog have been received. One woman wrote that she would pay Sechan $1 a day for every day he spent in jail to save the dog's life. Sechan said:

"Sure, I would go to jail if I could afford it, but what would happen to my wife and daughter? I can't let them starve."

Man Hit By Auto Taken to Hospital

Suffering a fractured right knee when he was struck by an automobile at Fifth avenue and Miltenberger street last night, Michael Regerut, 27, of 1731 Fifth avenue, was taken to Mercy Hospital. The automobile was driven by Edward Shatten of 27 Magee street, according to police.

BROWN SLAYING LINK PROBED

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 16.—(Universal)—Statements pointing out a strange link between the recent unsolved murder of Bradway Brown, young publisher of Palmyra, and the double slaying four years ago of Brown's one-time fiancee, Ruth Mowdray Wilson, and her friend, Horace Roberts, Jr., have been turned over to Attorney General William H. Stevens for investigation, according to Gov. A. Harry Moore.

The death of the two young people, whose unclad bodies were found in the girl's bedroom, was termed suicide and murder by the coroner's jury, who decided Roberts had shot the girl and then killed himself.

Coroner Benjamin F. Farner at Mt. Holly yesterday charged that his investigation of the case had been obstructed by powerful political pressure. He said:

"But my skirts are clean. That's a lot more than some Burlington County detectives will be able to say if I'm ever asked to make public names in this case. And when it is reopened, certain persons will be lucky if they do not go to jail."

Boy Stabbed in Riot Of Hunger Marchers

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Cal., Feb. 16.—(AP.)—A disturbance resulting when about 200 persons marched upon the Mountain View City Hall yesterday and demanded relief resulted in the stabbing of one youth and the arrest of three men on charges of inciting a riot.

Police said the group demanded groceries, cash and other relief service.

Beaver School Costs Cut 36 Per Cent

HELD FOR COURT IN SHOOTING

James Clyde Kane, 33, of 396 Ivyglen street, Overbrook, was held for court at a hearing before Justice of the Peace M. J. Conroy, of North Versailles, last night on charges growing out of his alleged attempt to shoot his sister-in-law and her husband Wednesday morning, in their North Versailles home.

It was testified he had battered down the door of the home of Mrs. James McCrory, fired at her and then ran through the house firing at her husband. He escaped and was caught later after an automobile chase, it was said. Someone had filled his guns with blanks, Kane was quoted as saying by constables. The shooting was blamed by police for the failure of Kane's wife to return to him.

HELD AS SNIPER OF ATTORNEY

CLEARFIELD, Pa., Feb. 16.—Identified as his assailant by Attorney Lisle D. McCall, DuBois, according to police, Joseph Butera is a prisoner in the county jail. McCall was shot four times by a sniper last Friday. A few days later Judge A. R. Chase, received a letter threatening him with "what McCall got."

Police said Butera was acquitted in connection with the slaying of Steve Laffaro, in 1927.

30 Butler Teachers Agree to Pay Cut

BUTLER, Pa., Feb. 16.—Thirty teachers of Butler Township have offered to accept a second 10 per cent reduction in salaries, and in return the board of education has given them assurance that they will receive preference when contracts are made for next year. The township is handicapped by inability to collect long-due taxes, and recently received $10,000 from the state, before the special fund was exhausted.

Impresario to Promote Opera for Masses

Grand opera for the masses, at popular prices, is what Maurice Frank, impresario of the International Grand Opera Company, is bringing to the Syria Mosque Friday and Saturday, February 24 and 25. Of grand opera and its appeal to the crowds he says:

"It has been said that the majority of Americans do not like opera, but that is because they have not had a chance to hear it. It is the social elect who have controlled grand opera in this country, and have used it as their toy. Certainly the masters who wrote these beautiful operas did not intend them to be used as playthings by a few, but as entertainment and inspiration for the many."

Mr. Frank believes the mass of people would attend grand opera and love it, if the prices were more reasonable. For the children he is presenting "Haensel and Gretel" at a matinee Saturday, February 25, at the Mosque, and reports the entire second floor already has been sold out to school children and teachers.

If the operas he is presenting prove popular with the people of Pittsburgh, and Mr. Frank believes they he will return for a week in April with a new repertoire.

Three Officers Plead Guilty in Extortion

GREENSBURG, Pa., Feb. 16.—J. H. Snyder, justice of the peace of Hempfield Township, and his two constables, Andrew Paleski, Jr., and Arthur Rummell, today pleaded guilty to four charges of extortion before Judge C. D. Copeland. They will be sentenced later. They obtained about $125, it was charged.

County Pension Paying Suspended; Cuts Later

More than 200 pensioned county employes today faced the prospect of delayed checks and later reduction of the monthly sums they receive. A moratorium was declared yesterday by the County Commissioners and pension fund officials.

The Commissioners have decided to withhold their annual $75,000 contribution to the fund and members of its board agreed to suspend payments. County employes were warned they would now pay into the fund at their own risk.

Legislation is in the making for a new system designed by George B. Buck, New York actuary, to put the fund on a sound basis. Under it employes would pay a higher percentage of their wages and not retire unless disabled, until past the age of 60. The scale of payments also would be reduced, for those now on pension and also for persons pensioned in the future.

REINFORCED BRICK BEAM TESTED

Pittsburgh Product Withstands Terrific Pressure

Engineers at Carnegie Institute of Technology today completed tests on the strength of a brick beam 13 inches square, with a span of 12 feet, made of reinforced brick masonry from Pittsburgh bricks.

The brick was reinforced with six half-inch square steel bars, with 19 three-eight-inch round vertical stirrups. It stood a pressure of 33,200 pounds, which was 3,000 pounds more than the average tested at the Bureau of Standards, and was the same as those except for the vertical stirrups.

This test was made by Prof. Frank McCullough, head of the department of civil engineering in connection with the American Ceramic Society.

Gun Threat Charge Lands Man in Cell

Peter Sciullo, 21, of 4900 Yew street, arrested after he was alleged to have threatened Frank Lecci, 31, a roomer, with a revolver during an argument in front of the house late yesterday, was held in Central Police Station today on a suspicious person charge. Sciullo was arrested by City Detective John Dean.

EXPERTS SPEAK AT POULTRY CONFERENCE

Several hundred poultry raisers were in attendance today at the closing sessions of the Allegheny County Agricultural Extension Association poultry school in the City-County Building.

Leading raisers from among the county's 291 poultry farms spoke on the program with State College experts. Subjects included poultry house air conditioning, cannibalism control, mineral requirements, nutrition and care of eggs. The speakers were H. H. Kauffman and Dr. J. E. Hunter, State College experts; Floyd Wiltshire, McKeesport; L. L. Leith, Library, and W. P. Baldesberger, Bridgeville. County Agricultural Agent Henry R. Eby was presiding.

The basis for judging baby chicks was discussed by Mr. Kauffman, who cited four necessary points. Proper handling of chicks is dependent upon the skill of the poultry operator, efficiency of the incubator and the breed and variety in chicks. Citing important judging points, he said:

"You must judge the vigor of the chicks which includes alertness and brightness of eyes; condition, including deformity, crooked toes or beak and stickiness or egg-smear; color, through checking the variety color in the down and shanks; size and weight, with uniformity which requires each 25 chicks weighing two pounds. Chicks lose 1 point in judging for each ounce the group is under weight."

Man Found Dead Victim of Alcohol

When Dr. J. W. McMeans, Coroner's physician, in motoring along Fernando street, saw a man sprawled on the street, he predicted:

"Tomorrow I'll probably perform an autopsy on that man and it'll probably show alcoholism."

WANT TO LOOK YOUNG?

The secret of keeping young is to feel young — to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They help bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c, 60c.

PAIN DEADENED CHEST COLDS LOOSENED WITHOUT DRUGS

Get quick relief from neuralgia pain, sciatica pain, neuritis pain, rheumatic pain, lame back, stiff neck, headache, strains and chest colds by rubbing plenty of Baume Bengué (pronounced Ben-Gay) on the spot. It doesn't blister or stain. Rub it in till it sinks down and soothes the pain or breaks up the chest cold. Take no drugs, for any drug that is powerful enough to "deaden" pain or loosen a chest cold may not be good for you.

But beware of imitations. Ask your druggist for Baume Bengué by name (called "Ben-Gay" in English). There are many analgesic balms, mostly cheap imitations of Ben-Gay made out of synthetic drugs. That is why they are cheap. That is also why they are ineffective. Insist on Ben-Gay and you will get real results.

Luckies Please!

Venice, Italy

In every corner of the world, both here and overseas, wherever you find joy in life, 'tis always "Luckies Please"

They please the taste... They please the throat

No matter how many Luckies you smoke—they're always pleasing. Because Luckies have character and mildness . . . the distinctive character of the world's finest tobaccos carefully selected, aged and mellowed. And the unique mildness that is imparted when these fine tobaccos are "Toasted". For these two reasons—Character and Mildness—"Luckies Please!"

because "It's toasted"

Walter Winchell ON BROADWAY

An Amazing Maiden

You do not care what people say I know,
That's obvious in everything you do.
You're self-possessed and never seem to show
Concern—where you're expected to.

Your enthusiasm never is sustained,
You're very hard to analyze, my dear,
You look to have the easier things explained
And then you act as if you didn't hear.

Some of your actions I can't comprehend,
You haven't any tact—you're most direct.
You pass without acknowledging a friend
Yet treat some total stranger with respect.

Despite all this you have a charming way,
I never hear an ill word said of you.
You keep on making new friends every day

Whew!

It actually happened at one of the tracks last season. A sportsman who had a $50,000 wager in a three-horse race knew it was a sure thing—for his horse could outdistance the two nags with him. The jockey, an honest fellow, didn't know that the horse he would mount belonged to the good-natured sportsman, because it was listed under his trainer's name. And so he "pulled" the gee-gee until it lost by a nose.

The sportsman went to the stables after the race merely to ask the jockey "how come?"

"Well, I'll tell you," pouted the kid, "I was sore at my trainer. He turned me down flat just before the race when I asked him for the loan of $10. So I lost on purpose."

The sportsman handed him the tenner—and walked away without cracking. And he hasn't beefed about the bad break once. This story came from others who knew the "inside."

Rhymes That Don't

"There's a New Day Coming," is the title of a new ditty, the words of which go in part:

"There's a new day coming for Schultz and O'Brien—for your child and miyun."

Say, if there are no rules, how's this?

Observation

Rosy-Cheeks Hellinger writes that it is surprising how readily the foreigners he has met in Europe can tell an American.

That is very simple. They are always asking somebody for a match.

True Story

Walter Reade, one of the major minds among the movie men, had 18 movie houses thrown back at him after a recent upheaval. So Mr. Reade looked over the books to find salaries to cut and save expenses so he could keep the theaters from closing. He discovered that the Asbury Park Mayfair had a "maintenance" man who got $99 weekly. Reade checked him up and learned the man merely rang a curtain up and down once a day.

Reade sent for him.

"Look here," Reade said, "let's get together. Ninety-nine dollars is too much for your job. Can you take a trim?"

"Not me," said the maintenance man, "I can't work for less."

So Reade gave the Mayfair Theater to him as a gift after making the man agree in legal papers to give Reade the job or maintenance man.

In fewer words—the maintenance man now is the owner and is starving, and Reade gets the $99 and has no more worries about that house.

Form of Criticism

A pal had heard a lot about one of the newer books, and was on the verge of buying a copy when he saw Jules Levine reading it.

"Is it a very good book?" he asked.

"It's not only dirty," replied Jules, "but it's stupid and dull!"

"Oh," oh'd the chap, "then I can save two dollars. I'll wait till it becomes a movie."

Merciless Truth

David Murray says that lots of people don't mind not having anything to eat because of the depression.

It's not having anything to boast about that hurts them.

Izzy Elinsonisms

I'm a bit confused about filling out my income tax blank. Do I write in my present address or the address of the flop house where I'll have to move after I pay my tax? . . . Poor Hoover. Everybody is sore at him because he didn't give us that chicken in every pot—even the vegetarians!

Grand Opera Dollars Melt In Purses of Stars; Europe Is Wiser

By GEORGE SEIBEL

The financial difficulties of the Metropolitan Opera, which has been collecting $7 for the best seats at "Il Trovatore" or "Rigoletto," cause one to marvel at Impresario Frank, who is planning to provide Pittsburgh with the same bills at something like two buccerinos. There's quite a difference! They will be sung in Syria Mosque February 24 and 25.

Opera is one of those luxuries that are never expected to pay their way. An opera couldn't exist without a deficit. The guarantors are more important than the ballet. But America has developed these institutions beyond all reason. When Covent Garden in London had a deficit of £1,000, everybody held up hands in horror. Here they drop that much in a week. Covent Garden pays its biggest stars no more than £150—in Paris and Berlin they get less. Here there are many singers who think they are in a class with Babe Ruth and the presidents of life insurance companies.

George Seibel

The Metropolitan, by its big bids for bright stars, has helped much to create its own deficits. It has also spoiled its public. It cannot be put on a solid basis until the fancy salaries are cut out and the public is educated to realize that the opera is more important than any singer.

SUBSIDIES ABROAD

In Europe, where every city of any importance has its opera house, subsidies by the state or municipality cover the losses. The public gets its return for the expenditure of tax money through cheap admissions. I have heard Wagner's "Flying Dutchman" in Frankfurt for one mark, less than a quarter; and Weber's "Freischuetz" in Leipsic for less than 50 cents.

In the Paris Opera House, the most magnificent theater in the world (except perhaps Vienna), you can get one of the best seats for no more than $2.50. I heard "Aida" there for the extravagant expenditure of one dollar. It must be admitted that the performance of "Aida" was considerably covered with Verdi-gris, but the Paris Opera pays its most expensive songbirds about $6,000 a year, and has a season twice as long as the Met.

WAGNER AT CUT RATES

Berlin also has grand opera that's truly grand at jitney prices. I heard the whole "Ring" at Charlottenburg (the Wilkinsburg of Berlin), and paid no more than 75 cents for any seat. Fine Mozart performances in Munich cost perhaps a dollar.

Such things are possible because the Prussian government used to pay a subsidy of about $2,000 a week to all Prussian opera houses, not to each one. But they are also possible because the big stars get about 250 marks for each performance, which is less than 50 dollars. Lesser lights get about 600 marks a month, or $150 in "Goetterdaemmerung," at Charlottenburg. Michael Bohnen, of the Met, was guest star. Guest stars are limited by law to a maximum of 650 marks a performance. And the chorus gets about $25 a month.

These figures explain a great deal. Over there those Barbarians can afford grand opera because they don't pay stars grand subsidies for the privilege of accumulating a deficit. Opera in America will have to be deflated before it can become popular and profitable.

Plays and Players

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

"The Sign of the Cross," recently screened here as a "road show," is in the Warner, where it will be the feature for a week. Based on the Wilson Barrett play of the same title, it has Fredric March, Elissa Landi, Claudette Colbert and Charles Laughton in the principal roles.

Bela Lugosi, Adrienne Ames, David Manners and a Pittsburgh boy, Vincent Barnett, are in the cast of "The Death Kiss," beginning a new week in the Fulton today. It is a mystery melodrama built around a murder in a photoplay studio.

Ralph Morgan and Tad Alexander, who had parts in the "Strange Interlude" film, are together again in "Rasputin and the Empress," starring the three Barrymores, and coming next week to the Nixon screen. Morgan, once a stock actor here, plays the czar, and young Alexander has the role of his son.

* * *

Betty Compson, playing in her first feature picture in a long time, "Destination Unknown," is planning a personal appearance tour of "one-night stands" in small towns as soon as she finishes the studio work.

Concert Here Sunday

Georges Enesco, Rumanian composer, violinist and conductor, will act in double capacity as guest artist of the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra in Syria Mosque Sunday night. He will play the Beethoven violin concerto, as soloist, and will conduct the orchestra in its playing of his own symphonic work, "Rumanian Rhapsody No. 1."

Mr. Enesco, present teacher of Yehudi Menuhin, has recently completed an opera of the Greek tragedy, "Oedipus Rex."

Student tickets for this concert are obtainable at 60 cents. Seats are on sale at Mellor's at $1, $1.50 and $2.25 each.

Chicago Site Recreated For 'Sweepings'

Four famous corners of a famous city as they appeared in 1871, will be seen on theater screens in the near future. State and Madison streets, Chicago, just before the fire of that year, is the locale for the opening of Lionel Barrymore's new RKO Radio film, "Sweepings."

South Seas De Cou's Topic Tonight

"South Seas Wonderlands" is the subject for the second Branson De Cou Travelogue in Carnegie Music Hall tonight. Mr. De Cou will take his audience to the Hawaiian Islands, Samoa, Fiji, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa. There will be music by Miss Bernice Austin and Grace McMillan, pianists.

FUNNY! (in "The Passionate Plumber")
FUNNIER! (in "Speak Easily")
FUNNIEST NOW!
It took a national event to produce the funniest comedy of screen history!
Ever since it was announced that M-G-M would produce a comedy based on the fun and foibles of "the return of beer" the public has besieged theatres with inquiries about it. When it was announced that Buster Keaton and Jimmy Durante would co-star in it the public's interest became keener than ever. We do not exaggerate when we say that the completed picture is in a comedy class of its own! Prepare for the biggest laugh of all your screen experience!

A METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER PICTURE

All in a Day

By Mark Hellinger

HOTEL GRAND BRETAGNE, ATHENS, Greece.—The big topic around here has been—and will be for some time, I guess—Mr. Samuel Insull. I've heard more stories about Sammy in the short time I've been here than I ever heard about Clara Bow back in the States. And those, my dear friends, were many and varied.

In Mr. Insull's case, of course, they're money and varied. The good people of Athens have heard so much about the man that he dwells as a sort of fabulous figure in their midst. Everybody in the town has a story about Sammy, and they'll offer them to you without any encouragement whatsoever.

Some of the yarns are amazing. Some are fantastic. And others are downright laughable. I had one man tell me in all seriousness, for example, that Insull had carried $7,000,000 into Greece in a battered suitcase. I didn't mind the suitcase, but when he gave me the "battered" business, I knew he was a reader of detective stories and let it go at that.

Another bird, anxious to supply the American press with firsthand details on a world-wide topic, drew me to one side and supplied me with his story.

"I know what I'm talking about, Mr. Hellinger," he whispered, "and you can take the information for what it is worth. My information came from somebody so close to Insull that it can't be wrong. And this is actually Insull's plan:

"He is going to develop Athens into another New York. He is going to show America that it isn't the only pebble on the beach. He is going to build skyscrapers here that will dwarf the Woolworth and the Empire State biuldings. And that is going to be his revenge.

"While that is going on, he is going to turn Greece from a poor country into a rich one. His plans are so great that I can't even repeat them to you. But he'll make them good. Mark what I say.

"Right now, Insull is flying money into Greece in airplane after airplane. He has as much money as he ever had in America, and maybe more. And before he is through, he is going to prove to his critics just what fools they are."

And that nonsense, mind you, does not come from a gentleman who is mentally unbalanced. It was told to me by a Greek who is by no means a fool in his own home town.

He means well and he is in earnest. He has simply been blinded by the Insull propaganda that has been accepted as gospel in this interesting land.

I know neither Sammy's attorneys nor his press representatives over here. But to them I doff my hat in honest admiration. By subtle propaganda that grew more daring as it was spread, they have led the Greek people to expect Samuel Insull to lead them from the wilderness.

When I arrived here, I thought I might attempt to interview Mr. Insull. But the more I thought of the idea, the less I liked it. After all, getting right down to cases, he is actually one of the most pitiful figures in the world today. Formerly the possessor of one of the world's greatest fortunes, he enjoyed all the happiness that money is supposed to supply in life.

And now? Just another American who isn't able to get back home. Just another money-mad mortal who winds up nowhere. Just another old man who clings to an unhappy life while he waits for death.

No, the more I thought about that interview, the less I wanted to do it. The same thing happened to me when I was in Monte Carlo, and Jimmy Walker arrived with Betty Compton. I knew the story was right in my lap. I knew that Jimmy would have talked to me frankly and honestly, and I'm quite certain that Betty would have done the same.

But what would any of us have gained. I've known Betty since her name was Violet Halling and she first came down from Canada to Broadway to play in the "Nine O'Clock Revue." There was nothing she could have told me that I—or the public—didn't know.

As for Jimmy—well, Jimmy will always be Jimmy to me. He's a swell guy and, if it hadn't been for the depression and his phony friends, New Yorkers would be cheering him at this very moment. I blame his so-called friends even more than I do the depression because he never stopped fighting for them even though they meant his ruination. And the moment he was down, how they kicked him! But isn't that always the way?

As part of my duty, then, I sent Jimmy a wire and asked if he wanted to see me. I left 10 minutes after the wire had been sent. I read in the Paris Herald later that Jimmy and Betty had come to my hotel several hours later. I'm glad I wasn't there...

With Mr. Insull, however, I wasn't quite so fortunate. It seems that a journalist named Parker occupies the room directly across the corridor from me in this hotel. I don't know Mr. Parker's connections, but he has now been ill for some time. And whether it's his stomach or his connections, I have no way of knowing.

At any rate, Mr. Parker must be a big shot in the journalistic field because Samuel Insull takes the trouble to call upon him several times a week. I'm just across the way and Sammy never even takes the trouble to shove a card under my door. Well, that just goes to show you how much I mean.

This morning, just when I had made up my mind not to interview Insull, I opened my door to walk to the elevator—and out he came from Mr. Parker's room. Insull is a smallish man, and he glances furtively around every now and then. That was my only impression at the moment.

In silence we walked down the long corridor to the elevator. I found myself in a delicate situation. As a newspaperman, the least I could do would be to attempt to get some sort of story. And as a lazy commentator on nothing in particular, I wanted to ignore him completely.

We stepped into the elevator together, and, as we descended, the newspaperman won the argument. We stepped from the elevator, and I smiled at the big man with the small future.

"Nice morning, Mr. Insull," I began. "I want——"

He peered at me through thick glasses.

"What's nice about it?" he snapped.

Jehol Battle On Screen

THE GLOBE TROTTER

Pictures of the Japanese advance on the province of Jehol are contained in the current issue of Hearst Metrotone News. They show the actual invasion of the City of Shanhaikwan, the key-city to the province. Valiantly the Chinese defend the town, but are forced back by the Japanese whose flag is then seen flying over the shattered watchtower on the wall of the city. Actual scenes in the Chinese trenches follow with the soldiers firing their rifles and trench motars toward the Japanese lines. There are intimate views and statements by Gen. Ho, who declares that China will fight the Japanese invasion to her last man, and by Gen. Suzuki, commander of the Japanese forces.

Uncle Sam's activities in the Pacific are demonstrated by pictures of the air maneuvers off Hawaii, where the fleet is concentrated. More than 300 planes search for a mythical enemy supposed to be advancing upon Honolulu.

Miss Clarke Comes Back

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 16. Through the hardest kind of breaks, Mae Clarke has refused to say quits. Yesterday she received the reward of courage and ability—a long term contract at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

Along with it comes one of the leads in "Soviet," the picture that is to co-star Clark Gable and Wallace Beery.

With this good news, Mae can say good-bye at last to the jinx that threatened her screen career. It was last April when the actress became ill—a complete breakdown—and Hollywood shook its head and said she was through. But that was underestimating Mae. She spent five months in the hospital, came out a sick girl still, but held constantly to the determination to come back to the screen.

The first step came in August when she was signed for an independent picture. After that she managed to get four more roles. Then Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer signed her for "Rivets." It was her work as Jack Gilbert's leading woman in this film that turned the tide.

Now, she's in a better position than she ever was. But she has her fingers crossed just the same.

All this talk in the air is very unsettling to the players. Yesterday, two comics met in Al Levy's tavern.

"What's your studio going to do—merge?" asked one.

The other looked grim.

"No, submerge."

Can it be true, this gossip that Walter Winchell and Ben Bernie will be out here presently to make a picture together? Hollywood rumor insists both have signed for the project and that Julius Stein, president of the Music Corporation of America, is coming out soon to talk release with several of the big companies.

The clash between George Raft and Paramount over "The Story of Temple Drake" has not, as yet, resulted in his suspension. Georgie simply refuses to do the part—thinks the character hasn't a redeeming feature, and would hurt him in the eyes of the public. He's willing to quit and go to Europe rather than play it. Meanwhile, the actor has given up his Beverly Hills home and has taken an apartment in Hollywood.

COX WILL BAKE OWN BEANS

Father Cox is always figuring how he can get the best foods for the least money. All of the hot food served to his constantly growing breadline is cooked in his own kitchen and comes out steaming to those who daily come to Old St. Patrick's for aid.

Father Cox, planning for the future and believing that his work will have to carry on for several months to come, is getting ready to meet the situation.

He figures that baked beans are a healthy, consistent food—with plenty of calories—and he is now planning to bake his own pork and beans on a large scale. This plan is also made in view of the fact that dry beans are now one of the lowest priced of staple food commodities. Father Cox plans to build a huge oven on the "Shantytown" lot, have the beans prepared in the early evening and baked all night. And he says that he has a recipe for baked beans that will turn out a product that will make your mouth water—whether or not you are in the breadline.

He plans to take about 200 gallons a night, three nights a week. He figures that he can furnish a good-sized plate of beans at approximately one and one-half cents per plate. He is very enthusiastic about the experiment. Among the unemployed who come to him are several bakers, and they will give their time and experience in cooking this food.

In the meantime the Sun-Telegraph-Father Cox subscription drive is meeting with gratifying success. Every subscription that comes in on the blank on this page or is telephoned to the Home Delivery Department of the Sun-Telegraph with the request that Father Cox be given credit for it, brings to his unemployment relief fund a liberal cash commission.

To End a Cough In a Hurry, Mix This at Home

Saves $2. No Cooking! So Easy!

Millions of housewives have found that, by mixing their own cough medicine, they get a purer, more effective remedy. They use a recipe which costs about one-fourth as much as ready-made medicine, but which really has no equal for breaking up obstinate coughs.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. The syrup is easily made with 2 cups sugar and one cup water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. It's no trouble at all, and makes the most effective remedy that money could buy. Keeps perfectly, and children love its taste.

Its quick action in loosening the phlegm, clearing the air passages, and soothing away the inflammation, has caused it to be used in more homes than any other cough remedy.

"Don't break the speed laws—but use an oil that can"

"TAKE my advice and stay under the speed limit. Take it easy. Don't try to be a mile-a-minute man...

"But use the oil that can do 100-miles-an-hour—Gulf Supreme! Why? That's simple...

"For the oil that is good at 100-miles-an-hour is doubly good at lower speeds! It's a better, safer oil. It has extra resistance... extra richness... extra ability to halt wear and keep repair bills down!"

Why do we call Gulf Supreme the "100-mile-an-hour motor oil?" Here's why...

Tests made in the Gulf laboratories showed that Gulf Supreme could stand almost twice the heat of the normal speeding motor.

So on August 8, 1932, Supreme was put to a stiffer test than it could get in any car on the roads! Under Official AAA supervision, it successfully lubricated a roaring Duesenberg racer—flashing around the Indianapolis Speedway at speeds which reached almost two miles a minute! An average for the one-hour, non-stop run of more than 100-miles-an-hour!

WARNING!
... OIL that isn't good at high speeds, isn't good enough at ANY speed!

Switch to Gulf Supreme now. There's a grade for every climate. It can take super-punishment. Give better lubrication. Cut oil costs. And minimize repairs!

You'll want to be in town in April, for we're going to have a most delightful prelude to the June season of weddings. Today I've just learned of another bride-to-be who has decided on an April wedding date.

She is Neil Stewart Zang, the William Zangs' daughter, whose engagement to George Cummings Stephenson, of Pittsburgh, son of the Frank Stuart Stephensons, of Galesburg, Ill., was announced early in December.

Neil has named April 29 as the date of the ceremony, to take place in Calvary Episcopal Church with the Rev. Dr. Edwin J. Van Etten as officiant.

The young bride-to-be has been active in welfare work the past few years, and is the youngest president the St. Margaret's Dispensary has ever had.

Virginia Eicher, C. M. Thorp, Jr. Married

At a simple, lovely ceremony this afternoon in Christ Church, Greensburg, Virginia Gallaher Eicher, daughter of the junior Alex Eichers, of Greensburg, becomes the bride of Charles Monroe Thorp, Jr., son of Charles Monroe Thorp, of Edgewood.

Officiating is the rector, the Rev. Dr. W. F. Shero, before the altar decorated with ferns and crotons. A vested choir is singing and William Wentzell, of the East Liberty Presbyterian Church, is playing the wedding music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, is wearing a gown of silver lame, having a fitted jacket of white satin extending into a full train. Her veil is of tulle, caught with orange blossoms, and her bouquet is of lavender orchids. Her sister, Winona Ewing Eicher, as maid of honor, is wearing purple velvet with a tiny hat of velvet and carrying pink roses. George Thorp is his brother's best man. Mary Brown Jamison, small daughter of the Jay C. Jamisons, is flower girl, wearing a Kate Greenaway frock in Dresden shades and carrying a basket of rosebuds.

There is no reception, and the informal dinner for the families is being held in the Greensburg Country Club. Mr. Thorpe, Jr., and his bride are leaving for the West Indies, and upon their return will live in Meade street, East End.

SIMPLICITY OF JUMPER DRESS ENDEARS IT TO PRESENT MODE

THE IDEA of simple, school-girl clothes is well liked these days. Making small economies and thrifty living have become fashions. The jumper dress, the dress built like an apron, the smock dress—all these have great fashion value.

RECOGNIZING the virtues of looking young, one dressmaker has planned a good part of her collection with the school-girl's clothes in mind, but the fashionable matron as her imaginary mannequin. She does many of her dresses in the student manner, keeping to simple lines, and concentrating all sophistication to details of trimming.

THERE IS, for example, the ultimate of simplicity in the general plan of her jumper dress, pictured at the left in today's sketch. It is simple skirt, bib and suspenders, worn over a guimpe with classic shoulders and sleeves and unadorned V-shaped neckline. Just the way in which the white crepe has been added to the black—in the body of the guimpe and not in the sleeves—and the fabric of the dress, peau d'ange, make this dress mature and smart. The little crosses in the guimpe are red, and braided into the fabric.

Are Women Getting Tired Of Careers?

Are girls turning their backs on "freedom" and careers, and "going feminine"?

Are they abandoning the notion of being big business women, and going in for biscuits and babies, instead?

Rita Wayne thinks they are.

According to her Miss 1933 is thoroughly fed up on wrestling with a job, and ready to retire to the kitchen. She thinks leg-o'-mutton sleeves, eyebrow hats and nose veils, prove it.

Do you agree?

Dear Elsie Robinson:

Don't you think women are getting tired of their so-called "freedom" and going "womanly" again? It looks to me as if they were. I wonder if a lot of other people haven't noticed it, too.

It just doesn't seem to be fashionable any more for women to boast about how smart they are in business, from what I have seen lately. I know three different women, myself, who used to do nothing but tell you what big successes they were in the office—and they were, too—and talk about how women were becoming "emancipated" from their old slavery to housework and conventions and fussy clothes; who used to wear straight dresses and go in for Boyish Forms and shingled hair—but who are now going in for puffed sleeves and curves, and boasting about their cooking!

They are still in business, and doing as well as could be expected in these times; but—

Whereas, they used to try to avoid being called "feminine," they are now going in strong for that sort of thing.

GETTING GIRLISH AGAIN

And the girls! A few years ago they were concentrating on being pals with their men friends and being "good fellows," but now they're getting coy and girlish and pulling the "Oh, you great big, wonderful man!" line on the boys. Pretty soon, I'll bet, they'll be flirting behind fans and blushing if they show an ankle!

And all this just as women were beginning to win out as People. Just when they were beginning to win out in their battle for equality, and the right to have careers if they wanted them, and not be bossed around by their men folks, or by conventions and traditions that purported to tell them where their "place" was and keep them in it.

I know four different girls, myself, who say frankly that they are not in the least interested in jobs, or in making a name for themselves in any line outside the home. If you speak of women's freedom, they just laugh and look sort of superior. And not one of them even is interested in voting!

WANTS OPINIONS

I wonder if they have any idea of what they are doing. I grew up in a day when we had to fight for what they seem so willing to throw away; and while I know that making your own way is no cinch, it is better than being hedged around with all the masculine superiority and bossing and silly restrictions that were so exasperating in my own girlhood.

Are women going to be foolish enough to invite those old days back? From the leg-o'-mutton sleeves, the postage-stamp hats and nose veils, the new glorifying of domesticity and the "feminine" figure, it looks to me as if they were.

I wonder what the rest of Sally's gang thinks of this. Let's start a forum on the subject and see. I think it needs some airing, myself. I'd like to hear from some of the modern girls on what they think, as well as from some of the older women, who had to fight through, like I did, for a right to be themselves.

RITA WAYNE.

All right, girls!

Come on! The lists are open! Are you quitting the old job and going feminine? If so, why so? And where'll it lead to?

Fay King Urges More Careful Judgment of Present Day Girl

By FAY KING

Mothers of sons sometimes complain that modern girls pursue young men too much.

These mothers forget that in this day the telephone has replaced those little notes and printed invitations of the past.

That when girls call up their sons it may mean no more than those formal little notes of long ago which were never thought forward or bold.

Also, some mothers misjudge the manner and appearance of some of their sons' girl friends. Actions and manners are only like current styles.

What these mothers condemn as frivolous, or even brazen, seems so, of course, compared with the once fashionable reticence and modesty. But they will discover beneath it all the same womanly sweetness and sincerity.

Continuation of Love's Reawakening

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge Is Puzzled Concerning Message

The mistress of the mountain glen tearoom looked intently at me as she told me that my name was on the tiny pad of Chinese paper she had taken from the pewter candlestick I had just bought. There was a certain wariness in her manner, slight but definable, that told me she was on guard.

"The papers are a message to me," I told her quietly, and at her gasp of astonishment I motioned her to a chair at the table we had just left.

"Sit down and let me tell you about it," I said, and when, with calm eyes still fixed on my face, she sat down opposite me, I outlined for her as rapidly as possible the sinister events of the last few days, ending with the mysterious telephone message of the Chinese that had sent me to the tearoom to buy the "little horse" candlestick.

CHECK ON COSTUMERS

But she was puzzled about something. I could see that. And when she lifted her head and called "Ellery! Please come here!" I felt a little tingle of excitement run down my spine. Would I perhaps be able to find a clue in this secluded spot that would aid in unraveling the mystery surrounding the kidnaping of Marion and Carolyn?

Her voice had been raised only a trifle above its usual timbre, but her husband answered her at once—

"Yes, Dora, coming!" And the next instant he was advancing toward us.

"Do you mind if I tell him?" Mrs. Merton asked in a low voice. "He has an awfully keen mind when he's up against anything like this, and he won't talk any more than I will. You can depend upon both of us."

"I am sure of that," I told her. "Tell him, by all means." In three minutes Mr. Merton was as fully acquainted with the kidnaping date as I was.

"The first thing, of course," he said slowly, "is to check up on everybody who has been in here since you dusted those candlesticks this morning." He turned to his wife. "What time was that, Dora? Can you remember?"

"I know exactly the time," his wife said, surprisingly. "I had a cake in the oven, and it had to come out by ten-fifteen; so it was after that."

SUSPECTS NAMED

"Then we can pretty well tell," Mr. Merton said thoughtfully. "In the first place we have no help just now, so no one but ourselves has access to these rooms from inside the house and, as you see, no customer can cross the threshold without first stepping on the footbridge. We always keep the bolt drawn on that door, and I'll tell you a secret that not many people know. When anyone steps on the bridge a bulb lights up over our work table, so that we can be at the door holding it open by the time they get through admiring the waterfall. For that reason we can tell you without any uncertainty all the guests that came today."

He stopped and began to check on his fingers.

"The Slates, the Corwins, the Woods, the Barretts," he said. "All of them are people that have been coming here for years. We know them well, and they have the highest reputation in their communities. Besides, they are rather humdrum people. If they did stray from the right path, it would never be in as wild and woolly a way as this.

"No, Dora; there's only one set of people that could have done this. That's the crowd that left here a little while before Mrs. Graham arrived. They ordered a meal and paid for it, but left before we could serve it. There were two men and a woman."

"And the woman was looking at that very candlestick," his wife said excitedly.

"If it really was a woman," Ellery Merton said, surprisingly.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Formal Banquet

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband and I are attending a formal banquet at a large New York hotel very soon. As we are to stay at the hotel over night, is it proper to go without an evening wrap from our room to the dining-room, or must one be worn? M.

It would be in the best of form for you to wear your evening wrap from your room to the banquet room. You will, I am sure, feel more comfortable if you do this, and less conspicious in the elevators and in the corridors of the busy hotel in which the banquet is to be held. You will find a dressing-room provided outside of the banquet room, and there you can check your wrap.

Street Attire

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I received a muff for Christmas and I would like to know whether or not it is proper to carry a purse and wear gloves with a muff?

I have noticed girls on the streets with muffs and they have worn gloves and also carried purses.

Will you please write and tell me which is correct? RUTH.

A muff does not take the place of gloves . . . they should always be worn on the street. And we just can't get on without our purses; so buy a purse that you will find convenient to carry with your muff.

Contract Bridge

HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

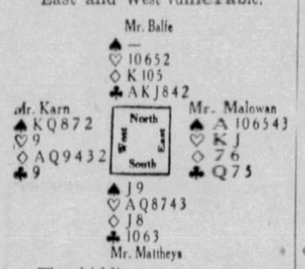
A Redoubled Small Slam

It is a rather noteworthy occasion at the Bridge table when a side making a defensive Overcall later finds itself forced into a defensive Slam bid, and one of the players decides that the prospect of making the Slam is good enough to justify the redouble of an adverse Double.

However, in New York's circle of the Contract elect there are four players, among others whose names are known throughout the country, who sometimes reach unusual contracts and, miraculously, make them. These players are Messrs. John P. Mattheys, Raymond Balfe, Willard Karn and Walter Malowan, who were playing together in a rubber at Crockford's Club in New York recently when Mr. Karn, sitting West, dealt the hand below:

West—Dealer.

East and West vulnerable.



The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 ♠	Pass	3 ♠	4 ♡
Pass	Pass	4 ♠	Pass
Pass	5 ♡	Pass	Pass
5 ♠	6 ♡	Double	Pass
Pass	Redouble	Pass	Pass
Pass

Mr. Balfe's pass of the Opening bid was dictated by the fact that he held absolutely no cards in that suit. His holding suggested freakish distribution, and East and West, vulnerable, might easily go wrong. The pass appealed to him as the best course. South's bid of four hearts, after East had raised to three, was taking the risk of a heavy penalty, but Mr. Mattheys is well known for his "nervy" bidding. From that point on, North entered the bidding, grimly seeking to set up a playing defense against what he visioned was a probable Slam by his opponents. East's Raise had dissipated the hope that his partner held length in spades, but Mr. Balfe would certainly never have bid the Slam had he not been forced to do so by his adversaries. When the Slam contract was reached, however, he decided that he might as well play for all as none, and redoubled. This Redouble was probably as speculative as his partner's four heart bid, as the slightest change in the position of the cards in the diamond suit would have made the slam impossible against any defense.

Mr. Karn chose as his Opening lead the singleton club, which was won with the King in Dummy. A heart was then led and the Queen finessed. The Ace was then laid down, drawing East's last trump. This was faulty technique on the part of Mr. Mattheys, as it was apparent that he must finesse against both the Ace and Queen of diamonds in the West hand in order that he might eventually discard a loser in clubs, necessary to the success of the contract. To do this he must retain the Ace of hearts as a re-entry. Fortunately for Mr. Mattheys, however, Mr. Karn took no advantage of this slip in tactics. To the fourth trick South led a diamond, West went up with the Ace and returned a small diamond, seeking to bluff South into refusing the finesse against the Queen. As this finesse was absolutely essential to the success of the contract, it was taken, and a redoubled Small Slam made.

West's correct play would have been to lead the spade King and permit the Dummy to ruff after cashing the Ace of diamonds. Thus the Declarer could not have returned to his own hand without leading his last trump, and this trump was essential for the purpose of ruffing the Declarer's last spade. Later, had this line of defense been adopted against the line of play actually chosen by the Declarer, either a spade or a club must of necessity have been lost, and the Small Slam contract defeated.

TODAY'S QUESTION

♠ J64 ♡K3 ◇AK8 ♣QJ1032

Answer—Three clubs. Although the hand contains 5½ plus playing tricks in support of clubs, a Raise to three clubs instead of four should be preferred so as not to shut out a three notrump contract.

Household Hints

To keep the yolk of an egg fresh until required, add a few spoonfuls of cold water.

When boiling porridge, stews and so on, place a large, clean marble in the saucepan. If this method is adopted there will be less chance of the food burning.

Before heating milk in a saucepan, boil rapidly a few spoonfuls of water (enough to just cover the bottom of the pan). The milk will not burn, however fierce the fire.

To save breakages in the sink, cut a piece of rubber to fit bottom of sink, with a circular hole cut where it fits over waste. This will save many a piece of crockery from being chipped, cracked or broken, also it saves noise, and also prevents the porcelain surface of the sink from getting scratched and worn.

THIS WOMAN LOST 35 LBS. OF FAT

Miss M. Katner, of Brooklyn, N. Y., writes: "Have used Kruschen for the past 4 months and have not only lost 35 pounds but feel so much better in every way. Even for people who don't care to reduce, Kruschen is wonderful to keep the system healthy. I being a nurse should know for I've tried so many things but only Kruschen answered all purposes." (May 12, 1932).

TO lose fat SAFELY and HARMLESSLY, take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—don't miss a morning—a bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle—but don't take chances—be sure it's Kruschen—your health comes first—get it at any drug store in America. If not joyfully satisfied after the first bottle—money back.

WITNESSES SUBPENAED IN CONGRESSIONAL VOTE CONTEST

JUDGE TO SCAN FINDINGS OF BOARD

Subpenas were being prepared today in the contest of Mrs. Anne E. Felix, Democrat, against seating M. J. Muldowney, Republican, as representative from the Thirty-second Congressional District. Hearings will be held within a few days before a judge, selected by Mrs. Felix, whose identity has not yet been revealed, according to Attorney G. Malcolm McDonald, her counsel.

McDonald said the findings of the recount board, now finishing its work, would be taken before the judge. The work is expected to consume about three weeks. McDonald explained that Congressman-elect Muldowney would then select his own judge to take testimony favorable to his side, and the evidence of both contestants would be submitted to a committee appointed by the House.

Boxes from the Thirtieth Congressional District, scene of Congressman Edmund F. Erk's defeat by Twing Brooks, Democrat, to be opened are from the Ninth and Second Districts, Twenty-seventh Ward, and Fourth District, Twenty-fifth Ward.

Forty-two ballots, voided yesterday by Judge W. Heber Dithrich, but later ordered counted after the court decided the fact that they bore phantom marks should not disfranchise the voters, failed to bring the recount board totals of Republican state and national candidates up to the election board's figures, in the Sixteenth District of the Fourth Ward.

Giving the election board figures first, followed by the recount totals, the results in this district were:

State Senator James J. Coyne, 222-215; his Democratic opponent, George H. Rieke, 77-77; Congressman-elect Muldowney, Republican, 175-163, and Mrs. Felix, 127-138.

WIFE'S CHARGE WINS DIVORCE

Ethel Kohn, Third avenue, Tarentum, who testified her husband, Charles Kohn, told the Burgess that she was unfaithful to him, has been granted a divorce by Judge John P. Egan.

When Mrs. Kohn informed her husband of her decision, according to her testimony, Kohn smashed the dining room furniture, and repeatedly beat her, the wife averred. The libellant charged Kohn with cruel and barbarous treatment and indignities. They were married March 16, 1916.

Bertha Smith, 7218 Thomas boulevard, whose husband, Frank Smith, left her following a quarrel with Mrs. Smith's mother, has been granted a divorce by Judge Egan. At the time of the separation Mrs. Smith conducted a lunch room in the Frick Training School. They were married November 22, 1920, and separated in September 1921.

Girl Burned Playing With Matches Dies

JIG-SAWS MADE BY NEW METHOD

A Wilkinsburg man believes he is the originator of a new method of making jig saw puzzles in which all the tools required are a sewing machine and saws, costing 10 cents a dozen.

The inventor is Siebert (Doc) A. Lynch of 932 Savannah avenue, Wilkinsburg.

"Doc," as he is known to all his friends, is employed in the sales department of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company. He said:

"It struck me as being a good idea for all kids in the Pittsburgh district. Everyone has the jig saw puzzle fad. In reality it is just as much fun to cut them out as to put them together. The Westinghouse Junior Club consisting of 90 boys, sons of Westinghouse employes and Wilkinsburg boys, was organized last year. We have constructed a workshop for the boys for the building of boat and airplane models. Now a jig saw puzzle machine will be installed, motor and all."

Lynch tells how he makes his puzzles:

Remove the shuttle and feeder from the sewing machine. Drill a hole through the oil pan. Attach a cope saw (ten cents a dozen) to the needle arm letting saw drop through the hole. Attach the lower end of the saw to a screen door spring. The spring must be attached in a perpendicular manner to the foot pedal of the machine.

TARENTUM MAN DROPS CHARGES

A retraction of all charges and inferences made against S. M. Hazlett, Tarentum Borough solicitor; R. F. Pitcairn, former borough treasurer, and the Borough Council was made today by Hugh N. Britton, president of the Taxpayers' Corporation of Tarentum and former member of Tarentum Council, who attacked the officials in a speech at a meeting of the tax group last Thursday night.

Britton addressed an apology to "all the parties mentioned for the uncalled for and undeserved notoriety to which they have been subjected." In his speech he had said Pitcairn's bond as borough treasurer, deposited in the Tarentum Savings and Trust Company, was not in proper form. In his retraction, he said he found the bond was in accord with the law.

Britton also had said that in his opinion "there is room for criminal procedure against both Pitcairn and Hazlett." In his retraction, he said:

"I have no evidence, and so far as I know, none exists, to sustain any such procedure."

The retraction was made after Hazlett, Pitcairn and Council members indicated they were planning damage suits against Britton.

LUTHER LEAGUE HEADS NAMED

The following officers will be announced at the winter rally of Branch No. 7, Pittsburgh District Luther League, in the Wilkinsburg Manor Advent Lutheran Church tomorrow evening: H. W. Life Story of Andrew Carnegie struggle for the record in the smelting of pig iron between the Lucy Furnace of the Edgar Thomson Company and the Isabella Furnace. Yale and Harvard never contested more fiercely on the football field than these two enemies. Their weekly records were awaited by ironmasters in all parts of the world, for they surpassed anything hitherto known. British observers, scanning the reports, could only exclaim "Incredible! Yankee brag!" Each time the Lucy Furnace, named for the wife of Thomas Carnegie, surpassed its foe, Carnegie would literally dance with glee, and showers of congratulation, slaps on the back, and increased bonuses, were the rewards of the responsible workers.

Carnegie's predominance in the Edgar Thomson was an outcome of the panic of 1873 and of the long depression that followed it. At the beginning his was the largest interest—$250,000 out of $700,000 issued capital—but it was still a minority one. William Coleman held $100,000, and seven other partners—John Scott, Andrew Kloman, Thomas M. Carnegie, David M. Stewart, William P. Shinn, David McCandless and Henry Phipps, Jr.—were represented each to the extent of $50,000. By October, 1878, this situation had changed. The capital stock of the Edgar Thomson Company had grown to $1,250,000, and of this Andrew Carnegie had $741,000; that is, he was now the majority partner, holding 59 per cent. In subsequent years this proportion underwent slight fluctuations; Carnegie frequently bought from his vacillating associates, and occasionally transferred a part of his shares to young men whom he wished to bring into the circle; never, however, in his 30 remaining years of business life, did his participation drop below 50 per cent.

Expanding Years

Other considerations than pig iron and steel rails were occupying Carnegie's life during this period. Other haunts than the Edgar Thomson Works claimed a generous share of his attention. All during the seventies and eighties Carnegie was illustrating, in his own person, the principle that life must be lived symmetrically—that business was an important, even for some the transcendent, part, but that the real concern, after all, was the cultivation of friends and interests and growth along other than material lines. Nothing that was human was to Carnegie alien—it would be hard to find any American who exemplified so completely the well worn but still highly desirable Roman maxim.

Carnegie had now spent 15 years in New York and ha' also made many visits to other parts of the world. A talent for absorbing the finest things in his environment was apparently innate. The New York of that time would hardly have seemed a fruitful soil for idealism in any form, yet, in 1870, the town sheltered several nooks of enlightenment, and into these the young man promptly found his way. One was the home, in the old Murray Hill section, presided over by Mrs. Anne C. L. Botta. Carnegie's friendship with this lady began in 1871 and continued uninterruptedly until her death 20 years afterward. The Botta establishment played a part in his maturing similar to that exercised by the Wilkins home in the Pittsburgh days.

His Cresson Home

Interests more genial than this rather chilling doctrine entered into Carnegie's existence. His love of nature and outdoor life impelled him to seek a summer home in the Allegheny Mountains, near Cresson—a region as beautiful in its wildness as the Scottish hills Carnegie had overrun as a boy. To this mountain retreat he gave the reminiscent name of "Braemar Cottage;" it was not a country estate, such as his means at this time could have provided; it was the simplest frame house, with little surrounding land, but with an outlook on hills and valleys, fine sunsets and morning mists that accorded with the varying moods of its possessors. At the first suggestion of spring Carnegie and his mother would leave their New York hotel and seek refuge in this mountain home.

The recollections of one of his closest Pittsburgh friends, Dr. William J. Holland, give characteristic glimpses of his life in these surroundings. Not the least suggestive revelation is the informality of Carnegie's living habits.

"Cresson," writes Dr. Holland, "was easily reached from Pittsburgh in a couple of hours. The atmosphere during the day was clear and bracing, the evenings were always deliciously cool. There was a colony of Pittsburghers who owned or rented cottages. Among them were Mr. William Thaw, Mr. B. F. Jones, Mr. Charles J. Clarke, Mr. Andrew Carnegie, Mr. D. A. Stewart, Mr. Carnegie's partner, and numerous others, with all of whom we were very well acquainted.

"The occupants of the various cottages for the most part took their meals in the dining room of the Mountain House. It happened that the table assigned me was placed next to that of Mr. Carnegie. We constantly encountered each other at meal times.

"Now and then, after luncheon or dinner, he would come and seat himself at our table or I would go over and sit down and chat with him. We sometimes adjourned together to the assembly room and had merry discussions there.

"He often called at our cottage and we called at his. He was then, as always exceedingly fond of music, and among the guests at the hotel were Mr. Josiah Cohen (afterward Judge Cohen), and his charming wife, who was an accomplished musician. Mr. Carnegie now and then invited her to give a musical recital at his home, and, when bidden to attend these pleasant gatherings, we went.

"Being fond of walking, Mr. Carnegie was in the habit of taking strolls on the by-paths and roads on the mountain, and often invited me to go with him on these rambles, or I myself extended to him an invitation to accompany me.

"He was greatly interested in all that we saw, and our conversations on these excursions into the woods related to the plants and animals, especially the birds, in which he took an interest. He informed me that as a boy he had at one time essayed making a collection of bird skins and had read a great deal about birds.

"On one occasion I found a number of nests of the Snow-Bunting cunningly hidden under tufts of fern. I called his attention to the fact that this bird of the Canadian life zone was nesting at the top of the mountain. A day or two afterward he came to the cottage and told me that he had had the delight during a stroll of discovering a number of nests of the Junco, and was very enthusiastic in speaking to me about his discovery. 'I did it myself,' he said. 'I did not have your help.' He loved 'to do things himself' if pleasant."

Six Trolley Vets Retire on Pensions

Lengthy and meritorius service brought retirement rewards to six employes of the Pittsburgh Railways Company today, it was announced. Joan E. Wible, 56, Paul street, and William H. McMillin, led the list with 33 years of service each. Others were Hugh Connor, 317 Jackson street; John J. Ruh, 414 Avery street; Eugene Steffan, Wilkinsburg, and Philip J. Baker, 1013 Murtland avenue.

Added power comes from meeting conditions squarely. This is not a time for indolent indifference nor for reckless risking. It is a time to think and plan work. If you want to get ahead, fix your scale of living a little below your income and save the difference. Meet conditions. It is the only way. Savings deposited in this Bank will work for you day and night. Ask about our PURPOSE CLUB. It has helped many.

SUNK!

Ailing Alice! A martyr every month. And there's an easy way to end such pain! Midol means complete comfort for women. Without any pain. Not a twinge during entire period. A miracle? No; just science. Midol is the discovery of specialists. It does not interfere with the natural process, but blocks all possibility of that unnatural, unnecessary pain. Midol makes the period merely an incident. No need to suffer; no need to be inactive. Take a Midol tablet—and be yourself. Ten tiny tablets, in a slim little box that tucks in purse or pocket. Simply ask for Midol at any drug store. It is not a narcotic.

REDUCE WITHOUT THYROID WITHOUT SALTS WITHOUT DIET

Here's wonderful news for women who want to make their figures slim and lovely. A great physician, who has specialized in research with the Pasteur Institute of Paris and famous clinics of America, has discovered an absolutely harmless tablet that will take off 3 pounds of ugly fat each week.

Now it is absurd for anyone to take dangerous drugs, or a daily dose of laxative salts that rushes food through the system half digested, and leads to chronic constipation. The new treatment contains no Thyroid Extract, no laxative drugs at all. It is a safe, natural regulator of the digestive ferments (Lipases) which control the production of fat in all human bodies.

You don't have to starve yourself or go through painful exercises. You simply take the tablets each day and continue to eat three ample meals. The fat disappears at just the places where you want to lose it. We will donate $500 to charity if anyone can prove that Vannay contains Thyroid, Iodine or any harmful drugs.

Start the treatment at once and all your fondest dreams of health and slim loveliness will come true. Ask your druggist for Vannay and be sure to see that name on the package. If you are not entirely satisfied, money back.

Stop a COLD the First Day!

Taken Promptly, this Four-Way Remedy Will Usually Stop a Cold the First Day and Save You Much Suffering as Well as the Danger of Serious Complications!

The time to stop a cold is before it gets started. Once a cold fastens itself on you, it becomes twice as hard to remove. And a cold lodged in the system may lead to something worse.

Don't hope to kill a cold with merely local or external applications. A cold is a germ attack, an internal infection and, as such, calls for internal treatment.

Don't hope to kill a cold, either, with anything except a COLD remedy. A cure-all is self-deception. Many preparations which people commonly take for a cold actually make the relief of a cold more difficult because these preparations are constipating and also make the system acid.

The Required Effects

The thing to take for a cold or case of grippe is Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine—because it does the four things necessary, in the way that is necessary.

First of all, it opens the bowels, gently but thoroughly—the first step in knocking a cold. Secondly, it kills the cold germs in the system, expels the poisonous infection and reduces the fever. Thirdly, it relieves the headache and that grippy feeling. Fourthly, it tones the entire system and fortifies against further attack.

Harmless, but Effective!

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine may be safely taken by young and old and whether you stay indoors or go out. There is no penalty attached to its use. For more than forty years it has been the standard cold and grippe tablet of the world, the formula keeping pace with Modern Medicine. Always ask for it by the full name and look for the letters L B Q stamped on every tablet. Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine now comes in two sizes—30c and 50c. Resent a substitute as an attempt to exploit you.

NOTE: During Epidemics a tablet or two of Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine every morning and night will do much to fortify your system against infection.

NEED FOR LARGE ARENA SHOWN AGAIN

THE PITT-DUQUESNE basketball game carded for tomorrow night at the Pitt Stadium draws attention again to Pittsburgh's crying need for a town hall or some sort of indoor sports arena. Here is a game, easily the standout basketball feature of the district season, which, if room were available, according to the estimates of W. Don Harrison, Pitt athletic director, would pack in 10,000 persons. Instead, the attendance will be kept down to the capacity of 4,200. The importance of football receipts in carrying other sports along may be seen in this same example, for though the largest basketball crowd of the year is due to be on hand the gate will be small.

W. Don Harrison

There will be some 350 tickets on sale at $1.65, and supposedly some 3,700 at $1.10. But of those 3,700 tickets, 1,000 were delivered by Pitt authorities to Duquesne to be issued to Duke students, who have to pay only 40 cents. And as for the remaining 2,700, there will be present close to 2,000 Pitt students, who will gain admission on the strength of student activity books. No extra adding machines will be required to count the net gate. College basketball could pay its own way and more if it had room to realize on its possibilities, when feature games are played, but it gets no such space in Pittsburgh.

ARRANGEMENTS ARE REPORTED practically completed for the launching of a 12-club Negro baseball league this year, in which Pittsburgh will be represented by two teams, both playing their home games at Greenlee Field, the Grays in the Western division and the Crawfords in the Eastern group.

The league will play a split season, with each club playing four games per week. The Western wing will be made up of the Grays, Chicago, Cleveland, Indianapolis, Columbus, O., and Dayton, O. The Eastern division will comprise the Crawfords, Black Yankees of New York, Hilldale of Philadelphia, Baltimore Black Sox, Washington and Newark, N. J.

CONVERTING INTO CATCHERS players who have specialized at other positions has become fashionable. It was done with Moe Berg, the Red Sox are doing it with Smead Jolley and the Braves tried it with Randy Moore.

The latest to be slated for such an experiment is none other than Earl Sheely, former Pirate first baseman. Convinced that he has slowed up too much for first base duty, the Portland club, of the Pacific Coast League, is going to make Sheely over into a backstop, if possible, as he still can hit and throw.

SOME GOOD JUDGES of baseball material in the minor leagues think that Homer Peel, the outfielder drafted by the Giants, will at least make Manager Bill Terry take a second look when he gets a trial on the training trip. Hard luck trailed Peel in two previous tests in the majors. He suffered a broken leg while with the Cardinals, and after starting the 1929 season with the Phillies he had to undergo an operation for appendicitis. He was a Texas League standout with Houston last year, hitting .337 and making 75 extra-base drives. Peel is stocky, strong and fast, and at the age of 30 has enough experience behind him to make him a better prospect than the average recruit.

Glenn Spencer

GLENN SPENCER, former Pirate pitcher, visited the Giant offices in New York the other day, to report that he thinks the change of clubs is going to bring a shift for the better in his career.

Manager Terry is of the same opinion, and assured Spencer that he can count of getting something better than relief work in the way of slab assignments. Terry is confident that the ex-Bue has the makings of a winning regular and intends to groom him for starting duty from the time practice gets under way.

THE DEFEAT THAT Notre Dame took here at the hands of Pitt last fall is one thing about the 1932 football season that Hunk Anderson can't forget. He says he fully expected to win and has not been able to figure out to this day just how the Panthers upset his dope.

"It was just one of those days when nothing seemed to go right for us," says Hunk. "I don't want to take any credit away from Jock Sutherland or Pitt. They beat us, and I never have offered any alibis. But I just can't understand why we were so bad that day—the same team that played so wonderfully against Army later."

BEGGING TO DISAGREE with Pop Warner, who rated Ernie Nevers the greatest of modern football players, Howard Jones hands the decision to Morley Drury. Of the earlier stars, Jones thinks Tom Shevlin, of Yale, led all the rest, but in later years, he believes, Drury was without an equal. "I know Pop Warner is of the opinion that Ernie Nevers is THE boy," Jones remarked. "Well, that's one man's view. Ernie unquestionably was a remarkable man, and he shone under Warner at Stanford as no other player has done there since. But I still say Drury's my choice." Jones admits he will have a hard job next fall replacing Ray Sparling, Tay Brown and Ernie Smith at Southern California, but says the loss isn't nearly as great as that of last year, when he was without eight of his regulars. "So I guess we'll manage to survive," he added.

ONE POSSIBLE DEVELOPMENT of the first national open tennis tournament in history, to be held at the Germantown Cricket Club in Philadelphia next winter, is a match that will rank as one of the classics of the net sport in this country—a meeting of Bill Tilden and Ellsworth Vines.

Though Tilden has said he cannot promise definitely his own participation pending determination of the dates, friends say privately that there isn't a doubt he will compete. He admitted on his return from abroad a few months ago that more than anything else in tennis he wanted to play Vines, and now that the open tournament offers the chance his entry is considered certain.

BASKETBALL IS NOT the only winter sport in which Duquesne University is aiming at high honors. Coach Joe Miller's boxers hit a winning stride again in their recent victory over Pitt, and it may be hard to stop them from keeping it up, though Vitulla has been lost and Gibb is out sick.

Fred Vitulla

The Dukes now have an even break to their credit in the Eastern Intercollegiate Conference. They won their opening meet with W. & J., lost the next two to Carnegie and Temple, and then squared accounts by defeating the Panthers. On every occasion the score was 4 to 3.

MILLER'S SQUAD HAS been weakened by the withdrawal from college of Fred (Speedy) Vitulla, the 115-pound representative of the Bluff school. When he won a three-round decision over Charley Junge, of Pitt, Vitulla boosted his record to three victories in four bouts for the season to date. His only defeat was suffered when he stacked up against Pete D'Alessandro, of Temple. That was the third time the Temple leather pushed had gained a decision over Vitulla, but it was no disgrace to the Duke boxer to lose to a foe of that caliber, as D'Alessandro is Eastern Conference champion and one of the best college glovemen in the country.

NEW BILL AIMS TO SAVE SPORT IN STATE

ALBANY, Feb. 16. — (INS.) — Legislative friends of boxing, convinced the sport faces a serious threat of being outlawed in this state as a result of the death of Ernie Schaaf, today rushed to its defense.

There are enough votes in sight to bring about repeal of the Walker boxing law. Because of this, several New York City legislators, anxious to save the sport, are suggesting amendment, but not repeal of the law.

One of these is Senator Duncan T. O'Brien, who announced he is drafting a bill which will "place sporting events under the most rigid and strict regulation."

O'Brien prevented passage yesterday of the bill by Senator Henry G. Schackno, which would have repealed the Walker law. Had there been a vote then, the measure would have passed the Assembly.

Senator O'Brien said his bill will prevent men not in the best physical condition from engaging in such events.

JOHNSON PUSHES PLAN

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—Madison Square Garden officials today were going ahead with their plans for a heavyweight championship bout next June between Primo Carnera and Jack Sharkey, despite the ban announced by the New York State Athletic Commission.

Jimmy Johnson, head of boxing at the Garden, took the stand that he had not received official orders from the commission to abandon negotiations for the bout, and that he would continue preparations until such orders came to him.

Two of the three commissioners, William Muldoon and Gen. John J. Phelan, reaffirmed their decision to permit Carnera to fight only in the "dreadnaught" class, while the third, James A. Farley, was silent.

Carnera, who had planned to sail for Italy Saturday, decided to defer his departure.

Is is regarded as quite probable that a brain condition previously unsuspected contributed largely to the cause of Schaaf's death, but there is no question in the mind of Dr. Philip Goodhart, professor of clinical neurology at Columbia University, that the blows of Carnera exercised an exciting influence.

CROWDS PAY TRIBUTE

WRENTHAM, Mass., Feb. 16.—(INS.)—In the little white house he built for his mother out of his first ring earnings, the body of Ernie Schaaf, the "blond viking," lay amid a bank of flowers today, while crowds of former admirers paid final tribute to a good fighter and a "great guy."

Jack Sharkey, heavyweight champion of the world, who was in Schaaf's corner last Friday night when he fought Primo Carnera, in New York, following which he died at Polyclinic Hospital, arrived at the Schaaf home last night with his wife after a hurried trip from Florida.

A sailor's tribute wil be paid to Schaaf, the "fighting gob," at his funeral tomorrow. Following a solemn requiem mass in St. Mary's Church, the body will be buried in St. Mary's Cemetery, Foxboro.

OLD INJURY RECALLED

Sir Malcolm Hits 18-Mile Pace In '01 Car

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Feb. 16.—(AP.)—Pages of automobile racing history were turned back more than 30 years yesterday when Sir Malcolm Campbell, holder of the world land speed record, made a "blistering" race over the ocean beach in an old one-cylinder "horseless" buggy of the 1901 vintage.

In contrast to the speed of 267 miles an hour he attained in his giant Bluebird racing car when he established the present automobile record here a year ago, the 48-year-old driver sent the ancient model over the beach yesterday at the astounding clip of 18 miles an hour.

The stunt was arranged as a humorous side light of the 1933 international speed trials, at which Campbell hopes to be able to crack his own world mark of 253 miles an hour as soon as beach and tide conditions are favorable.

Preparations for the official trials for a new land speed mark were temporarily halted when mechanics were unable to complete several major adjustments to the racing car before low tide.

EXPLANATION OF RIPLEY'S CARTOON OF YESTERDAY: A RECORD SPEECH—Amor de Cosmos was a native of Windsor, Nova Scotia, and his real name was Alexander Smith. He changed his name to Amor de Cosmos (Love of the Universe) with the approval of the California Legislature for the reason that his mail was being confused with that of the other Smiths. He settled in Victoria, B. C. and was elected to the Assembly in 1863. As a member, in 1865, he delivered one of the longest speeches in parliamentary history. He spoke continuously for 26 hours to prevent the Assembly from passing a law in a question of land sales for taxes which he considered unconstitutional and detrimental to the interest of the people. He spoke until the time limit expired and the Assembly gave in and adjourned. De Cosmos eventually rose to the Premiership of the Colony.

YANKS RE-HIRE WELLS, BURKE

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—The New York Yankees have re-engaged Jimmy (Sunset) Burke, veteran coach who was released several weeks ago.

Burke, a close friend of Manager Joe McCarthy, had decided he was tired of traveling around the country with a ball team, but he has decided to try another season. He is more than 60 years old.

The Yanks also announced yesterday that Dick Hoblitzel, former first baseman of the Boston Red Sox, had been engaged to umpire spring exhibition games, that Scout Paul Kritchell had been assigned to help their Newark "farm" club in its spring training, and that Eddie Wells, southpaw pitcher, who had been shifted to Newark, had been ordered to join the Yanks at St. Petersburg, Fla., for another trial.

Pitchers Owen Carroll, recently obtained from the St. Louis Cardinals, and Hollis Thurston today signed on the dotted line with the Brooklyn Dodgers for the 1933 National League campaign. The Dodgers also announced the signing of Pitcher Walter Beck.

The White Sox report the signing of Luke Appling, an infielder, and Joe Heving, a pitcher.

Fighter Succumbs After Bout in Mexico

OAXACA CITY, Mexico, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—Felix Barron, middleweight boxer, died here last night from the effects of a knockout blow received Sunday in a bout with Hugo Monterrubio. Both were railroad employes and semi-professional boxers.

Physicians said he died of a congestion of the brain, an injury somewhat similar to that which caused the death of Ernie Schaaf at New York.

SPORT VIGNETTES

Fidel La Barba continued his boosting of Mose Butch right up to the time he left by airplane yesterday for Chicago . . . He admired Butch, local featherweight, for his sportsmanship and aggressive spirit and says Mose lacks only the confidence to go ahead in the pinches to make him a great fighter . . . "I got a kick out of Mose in the sixth round of our bout at Motor Square Garden, Monday night," he said . . . "Mose started a left for my jaw and I beat him home with the same sort of a blow . . . Mose shook his head and said, 'That was a dandy you hit me,' and kept coming right in after me."

There was nothing funny about what happened in the Primo Carnera-Ernie Schaaf bout in New York's Madison Square Garden last Friday night, culminating in the death of Schaaf on Monday . . . However, the sports scribes at the ringside did manage to get a snicker out of a crack pulled unconsciously by one of the Garden hands, who came down to the press row through the crowd of jeering customers to announce that Schaaf was in a bad way in his dressing room and was to be taken to a hospital . . . "The doctor thinks he has conclusion of the brain," he said.

The National tennis moguls played a scurvy trick on the tennis pros by giving them an open championship tournament in which they will be permitted to compete against the amateurs. . . . Now that the pros have what they want there's nothing for them to be sore about, so they might as well go back and become amateurs again . . . Johnny Freund is going to hold another basketball clinic in the Duquesne University gym, Saturday afternoon, in conjunction with his pro game between the Cleveland Rosenblum-Celtics and a local all-star team . . . The question of the day will be "What happened to Dutch Dehnert in Wheeling?" . . . And the clinic will be for the benefit of the cluck who asks it.—HARRY KECK.

CORBETT SHOWS NO CHANGE

The former heavyweight champion's physician, Dr. C. Willard Dickie, said Corbett had spent a fairly restful night, but is very weak.

Action Postponed In School Tourney

The basketball committee of the W. P. I. A. L. will meet at 10 o'clock Saturday morning at the Fort Pitt Hotel for the purpose of deciding on dates and making the draw for the annual W. P. I. A. L. championship elimination tournament, provided sectional titles are sufficiently cleared up by tomorrow's games.

The committee met last evening at the Fort Pitt, but with many section races still undecided, definite action was postponed.

Bob Kornick, of Perry, retains the lead among the individual scoring aces of the City League with a total of 117 points. Bill Jesko, of South, is second with 88 points.

FESLER LOSES HARVARD JOB

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Feb. 15.—(AP.)—The name of Wesley Fesler, Ohio State's 1929-30 all-America end, was missing from the 1933 Harvard varsity football coaching staff announced by William J. Bingham, athletic director. Eddie Casey, one of the Crimson's football immortals, was reappointed head coach for the third consecutive season and his assistants, for the first time in many years, were all products of the Harvard football system.

Fesler recently conferred here with Bingham about a coaching engagement for football and basketball. Harvard officials last night indicated that the Ohio State all-round athlete had been unable to come to any agreement with their director.

Nils (Swede) Nelson, veteran member of the coaching staff, was named to succeed Arthur Sampson as backfield coach; Edward Bradford was reappointed end coach; his twin brother Charley was promoted from the freshman to the varsity squad as line coach, and John Donovan was moved up from the junior varsity staff to act as assistant line coach.

Dempsey Victor In Court Fight

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—The Municipal Court has ruled that Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, need not pay Aaron Baum for copies of films depicting several of Dempsey's title bouts which Baum said he obtained for the fighter.

Baum sued the former champion for $450, asserting that of $500 promised, Dempsey paid only $50.

Dempsey testified he ordered films of all his fights, but Baum failed to fill the order completely.

PITT-TARTAN RING BATTLES POSTPONED

By JESS CARVER

There will be no punching of noses in the Pitt Stadium Pavilion tonight between the varsity boxing teams of Pitt and Tech, a technical knockout having been administered the scheduled Intercollegiate Conference match late yesterday by the Carnegie Tech faculty.

The Tartan officials didn't aim particularly at the Pitt-Tech bout, of course, but they did toss some scatter shot in the general direction of all Tartan athletes who have not been keeping in step with their classroom work, and in the tossing, no fewer than four members of Ernie Sesto's ring team were winged. When the Pitt authorities learned that it would become necessary for the Plaid to forfeit in three classes, they decided the bouts might just as well be postponed until a later date. So the bouts are off and folks can sit back to further contemplation of tomorrow's Pitt - Duquesne basketball classic.

FOUR BOXERS OUT

The Tech boxers who have been declared ineligible for varsity competition are Jack Croissant, Bill Kulesz, Mike Restaine and Johnny Comuntzis. All but Comuntzis were booked to meet Pitt opponents tonight.

Boxing wasn't the only Tech sport to be hit. Coach Howard Harpster, new head football coach, received his first dose of grief when it was learned that two star members of his squad, Ray Tesser and Bill Plummer, had failed to keep their work up. Joe Mihm, a member of the basketball squad and football fullback, was placed on probation, and Halden Beers, another varsity basketballer, is out.

The team medico and Trainer Kimbrue Jackson, of the Dukes, have scored a decision over the charley-horse which has been bothering Paul Birch, brilliant sophomore forward, and Paulie will be able to start tomorrow night for the Red and Blue against Pitt. The return of Birch to the Duquesne battle front means that Len Brenner will be sent back to the center post and Jim MacDougall paired with Birch at the other forward. Moore and Reiter will play the guards. Art Feldman still looms as a definite casualty, although his injured back has improved greatly.

PITT LINEUP SET

Pitt's starting lineup will be intact for the game and Coach Carlson plans no shifts. Capt. Don Smith and Skippy Hughes will perform at the forwards, Claire Cribbs, who missed the first game with the Dukes, will be in there at center and McCamant and Ochsenhirt will stand duty at the guards.

Duquesne's varsity ring team, which has an engagement in the Intercollegiate Conference to fill tomorrow night in Lewisburg with Bucknell, also suffered a severe blow yesterday when it was learned that Fred (Speedy) Vitulla, the doughty little 115-pounder, had dropped out of school and that Sam Gibbs, the 125-pound entry, was too ill to box.

The nineteenth annual University of Pittsburgh interscholastic swimming championships will be at Trees Pool Friday and Saturday, March 7 and 8, according to the announcement made today by Frank Sessa, varsity manager of swimming.

70 SCHOOLS INVITED

Invitations have been sent out to 70 high schools of the district, including all the city schools supporting swimming. Other institutions as far west as Akron, as far north as Erie, as far east as Altoona and as far south as Uniontown will be asked to send teams.

There will be awards for high team score, the senior high school relay, the two junior high school relays and for first, second and third places in the individual events.

Erie Strong-Vincent won the last two meets.

STARS ENTER MEET

Two district Negro stars, Everett Utterback, former Pitt star and intercollegiate indoor broad jump champion, and Howard Spencer, Geneva College's crack high jumper, will compete in the national A. A. U. indoor track and field championship meet in Madison Square Garden, February 25.

Spencer cleared six feet six and one-half inches in the high jump last Saturday in the annual West Virginia indoor meet at Morgantown. Utterback, a consistent jumper, has been working out daily for the past three months and has given every indication of regaining his championship form.

THREE BRITISH WOMEN LOSE IN FLORIDA GOLF PLAY

MISS ORCUTT ADVANCES TO SEMI-FINALS

PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 16.—(AP.)—Three British invaders, including their leader, Diana Fishwick, have been eliminated from the Florida women's golf tournament here, leaving one English girl and two Americans to contest Maureen Orcutt's drive for permanent possession of the trophy.

In her medal round, which she won with a 78, and in the two matches which she has taken easily, Miss Orcutt showed her intention to be the first since the days of Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare, several years ago, to take the trophy with a third win.

MISS ORCUTT WINS

Miss Orcutt won her first international match of the tournament yesterday from Barbara Pyman, England, 5 and 3, duplicating her 39 of the qualifying round going out and shooting the next seven holes only one over par.

Miss Fishwick bowed to her team mate, Kathleen Garnham, who won, 1 up after a close battle. Miss Fishwick was one up at the turn with a 40, but lost the tenth and eleventh, driving out of bounds on the latter. She missed the green and got a bad lie on the sixteenth to lose with a four after having squared the match on the fourteenth with a par. On the eighteenth green, Miss Fishwick had a two-footer to halve the match, but rapped it too hard and it bounced off the back side of the cup.

MRS. HILL SCORES

Mrs. Opal S. Hill, of Kansas City, Western women's champion, defeated Bea Gottlieb, of New York, for the third time in as many weeks, Mrs. Hill having won the La Gorce and Biltmore events from her in the finals. The score yesterday was 5 and 3.

Grace Amory, of Deepdale, L. I., and Palm Beach, one of the youngest stars in the championship division, eliminated another English contender, Gwen Craddock-Hartropp, by a score of 3 and 1. Miss Orcutt plays Miss Amory and Mrs. Hill meets Miss Garnham today.

WATROUS VICTOR

LAKELAND, Fla., Feb. 16.—(AP.)—Adding a brilliant 34-34—68 to his 70 of Tuesday, Al Watrous, of Detroit, yesterday won $200 first money in the Orange Blossom open golf tournament on the difficult Cleveland Heights course with a 138, six below par.

Walter Hagen, of Detroit, and Craig Wood, of Deal, N. J., finished four strokes back of the leader to win $137.50 each.

Fourth and fifth money were divided by Willie MacFarlane, of Tuckahoe, N. Y., and Olin Dutra, of Los Angeles, P. G. A. champion, each receiving $95 for his 143.

Packing Pirates' Togs for Coast Camp

GEORGE (CHAUFF) ASTEN, ASSISTANT TRAINER, PREPARES LUGGAGE FOR TRIP

The advance squad of Pirates leaves Sunday morning for the spring training camp at Paso Robles, Cal., and the trunks containing equipment are being shipped ahead. Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph picture shows Assistant Trainer Asten taking care of the packing. Those shoes belong to Capt. Pie Traynor, who owns more footwear than any other member of the Corsair brigade.

SWETONIC SET FOR TRIP

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

Steve Swetonic, native son sharpshooter of the Pirate staff, was back in town today after a pleasant sojourn of several weeks at Miami Beach, Fla.

Steve Swetonic

Swetonic returned home in time to adjust personal matters before departing for California with the Buccaneer vanguard which is due to leave Pittsburgh Sunday morning.

Steve spent most of his time in Florida in the company of Paul Waner and Fred Lindstrom, of the Pirates, and Max Carey, the Dodger pilot.

Pirate President Bill Benswanger and Manager George Gibson will head the pitchers and catchers on the takeoff from the home port. About 15 persons will make up the squad leaving here. Others will join en route.

Chillysauce

Made from Paul's yacht, "Home Run," during a 19-day fishing cruise, the film depicts remarkable scenes. One sensational development shows a daring member of the Waner boat, who, after being pulled overboard by a giant devilfish, climbed to the back of the monster and rode him over the waves. That's a good one, and apparently Paul has the proof. Present at the early showing of Paul's feature picture were Steve Swetonic, Fred Lindstrom and Max Carey.

Among the speakers at the gala baseball affair held last night by the New Kensington Elks were Bill Benswanger, George Gibson, Honus Wagner and Sam Watters, of the Pirate family, and Lute Boone, recently appointed pilot of the Crookston club of the Northern League.

CHANCE AHEAD FOR BROWNLEE

Basketball fans of the tri-state district, particularly those who follow closely the doings of the collegians, have been interested in seeing Harry Brownlee, former Westminster College ace center, up against big time opposition. During his varsity career, which was completed last year, Brownlee just about completely overshadowed all the college centers and since his entry into pro ranks, has proven himself as much of a star as he was in college.

Saturday afternoon he'll be up against the toughest assignment he ever has been called upon to face—one of the toughest that can be given any center. He must play against Joe Lapchick, famous center of the Rosenblum-Celtics. Brownlee will play center for the newly organized Pittsburghers against the Celtics in the game at Duquesne University gym. If Harry can make a good showing against Lapchick, it may mean a fine opportunity for advancement in the pro ranks.

Corbett Favored To Whip Fields

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—With a dash that impressed a capacity throng of ringsiders, Jackie Fields, welterweight champion, has swung into top speed in his training preparatory to defense of his title against Young Corbett here February 22.

Corbett's followers also were well satisfied with the Fresno southpaw's workout, in which he sparred with Al Manfredo and Lloyd Smith, two lively 147-pounders.

Betting odds continue to make Corbett an overwhelming favorite, local commissioners quoting 2 to 1 the challenger would take the decision and the title.

Gilbert On Winner In Hialeah Feature

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—Capacity, the consistent sprinter from Mrs. H. D. Cox's stable, won his third race in four starts over the Hialeah Park course yesterday when he scored over a smart band of older horses in the featured Miami Springs purse.

Johnny Gilbert, the country's leading rider last year, gave Capacity a strong ride to score by two lengths. Gift was second and Morgil another half-length to the rear in third place.

McKechnie Rates Bucs, Cubs Favorites

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Feb. 16.—(AP.)—Pittsburgh and Chicago are the teams picked by William B. McKechnie, manager of the Boston Braves, as the teams which must be beaten for any National League team to win the flag this year.

McKechnie added all the teams have a chance. He left here today for St. Petersburg, Fla., after visiting Clyde Barnhart, former Pittsburgh outfielder who played under him.

Much of the success of the Braves, McKechnie said, depends on what Red Worthington, Geiselman and a few rookies do, adding that they have a good pitching staff.

'Y' Rifle Team Wins Over DuFalls

The Downtown Y. M. C. A. rifle club was returned the victor in a postal shoot with the DuFall marksmen, of DuBois, Pa., 994 to 958.

The Y. M. C. A. team also shot a postal match with the Columbus, O., club, turning in a score of 992. The scores of the Columbus shooters have not yet been received. The summary of the Y-DuFall match:

Between Rounds

Ray Winfield, Negro welterweight, of the Hill, has been winning regularly since he quit the amateur ranks and is growing ambitious as a result. He wants a crack at Jimmy Belmont, Billy Hoit, Pee Wee Jarrell, Davy Grove and the other leading local welterweights.

An amateur boxing show under the auspices of American Legion Post No. 377 will be held in California, Pa., February 23.

Frankie Goosby hopes to make his bout with Paul Chaney, of New York, in the windup at the Arena, on the North Side, tomorrow night, serve as a stepping stone to battles in the East, where Delaney has been performing in fine style. Since Goosby never has lost a fight, and has the class and punch to take on any of them, his chances of working out this plan loom up as especially good.

Matchmaker Jules Beck has signed Louie Severo, of Meadville, and Eddie Hebner, of Clairton, a pair of junior-welterweights, for the second six-round bout on the Motor Square Garden card next Monday night.

AMATEURS BOX IN TUBE CITY

A card of 13 bouts has been arranged for an amateur boxing show to be held in the Palisades Rink, McKeesport, tonight, as follows:

Teddy Movan vs. Al Phillips, George Luppinacci vs. Floyd Walcott, John Orh vs. Buck Makrum, George Julius vs. Paul Bailey, Bill Schwerin vs. Tuffy Lawson, Jimmy Ferry vs. Joe Mazzio, Eddie Katkish vs. Fritz Waldeck, Irwin Lowstetter vs. Sam Crovatta, Joe Backo vs. Tony De Mar, Joe Varkasky vs. Eddie Nicholas, Ray Poskins vs. Leo Moan, Charley Berylan vs. Wolf Black and Buster Lowstetter vs. Camile Danjo.

Radio Sales Jump During Cricket Test

License returns show that in November alone the number of permits issued increased by 11,774 to 409,264.

These figures have only once been exceeded. That was in August, 1930, when Australian cricketers were in England.

Detroit Schoolboy Stars as Swimmer

A 16-year-old Detroit lad, Walter Wonsik, of Western High School, stepped into the spotlight last week when he swam 50 yards free style in 0:24 at a high school meet in a 25-yard pool in the home city.

The performance equaled the national scholastic record and shaded the Michigan state high school standard of 0:24 2-5.

MRS. CHENEY WINS

MIDDIE TRACK CARD FILLED

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 16.—(AP.)—A schedule of five dual meets, closing with Army on May 27, has been arranged for the Naval Academy field and track team for this spring.

The Middies will enter the Penn Relays on April 29 for its only competition against opposition of more than a single college. The first three dual meets will be at home, according to the schedule, which is as follows:

April 15—University of North Carolina at Annapolis.
April 22—University of Maryland at Annapolis.
April 29—Penn Relays at Philadelphia.
May 5—William and Mary College at Annapolis.
May 13—University of Virginia at Charlottesville, Va.
May 27—Army at West Point, N. Y.

Chicago Sprinter Cards Full Program

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—John W. Brooks, University of Chicago sprinter, has mapped out a strenuous program for himself the week-end of February 24-25.

He will compete in a dual meet for the Maroon at Chicago Friday night, February 24, then hop a plane for New York and toe the mark against Emmett Toppino, Ralph Metcalfe, Frank Wykoff and other star sprinters in the National A. A. U. indoor track and field championships the following night.

Brooks, known chiefly as a broad jumper, has twice been clocked in the record-equalling time of 6.2 for the 60-yard dash this winter. The championship sprint is at 60 meters.

BAMBINO LOSES BALL, MATCH

BELLEAIR, Fla., Feb. 16.—(AP.)—Although a gallery of several millionaires and citrus farmers hunted among the palmettos for five minutes, they were unable to locate Babe Ruth's golf ball on the sixteenth hole yesterday, and the Babe lost to D. N. Tallman, of Minneapolis, 3 and 2, in the second round of the Bel-Air amateur championship.

SLIPPERY ROCK QUINT MEETS GLENVILLE

GAMES TONIGHT

Glenville vs. Slippery Rock at Slippery Rock.
Millersville vs. Indiana at Indiana.

Glenville College, of West Virginia, engaged in an invasion of the tri-state district, makes its second stop tonight at Slippery Rock for a tussle wth the Slippery Rock State Teachers. The invaders, one of the strongest varsity fives in West Virginia, are expected to furnish the fast-stepping Western Pennsylvanians with plenty of trouble.

MOUNTAINEERS WIN

W. VA. BOXERS WIN

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Feb. 16.—The West Virginia University varsity boxing team won its fourth consecutive match in the Intercollegiate Conference and defeated Wash-Jeff for the second time this season here last night, 7 to 0.

The Mountaineers, undefeated so far this year, won two bouts by technical knockouts, Lefty Hamilton beating Malcolm by that method and Payne stopping Sayenga. The summary:

TEMPLE WINS AGAIN

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Feb. 16.—Temple University's crack basketball team captured its eleventh consecutive victory here last night, defeating Penn State 43 to 33.

Rosan, star Owl forward, was the high point man of the game, accounting for 15 points. He flipped seven field goals and one foul.

The lineup:

State.	G.	F.	Pt.	Temple.	G.	F.	Pt.

NINE FOR JACKETS

The West Virginians, playing brilliantly during the first half, led by 17 to 15 at the intermission, but in the second half a determined Waynesburg offensive provided the Jackets with enough points to put away the victory by a fairly decisive margin.

The lineup:

Waynes.	G.	F.	Pt.	Glen	G.	F.	Pt.
Avery, f	5	2	12	Hines, f	3	1	7

LIFE AND BATTLES OF JIM CORBETT

No. 3—The Knockout of Sullivan

[Editor's Note: Owing to the critical nature of James J. Corbett's illness, a review of the big moments in the career of the great heavyweight champion of other days is especially timely now. Following is the description of the twenty-first and final round of Corbett's greatest triumph, over John L. Sullivan, by an eyewitness, T. T. Williams.]

By T. T. WILLIAMS

(Copyright, 1933, by International News Service.)

In the twenty-first round of the memorable heavyweight battle between James J. Corbett and John L. Sullivan, at New Orleans, on September 7, 1892, something happened that broke half the sporting men in America.

Sullivan, who was having the first hard fight of his life, had only a sore face to show for his boast that he would smash the challenger through the ropes inside of five rounds. There was not a mark on Corbett save a patch of red on his shoulder from Sullivan's wrists, while the great John L. actually was groggy.

Corbett saw that Sullivan was weak in the knees and could not hit. He thought it was time to show he was a real fighter, beyond any man's doubt. The tall young man in gray trunks unlimbered himself and went at the champion as if Sullivan were a punching bag. He did not trouble about his defense, but hit the big one in the face. You could hear the blows all over the hall—blows that came from a man who was said to hit like a child.

REFEREE INTERVENES

In five seconds, Sullivan had not a feature visible—lips, nose, eyes and ears were all one mass of raw, bleeding flesh. His arms hung by his side. Corbett gave him one more for California, and the big one sank to his knees as an ox falls slowly when the butcher strikes him fair in the forehead. He sank and put out his hand to save the shock of a fall and rolled over on his back.

There was a cheer that made Sullivan writhe on the ground and try to stagger to his feet. He had heard the lustful cry for blood a score of times when he stood erect and the other man writhed in the dust. He made one more effort and half rose as 10 was counted. Corbett dashed over at him only to be stopped by Referee Duffy.

Down sank Sullivan again. This time he was out.

"ONCE TOO OFTEN"

Sullivan's seconds lifted him on his chair, but his head fell forward on to his chest, his face was covered with blood and sand, his nose was battered and broken, and his lips protruded. He was sponged off and sprinkled with cold water and he began slowly to revive. In the meantime, Corbett was flying around the wire fence which enclosed the rope ring, shaking hands with those who crowded forward to congratulate him.

Sullivan held his arm aloft and said:

"All I have to say is this, I tried once too often."

Then they led him away and the crowd began to file out.

PRO GRID LOOP TO MEET HERE

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 16.—(AP.)—A special meeting of the National Football League to discuss proposed changes in the rules has been called for February 25 and 26 at Pittsburgh by Joe F. Carr, president of the organization.

At this meeting it will be decided if the goal posts are to be moved back on the goal line, whether the huddle and point after touchdown should be eliminated and some plan devised to cut down on the number of games.

Carr said the forward pass rule also might be altered to allow a pass from anywhere back of the line of scrimmage.

Yoter to Manage Wilkes-Barre Club

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Feb. 16.—(INS.)—Elmer Yoter, Pittsburgh, manager of the Danville club in the Three-Eye League last year, today was named playing manager of the Wilkes-Barre team in the New York-Pennsylvania League.

He succeeds Mike McNally, of Scranton, former Yankee star, who in three years brought two pennants and finished second with the Barons. Yoter signed a one-year contract. He will play third base.

Nebraska Alumni Here Elect Woth

The annual founders' day meeting of the Pittsburgh Chapter of the University of Nebraska Alumni Association was held last night at the Irwin home of Henry Myers.

Motion pictures of the Pitt-Nebraska football game of last fall were shown, and plans were laid to stage a reception for the Nebraska gridders here next season.

Officers were elected as follows: Theodore J. Woth, president; Ernest Pollard, treasurer; Henry Myers, secretary; Mrs. T. J. Woth, vice president.

Coast Service Teams Abandon Gridiron

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—After eight seasons of football, Army and Navy service elevens will not be organized this year on the Pacific coast.

The two military branches formed teams in 1925 and played a regular schedule thereafter, winding up the season with the grid spectacle at Berkeley which usually attracted 60,000 fans.

AIREDALE COPS SHOW TITLE

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—New monarchs of dogdom have been crowned at Madison Square Garden.

King of them all was Warland Protector of Shelterock, a champion airedale owned by S. M. Stewart, of Montclair, N. J.

Warland won a close verdict over a fine field, including the international champion Great Dane, Gunar V. Hollengarten, of Walnut Hall, owned by Harkness Edwards, of Donerail, Ky.

The victory was popular with the large crowd which filled the Garden to witness the finale of the fifty-fifth annual show of the Westminster Kennel Club, premier blue ribbon event of American dogdom.

Mrs. M. Hartley Dodge, niece of John D. Rockefeller, was the judge in the final event, the first time this honor has been accorded a woman.

CITY TO STAGE 1934 SQUASH TITLE PLAY

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Pittsburgh is due to play host to the national squash racquet championship tournament in 1934. This became known upon the return of local players from this year's national championship tourney, held in Detroit last week-end.

Although no dates have been set for the tourney so far and no sites here selected, it is likely that play will be divided between the Keystone Athletic Club, the Pittsburgh Golf Club and the P. A. A. The Golf Club is expected to take care of the team competition, with the K. A. C. handling the singles play and the P. A. A., if included, getting part of the singles.

Play in the K. A. C. class A championship tournament will be resumed today with C. A. Fagan meeting C. J. Caspar, Jr., in a semi-final match. The winner will meet W. D. Bickel Saturday afternoon for the title.

Bickel defeated George (Chip) Kennedy in his semi-final match yesterday, 15-5, 15-12, 10-15 and 15-8.

Class B competition will get under way next week.

STOCKS CRASH RESISTANCE LEVELS

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—Substantial selling sifted through the stock market today, reducing price averages to the lowest levels since early August. The list stiffened somewhat in the early afternoon, however.

The breaking of recent resistance levels and the adverse physchological effect of the attempt upon the life of the President-elect, were mentioned by brokers as influencing selling. The rails, as a group, have held above their low levels of the past four months, but industrials and utilities have broken through.

Some brokers expressed the opinion that the short interest had increased substantially, thus tending to improve the market's technical position. Considerable real liquidation was reported, however. The breaking of the lower resistance levels of the past four months by industrial and utility averages undoubtedly had an adverse effect upon sentiment, although chart theorists pointed out that breaking of the low level of the trading range by the rails would be necessary to "confirm" a decline tendency.

Although the report of the National Transportation Committee was described as "conservative" in many quarters, it was pointed out that the candor with which it discussed such matters as topheavy capital structures may have prompted some selling of securities. Some railroad interests had been anxious to have the legal lending powers of the R. F. C. broadened, which the report opposed. Nevertheless, progress in working out refunding plans was reported. Announcement that the Baltimore and Ohio's plan of refunding its $63,250,000 bond maturity has been made effective, is expected shortly.

Bears on the utility stocks have been making the most of discussions of rate reductions, and the New York Public Service Commission's report, hinting that utilities should introduce rate reductions, although explaining that the commission would continue to attempt to obtain cuts by its practice of negotiation, attracted attention.

WHEAT VALUES TURN UP

CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—Upturns in grain prices early today accompanied reports of approaching exhaustion of home grown wheat supplies in Europe and the Orient. There were also assertions that Argentina and Australia had both ceased to press wheat exports. Opening unchanged to ¼ higher, wheat afterward held near the initial limits. Corn started ⅛ off to ⅛ up, and subsequently altered little.

Wheat bulls contended prospects of enlarged takings of wheat by importing countries were simultaneous with increased appreciation of a bad crop outlook in the United States, Russia and elsewhere. Reactions from moderate advances, however, carried wheat values at times to below yesterday's finish. Corn and oats largely paralleled wheat action. Provisions were steady in the absence of any pressure to sell.

MICHIGAN BANK HOLIDAY SEEN AS WARNING

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
Universal Service.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—The bank holiday in Michigan should constitute a symptomatic warning to responsible leaders that there should be no further needless delay in putting through an economically sound program of economic rehabilitation.

Deflation to the bitter end may be bitter indeed.

The time has come to regiment management in the large, and through intelligent and swift co-operation between government and business to take steps which will again raise the gross volume of business. A pick-up in gross, for example, would instantly do more for the revival of railroad solvency than all the special recommendations of the experts.

Mr. Rukeyser

WORK FOR JOBLESS

The way to raise gross volume is through putting the economically disfranchised, like the unemployed in the cities and the impoverished millions on the farms, back into the ranks of those with spending power. Until trade is resumed amongst our vast social groups, symptoms of economic trouble will crop up one place after another.

There can be no prosperity in endless and unremitting cutting down. Judicious spending imparts the spark which makes our economic society function, and which diffuses gainful employment widely. The vicious circle of progressive retrenchment must be broken down by effective farm relief and by government aid for re-employment of at least part of the idle in public, semi-public and private construction schemes.

BUDGET WARNING

Bernard M. Baruch, who, like Owen D. Young, has the distinction of being an advisor to both the retiring and the incoming President, has loomed large in the news of the week. He was the first important witness before the Senate Finance Committee inquiry into means of relieving the depression, and was also a central figure in the report of the National Transportation Committee, which told the world what needs to be done with the railways.

Both President Hoover and Mr. Baruch focussed attention this week on sound money, emphasizing the non-partisan character of the problem. At this stage, it is true, uncertainty as to monetary standards adds to the jitters which beset businessmen, but unbalanced budgets and monetary upsets are consequences of the depression, rather than causes. The basic cause lies in the decline in gross volume of business and in the commodity price level, without a corresponding reduction in fixed charges, including taxes (which are kept up by the large expenditures of government).

The monetary disturbance dates further back than the unbalancing of budgets. Its seeds were sown in bad banking policy before the crash—in the diversion of loanable funds from self liquidating commercial operations to financing speculation, on the one hand, and using them as a substitute for long term capital for real estate, on the other.

National Banks' Resources Expand

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—Aggregate resources of 6,016 reporting national banks in the continental United States, Alaska and Hawaii on December 31, 1932, amounted to $23,310,974,000, an increase of $744,979,000 since September 30, 1932, when there were 6,085 reporting banks, according to Acting Comptroller of the Currency. The resources, however, decreased $1,351,312,000 since December 31, 1931.

Finance Again Exhibits Calm; Securities Up

By B. C. FORBES

The financial world again demonstrated that it has ceased to be easily stampeded.

Monday's news from Michigan affected the security market only a couple of hours. By afternoon, after moderate declines, steadiness had set in. Yesterday's market was calm and strong. The impression grows that unless Washington should indulge in upsetting contretemps, the trend is likely to be, on the whole, in the right direction. The "feeling" seems to be getting better among ordinary folks.

Mr. Forbes

The 700,000 American Telephone and Telegraph stockholders as well as investors and citizens in general, have reason to be more than ordinarily satisfied with the management that vast enterprise has enjoyed. It is about the only corporation of colossal side that has not been compelled to cut or stop dividends. Main credit is due Walter S. Gifford, its 48-year-old president.

He is one executive not tied to any banker or bankers' apron-strings. He has been as independently-minded as was his picturesque, intrepid predecessor, Theodore N. Vail. Gifford has had brains enough to formulate his own financing plans. He had brains enough, too, not to be misled by the speculative boom into sky-rocketing dividend payments. He scrupulously avoided top-heavy bonded indebtedness; he raised the hundreds of millions of new capital necessary to cope with demanded growth by issuing additional stock to his own stockholders at less-than-market quotations, but at such a premium that the average amount received per share sold stands at $108, or $8 above par. That is an extraordinary record.

Had all gigantic corporations been as ably and farsightedly managed, fewer dividends would have had to be omitted, fewer investors would have been ruined. Again yesterday American Telephone declared its full 9 per cent dividend rate.

READJUSTMENT designed to ease excessive stress and strain is the order of the day. Agriculture and real estate are receiving chief attention—railroads and banks have already been R. F. C. beneficiaries.

One level-headed businessman, G. P. Torrence, president of Linkbelt, who, some time ago, urged almost exactly the kind of action now being taken in agricultural states, has another idea worthy of consideration. Here, briefly, is his suggestion as outlined to me:

"Agriculture has never been under the Sherman act. Properly presented to Congress, it might be possible to exempt certain other raw material industries where the control of production is difficult, if not impossible, under the present law. This could be considered experimental and limited to coal, oil, lumber, copper and iron. Labor should support such a proposal.

"Certain safeguards would be required to avoid abuse. The logical body is the Federal Trade Commission. A code of ethics would be developed that would be

ROCKNE VOTED ACE LEADER OF DECADE

(Editor's Note—Fifty of the nation's leading sports critics have scanned the last 10 years of sporting activity, the remarkable period of 1923 to 1933, and ranked their favorites for the Associated Press. Yesterday they named Bob Jones as the "athlete of the decade" by a narrow margin over Babe Ruth. Today's story tells how they regarded the leaders, the "men behind the guns," within this period.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—By a margin so convincing that it leaves no room for the slightest doubt, Knute Kenneth Rockne stands out as the greatest of sports leaders over the past decade, in the opinion of those who have most closely scanned the whirl of events over the period of 1923 to 1933.

Of the 50 experienced newspaper sports writers and editors who cast their votes at the request of The Associated Press, 41 put Rockne's name at the head of their list of those conspicuous for their coaching, organizing and leadership ability. His death two years ago in an airplane accident has not dimmed the lustre of the genius of Notre Dame and his accomplishments in intercollegiate athletics.

Rockne's total points in this poll, on the basis of five for a first place, four for a second place and so on, nearly doubled the combined figures for his two nearest rivals, the late George L. (Tex) Rickard and Connie Mack.

Rockne, either first or second on every list, finished with 241 points. Rickard was next with 137 and Mack had 110.

Football, with seven, and boxing, with six, contributed the most names to the poll. Here are the detailed results:

	Votes Received	1	2	3	4	5	Pts.

ENGLISH WIN CRICKET TITLE

BRISBANE, Australia, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—England today defeated Australia by six wickets in the fourth test cricket match and made victory secure with three victories in hand in the five game series. Australia has won only the second match.

The English triumph returns to England the mythical "Ashes," emblematic of world cricket supremacy, which have been held by Australia since 1930 when they overwhelmed an English team in England.

Harold Larwood was the most effective bowler on the English team, taking 29 wickets in the four tests played, while Herbert Sutcliffe, famous English first wicket batsman, was the outstanding bat for the visitors.

Don Bradman, although failing to live up to his reputation, was the outstanding bat for the Aussies, scoring a century in the second test. W. J. O'Reilly was the best of the Australian bowlers, taking 24 wickets for 592 runs.

The final match of the series will be started a week from today at Sydney.

Krause Scores K. O. In Amateur Show

Three bouts ended in knockouts last night as amateur leather pushers went through their paces in Sokol Hall, Homestead, for the benefit of the First Ward Independent Club's welfare fund.

A three-round exhibition was staged between two former professional stars, Dick Loadman and Mushy O'Hara, both of Homestead. The summary:

Hitler's Wonders Clinch Flag In Germany

By BILL CORUM
International News Service.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—According to the cables, the Hitlers Wonders have clinched the pennant in Germany.

The captain of the Australian cricket team refused to shake hands with the captain of the English cricket team on the grounds that "somebody is not playing cricket around here."

Was that cricket?

Australia was trailing by 175 runs in the second inning, which must be why the papers call it the team from Down Under. But hold your "aussies" until they get a chance to bat.

The Governor of Michigan had $30 when that bank moratorium was declared. He'd better not be flashing it.

All our lives we've been hearing about eight-day clocks, but this is the first time we ever heard of eight-day banks.

Whether Dazzy Vance stays in St. Louis next season or not, the inside dope has it that there is no possibility of his coming to the Giants in 1933. Might have been so specified in the terms of the trade between the Robins and the Cards.

PONZI BOOSTS LEAD

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—Andrew Ponzi, of Philadelphia, added to his lead in his 750-point pocket billiard match with Ralph Greenleaf, defeating the national champion, 125 to 43, in 15 innings in their fourth block yesterday. The victory gave Ponzi a lead of 375 to 137.

REDHEAD

By SAMUEL MERWIN

Either Charlie was fighting an inner battle more savagely intense than anything Sue could understand, or else he simply didn't care, was downright sick of her. Probably the latter. She didn't know this Charlie. He seemed older. In this desperate plunge of his and in his vigorous struggle with the ferocity of the sea, he appeared to have found himself. He was a strong man. He meant business. Sue sensed that at last. She was pitifully lonely.

Early on the third morning he came up from below to find that she was scrubbing the deck. The boat was slipping easily along under a warm sky. Sue heard him and glanced up, kneeling just forward of the cabin house, brushed a dark lock of hair out of her eyes, and smiled. That was a mistake. But she couldn't help it.

But he merely stood by the companionway, without the slightest change of expression on his freckled, weather-beaten face; cast his eyes thoughtfully skyward; and with a muttered "Good-morning" turned to the wheel.

REACH LAND AGAIN

Sue flushed hotly. She wouldn't let him see that. She wouldn't even move aft to descend to the galley. She went down the forward hatch. Got his breakfast, crying.

It was in the dark of the next morning, with the "Sue" slipping in toward Tybee Roads, and Charlie napping at the wheel, that the blinding glare of a searchlight fell on the ketch, and the black bulk of a Coast Guard cutter swept alongside.

From the rather startling things that the officer had to say, the two voyagers began to glimpse something of the storm of publicity that was awaiting them. The radio had not mentioned the name of Hemingway lately, and Charlie had wondered, once or twice, whether a sensation-hungry world had, after all, forgotten the kidnaped heiress somewhere at sea in the midst of hurricanes. But he was to be roughly undeceived.

They slid by the Martins Industry lightship a few minutes past 11, at a speed, with motor wide open and all canvas drawing, of better than 10 miles an hour. Before 1 they were in the South Channel. Before 2:30 they lay anchored off pleasant old Savannah.

All Charlie had to say, and this as they were running up the river (what a hurry he was in! Leaving!) was the single crisp remark—"Better get into your shore things." He didn't even speak Sue's name. He was going straight through with it.

Two seaplanes had dropped on the water astern of the "Sue," and followed her for a few miles up the river, grinding cameras. At the pier, when Charlie had succeeded in picking up a harbor launch to get them ashore, the first rush of the reporters and news-reel men took them completely aback. He rushed her through to a taxi as quickly as he could. Sue clung to his arm and kept her face down.

IN SPOTLIGHT

Cameras clicked and ground on every hand. The most appallingly personal questions were fired at them—"Were they really married? How had they weathered the storm? Was it, after all, an old-fashioned boy-and-girl love match? Did they know that Mr. Hemingway and Lou Stinson's common-law wife were expected to settle the famous battle for the $7,000,000 out of court? Did Miss Hemingway know that Dick Inglesby had started to make the Atlantic flight with a girl from the Follies, had cracked up getting the ship off the Nova Scotia field, and had gone back to England?"

That one made Sue catch her breath. She muttered—"Well—that's a relief!" But Charlie, apparently, didn't hear.

Automobiles trailed them to the railway station. Within the waiting-room, flashlights boomed. Charlie's eyes blazed with anger. Once Sue, glancing up timorously, thought he was going to strike a particularly forward reporter; but he didn't. He kept his temper.

There was a train north within an hour. Charlie, using his head, finally got the station-master to take them into his office. Charlie bought a single ticket and berth, straight through to Boston. The pair of them waited in gloomy silence until the official returned with them.

Left together again, Charlie, who had been pacing the floor, snatched up the telephone instrument and gave Mr. Hemingway's address in Boston. Within a surprisingly short time the call was put through.

"Charlie Janes speaking," he said, briskly. "In Savannah. Yes, Georgia. Yes. I've landed Sue safely. She's taking the afternoon train back home. And I've got an idea you'll find you can talk with her now."

AWKWARD SITUATION

"Don't you want to talk with Sue herself? She's right here. Just a minute.

She lifted a hesitant hand. As hesitantly he took it. For a moment only. Then she turned, groping rather wildly for the telephone.

A film covered his eyes. Suddenly he had to swallow. He got to the door before discovering that he hadn't his hat. He looked about, but couldn't see clearly. Sue was speaking, unsteadily. "Oh, yes, dad! Perfectly well . . . Oh, that money? I wouldn't touch a cent of it! Not one cent. I . . . I guess I've come to see it your way, dad."

Charlie had his hat now. He rushed out; hunted about the station until he found the switchboard and paid for the call. Then he took a taxi and dashed about the city, loading up with supplies. Two hours later he boarded the Sue, dumping all his purchases into the cockpit.

Everywhere those newspapermen trailed him, even following him in boats to the anchorage. That curious gloomy anger deepened and deepened. The motion-picture men were photographing the boat. It made him furious. He yelled at them to leave him alone, but they came back at him with amiable enough banter.

(To Be Concluded Tomorrow).

ISN'T IT SO?

Best thing about castles we build in the air is that they are tax free.

The time a man is most charitable is when he fears something will be found out on him and he will need forgiveness.

SUN-TELEGRAPH-WARNER JUNIOR KOMIC CLUB

Jean Lontin, Betty Keary, Harriett Robins and Janet Bender, members of the Manor Chapter of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club, have just organized a unique club, known as the "B. A. L.'s." The girls at each of the Saturday meetings collect "canned goods" and other food stuff and then distribute it themselves among the poor of their district.

Clearfield's gain is the Manor Chapter's loss! Jack McQuillan, one of the most active members of the Manor Chapter, has moved to Clearfield, Pa., and on Saturday for many of the members, something seemed lacking. It was Jack's cheery smile. Everyone, including Manager Joe Blowitz, misses him.

A very successful Valentine party was held Tuesday at the home of Jean Lewin, among the guests were Jack Murry, Betty Samuels, Jane McClinteck, Ruthie Grebe, Maurice Katz and many others.

Some of the new members joining last week were: Audrey Mades, Robert Beyer, Betty Kish and Earl Wardey.

Marion Tenenbaum, who came all the way from Los Angeles to visit her cousin, Jean, has started for home. The cold weather made her cut short her stay here. However, she attended several of the Junior Komic Club meetings and Manager Joe Blowitz conferred on her an honorary membership.

Maxine Rauch, who has been living in South Bend, Ind., for the past three months, attended the meeting Saturday and all the members gave her a rousing reception.

JUNIOR PATROL PLEDGE

I promise to help children less fortunate than I am,
I promise to do my best to make my parents proud of me.
I promise to watch carefully when crossing streets and to aid other children in keeping out of danger.
I promise to be a 100% Junior Patrol member.

THE COMPOSITION OF A FINE, SANDY LOAM (SCIENCE)

A fine, sandy loam shown in its component parts (labelled as to their proportions), separated by shaking the soil in water. When so treated, the larger particles settle first. By repeating, any number of separations can be made. The soil is named after the part it contains in greatest percentage.

READING THE STAMP ACT

Bostonians in 1765 reading the stamp act and two of the leaders of its opposition. The act imposed a stamp duty of one-half cent to 20 shillings for every pamphlet, newspaper, legal or commercial document. Violators were to be tried in British admiralty courts without a jury. Thus, there were vigorous remonstrances, violence in the aroused Colonies. Patrick Henry wrote resolution blanks against the Act in law books and Col. Barre, English common, defended the colonists, calling them "Sons of Liberty." (Ogg: Pageant of America). (Problems of Democracy).

1. SUCTION 2. COMPRESSION 3. EXPLOSION 4. EXHAUST

The four strokes of an internal combustion engine (the Otto cycle) used in the automobile: 1. The piston moves downward and sucks the fuel-vapor and air mixture through the raised intake valve (I. V.) into the cylinder. I. Is the intake opening. 2. The piston moves upward, with intake and exhaust valves closed, and the fuel and air are compressed and preheated for better explosion. 3 An electric spark, produced by the spark plug, fires the mixture, which burns quickly, the heat of combustion (3,000 degrees F.) expanding the combustion gases (CO_2, CO, H_2O), which forces the piston downward. The valves are still closed. 4. The upward-moving piston pushes the gases through the raised exhaust valve (E. V.) and out of the cylinder.

GREAT PYRAMID, SPHINX, TEMPLE OF SPHINX

The Great Pyramid, built 5,000 years ago by Cheops, King of Egypt. It is the largest, most massive building in the world, covering 12 acres and rising 481 feet from the plain. It required more than 2,000,000 huge stones, some weighing more than 50 tons, to build and many are so neatly fitted that the joints can scarcely be detected. The vertical section shows: A., entrance passage; B, later opening; D., first ascending passage; E., horizontal passage; F. queen's chamber; G., grand gallery; H., ante-chamber; I., coffer; K. king's chamber; M., N., ventilators; O., subterranean chamber; P., well, so-called. The head of the Sphinx is supposed to have the features of a pharaoh. (Baikie: The Story of the Pharaohs; West: The Ancient World). (World's History.)

Quick oxydation causes high temperature and the heat released by the acetylene, burning in oxygen promptly melts the steel. Can't a Man Shoot His Own Lions?

Yet, there's a fellow out in the muddled West who started a lion stampede and ran into a barbecue of envy and jealousy.

He bought the lions retail in Africa. Two in a set.

They were guaranteed to be as vicious as the girl who finished third in the beauty contest.

In selling them the lion merchant said, "These animals will bite your ears off so clean they won't spoil your dial.

"If you're listening to a radio concert you can follow them ears for miles and still hear it.

"They are treacherous as technocracy and will turn on a man like an ingrown hair.

"And when you get 'em out to Missouri don't forget they are

Well, the fellow bought the lions, put 'em on an island in the Mississippi and got ready to shoot them. It aroused a storm of philanthropic protest from people who would faint at a beetle in a news reel.

An officer of the law beat the man's time by shooting the lions himself. The cop then called in his son and said:

"Boy, get married. I want to lie to my grandchildren."

The lion hunter bought another brace of lions and put them on another island to grow up with the business. He was determined to shoot a lion if he had to set on the eggs himself.

We didn't care much what happened to his second lion expedition. But we hoped they would allow him to shoot the African punks because the baseball season was soon starting and we're betting that Babe Ruth knocks out another 60.

A Greater Pittsburgh

The Senate's Action Improves the Prospect That the Will of the Majority Will Triumph.

The majority of the people of Allegheny County are in favor of the Metropolitan plan under which the boundaries of the city would be extended to include the whole county.

The plan would allow the constituent cities, boroughs and townships to retain a considerable measure of home rule, yet would eliminate overlapping governmental activities and duplicate jobs and thus permit a large saving of the taxpayers' money.

By making Pittsburgh the fourth or fifth city of the United States in population the plan would increase the prestige of the community and help business.

Notwithstanding that the majority of the voters favor the plan, it was defeated in the election of June, 1929, because of the requirement that it should receive not only a majority vote in the county but a two-thirds majority in a majority of the municipalities. It received an overwhelming majority in the county and a majority in a majority of the municipalities, but fell short of a two-thirds majority. Had 374 additional votes been spotted in 13 municipalities—not more than 50 in any one—the plan would have carried.

The Senate has done a commendable thing in adopting Senator James J. Coyne's resolution providing for the resubmission of the question to the people in a form which will permit the majority to rule. It is to be hoped the House of Representatives will take similar action, and in view of the sponsorship the plan has obtained there is every reason to believe it will.

The need for governmental economy and for doing away with unnecessary jobs has been intensified during the four years that have passed since the plan was up before the voters, and it should commend itself to their favor more strongly now than before.

No Tax-Exempt Bonds!

Senator Hull's Proposed Constitutional Amendment Should Receive Immediate Consideration.

Senator Hull, of Tennessee has proposed in the Senate an amendment to the Federal Constitution that ought to receive immediate consideration in both houses of the present Congress.

The Hull amendment would forbid the further issuance by federal, state or local governments of any tax-exempt securities in time of peace. In time of war, however, Congress might exempt from taxation for a period of five years, the income from any securities issued to pay the cost of the conflict.

Experience proves that it was a costly mistake for the United States to contract away its power, by tax-exemption in peace time, to tax wealth.

Already approximately thirty-six thousand million dollars of federal, state and local securities have been issued, which are largely exempt from taxation.

These properties, prior to the present depression, aggregated in value sixty thousand million dollars.

As the author of the Sixteenth Amendment to the Constitution by which Congress was authorized to tax incomes, Senator Hull's argument in favor of stopping the issuance of any more tax free securities will command respect.

Wealth is not paying its due proportion of income taxes today because many wealthy citizens are escaping the payment of any income taxes by investing their surplus in tax-exempt securities.

As Senator Hull truly says:

"It is unwise to create a class in the country which can not be reached for tax purposes. Such a policy is utterly inconsistent, and at war with any system of graduated income surtaxes, and it would ultimately destroy the latter.

"In the event of war, it would be an unspeakable tragedy for the nation to have locked up in tax-exempt securities $40,000,000,000 to $75,000,000,000 owned by a privileged class, which could not be reached even for the most urgent and emergency war tax."

As long as federal, state and local governments adhere to the existing unjust and stupid tax-exempt policy, they encourage confiscatory surtaxes on present income-taxpayers, extravagant public expenditures and utterly unnecessary increases of debt.

This fatuous tax-exempt policy, as the Senator from Tennessee is only the latest authority to point out, is not only depriving government of revenue to which it is entitled but also "driving the nation into a condition wherein there is gradually arising a great idle class living on tax-exempt income."

If the federal government were free today to impose income taxes on all tax-exempt securities in the United States, confiscatory surtaxes on incomes could be abolished, the budget could be balanced, and emergency legislation for the relief of unemployment could be financed without any large increase in the burden of existing taxpayers.

This is not a partisan question. Both Republican and Democratic Secretaries of the Treasury in recent years have strongly urged a constitutional amendment preventing any further issuance of tax-free securities.

If the present Congress will submit to the states before adjournment the Twenty-first Amendment to the Federal Constitution proposed by the able Senator from Tennessee, it will be promptly ratified and the whole country will benefit by this urgently needed change in our tax system.

A Patriotic Move

The House of Representatives Has Acted Wisely in Indorsing the "Buy American" Campaign.

If there is any state that would profit more than others by the "Buy American" movement it is Pennsylvania.

We have pointed out in these columns recently how our basic industry—the manufacture of iron and steel—is menaced by the cheap Japanese iron that is being offered at American ports for $4 a ton less than the cost of the domestic product.

We have called attention to the harm that cheap British and Russian coal, laid down at Boston for $1.89 a ton less than it costs to lay down a ton of the Pennsylvania product there, is doing to another of our chief industries.

And as it is with iron and coal, so is it with many other Pennsylvania products. With depreciated currencies and pauper labor, foreigners are able to undersell us in our own territory.

Hence the need for rallying to the protection of the industries and manufactures upon which Pennsylvania workmen depend for a living. The slogan is and must be, "Buy American!"

The House of Representatives at Harrisburg has acted patriotically and wisely in passing a resolution indorsing this movement. The House did not exaggerate when it declared the importation of foreign goods in excessive quantities is extremely harmful to Pennsylvania and seriously increases the difficulties of our citizens in finding remunerative labor.

Still holding fast, quite touchingly

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

Your Voice

Sometimes I hear you calling in the night,
Though well I know that you are far from here,
And all my veins are flooded with delight
At those faint cadences, so crystal-clear.
Sometimes your voice comes drifting down the wind
When on a lonely road I walk along;
Your voice, with each inflection tender, kind,
Each sound more sweet than any note of song.

Sometimes your words are in the falling rain
And I have heard them through the rustling leaves;
Though sorrow comes with autumn blight again,
The thought of you makes rich life's scanty sheaves.
Let doubters scoff at truths I can not prove,
How clear the voice, how quick the ears of love!

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—There are despairing days for those young girls who land haphazard in the metropolis, hugging their big dreams. To cling to their ideals, and at the same time find honorable livelihood is more difficult than ever. Most of these girls long for careers on the stage, radio or in the night clubs. They arrive thin-pursed, and meet rebuffs at every turn—unless! A letter today, from one of them, voices a lament which has become quite general:

"I want to remain decent, but I must live until the world is flooded with sunshine again. Several times, I seemed on the threshold of a job, only to run against the usual goneness. That is to say, I must sacrifice a code that means more to me than the business of living itself."

There are reliable agents, but it is not fiction that a number are laison officers for rich men who want attractive and pliable ladies for whoop-em-up affairs. Often, the girls do not realize their status until the wine begins to bubble.

The sweeping curtailment of house detectives in New York hotels is part of the new order. Many do not permit them above the mezzanine. The pontifical notion that every guest was a potential philanderer brought suits. Jay Flippen once chirped he paid $15 for his room. "Five for lodging and $10 for the house dick," he added.

Those who once beat wooden hammers on the tables of the Midnight Frolic in the New Amsterdam would be surprised at the change. It is still a theater, but one where silent audiences listen to the artists of a broadcasting organization. Eddie Cantor, once one of the stage stars, now appears before the microphone there. The invited audience is composed largely of suburbanites, who thrill to a close-up of radio favorites.

Two New York hotels, whose minimum rate was $8 a day, now offer outside rooms with bath, plus continental breakfast, for $3. The breakfast in a sealed container is slipped under the door—a thermos of coffee, a preserve, hot roll and pat of butter. Dishes are in a receptacle in the writing desk. Thus, tipping a waiter is eliminated. There are other hotels where rooms with bath are priced at $2 a day, and some offer bathless rooms for $1.

I was thinking today, in passing one of the celebrated Guggenheims on the avenue, how enormous wealth beglamors a name that has the pop-bottle splutter of old-time burlesque. One could imagine "The Rich Mr. Hoggenheimer" having for his partner a Mr. Guggenheim. Yet, somehow, there is stark austerity and the sheen of aristocratic refinement about the name of Guggenheim.

There was a roustabout character in the mosaic monotony of the mud flats in our town, named Basil Cliff. To us he was just Old Baz Cliff. Yet, when I write—go right ahead and boo your heads off—The Great American Novel, the debonaire villain, with Monte Carlo manners and a Vienna mustache twirl, is going to be Basil Cliff. With a million, it's a grand name.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

YOU GET WHAT YOU GIVE.

That's the first law in life, and it works out as exactly as a mathematical proposition.

YOU GET WHAT YOU GIVE OUT OF WORK.

That, of course, isn't the usual idea. Most of us believe that the job makes the mood, and that happiness depends on finding the right job. But there's no "right" job unless you make it right—and any job may be "right" if you bring to it the makings.

You can't always pick your job. But you can always determine your own attitude to any job. And any job may be made interesting if you decide to make it interesting. It can be done.

Your mind has certain powers, just as your body has certain powers. You can generate enthusiasm within yourself, just as surely as you can generate heat.

AND YOU'LL GET OUT OF THAT JOB EXACTLY WHAT YOU GIVE TO IT.

If you approach it with indifference or reluctance, with self-pity or resentment, you'll get out of it boredom, irritation, discouragement and disappointment. If you approach it with eagerness and interest, you'll get out of it pride and pleasure and a sense of adventure.

Try it on your own kitchen sink or carpenter's kit. Dish-washing may be as dreary as suicide—or as romantic as a gypsy caravan.

YOU GET WHAT YOU GIVE OUT OF LOVE.

Love isn't "just something that happens." Love is what we make it. If we make it an episode of selfish indulgence, calculating our sacrifices with a resentful eye, doling out our caresses with a suspicious heart, love will return our sour investment with 8 per cent interest.

But if we love for the sake of love itself, giving ourselves beautifully and abundantly without counting the cost, all our life will be glorified.

And this is true, even though the one we love prove utterly false or unworthy. It is true, even though the recklessness of our love leads us down into poverty, shame and despair—though, indeed, there is no law against using one's head, even in love! But however ill-advised, however reckless or foolish, love, if it be real, is worth all it costs.

YOU GET WHAT YOU GIVE OUT OF OTHER PEOPLE.

There is no set law for estimating people, or handling them. People are as you take them. If you expect to find them petty, tricky, cussed and cowardly, they'll justify your meanest expectations. The greatest saint on earth has a shoddy streak—and any peevish fool can discover it. But, by the same token, the ghastliest sinner has his noble dream—which he'll share with you, if you believe in it.

Go to your neighbor with a friendly heart, and 99 times out of 100 he'll give you friendliness in return. And, in the hundredth case, you'll still be the richer for the experience.

YOU GET WHAT YOU GIVE OUT OR YOURSELF.

You are, in a way, two people. You are what you are—and you are what you think of yourself. Like the rest of the human race you have all qualities, both good and evil, within yourself. And you'll get what you expect yourself to be.

The deadliest betrayal on earth—the very blackest of all betrayal—is lack of faith in yourself.

If you expect yourself to be great and good, you can walk with the gods. But if you expect yourself to be a flop, you'll speedily crawl with the worms.

YOU GET WHAT YOU GIVE—out of yourself and other people, out of work and play, out of life and love—

EVEN OUT OF YOUR SECRET DREAM OF GOD!

Isn't It So?

A marriage that can withstand six bridge games will never hit the divorce courts.

Text For Today

In the day of prosperity be joyful, but in the day of adversity consider: God also hath set the one over against the other, to the end that man should find nothing after him.—Ecclesiastes, vii:14.

Today's text is suggested by the Rev. Richard Boyd Johnson, pastor, Fourth United Presbyterian Church, East End.

Power Report: German Crisis: German Jews

By Claude G. Bowers

Author of "The Struggle for Democracy in America," "Founders of the Republic," "Jefferson and Democracy," "The Tragic Era" and other important works, now writing for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

It must be quite clear to England and other debtor nations by this time that there is not the slightest disposition here to permit them to dictate the terms of any settlement that may be made. It seems a pity that the blundering of Neville Chamberlain should have diminished by half the prospects of a settlement of any sort.

His speech at Leeds went far to neutralize the good effects of the payment of December 15; and his repetition of the blunder seemed like defiance. The explanations from London that England must make common cause with France in any settlement made, followed with the suggestion that we accept 10 per cent of what is owing us; and then that we wipe out the 11 billion on the payment of two and a quarter, without any concessions of any sort from the debtors, has put Congress, which must pass upon any settlement made, in an ugly mood.

Secretary Ogden Mills has served a useful purpose in his speech Saturday night in making it plain that "the American people are entitled to compensatory advantages for sacrifices they may be called upon to make."

Mr. Rainey, who seems destined to the Speakership in the House, has reflected the attitude of Congress; and Silas Strawn, former head of the American Chamber of Commerce, has voiced the view of business in demanding that for any concessions on the debts there must be trade concessions that are an equivalent, to us.

So overwhelmingly is American sentiment set that, unless England is prepared to negotiate on this basis, it would be infinitely better not to attempt negotiations at all.

Utilities Milk Public of Millions

From Athens we learn that Mr. Samuel Insull has no wish to return to America, and we can readily believe it. He will remain in Greece because it is the only place, he says, where he can get "justice." We are not so sure of that.

But he is positive that wicked politicians are responsible for his plight, and so he remains comfortably in Athens, "pure as light and stainless as a star," while vast numbers of human beings, ruined by his manipulations, look about for bread.

Meanwhile the Federal Trade Commission reports on its investigation of the power trust without getting much of a spread in the news. Not, we are sure, because the public is not interested—for it is. Everyone is interested in the announcement that the power trust floated over a billion dollars' worth of watered stock, on which the consumers have to pay dividends in the rates charged. Only a moron would fail to be interested in that.

The Commission adds:

"It has shown an intensive padding of costs to operating companies through exorbitant fees charged for alleged services to holding companies, such fees amounting in some instances to 12 per cent of the cost of all additions, improvements and replacements, and giving to the holding companies profits of over a hundred per cent at a cost to the operating companies of millions of dollars."

It is not without reason that America is in the slough of despond now, and it has not been the "politicians" who put us there. How much better it would have been if, years ago, the Senate had "wasted time talking" about such proceedings and legislating a bit to end them.

Mr. Roosevelt, in his Columbus speech, showed that he intends to put an end to methods deliberately devised to loot the people.

Parliamentary Rule Ended in Germany?

The movement in favor of ending parliamentary government on the theory that it is none of the people's business how they are governed has spread to Germany. Of course, that is the meaning of Hitler's elevation. Hitler is king; but the power behind the throne is Hugenberg, the spokesman of the royalist National party. We owe to him the knowledge that the present "government of concentration," while engaged in a Reichstag election campaign, is not taking the election seriously. One is justified in concluding that regardless of the result of the election, Hitler will stay on; and that means the end of the republic and the end of democracy in Germany.

For Hugenberg publicly declares that this is to be the last election. He makes it plain that the purpose is to end parliamentary government.

He practically announces that a few men intend to rule by force, regardless of the will of the people.

If he knows whereof he speaks, even Hindenburg has surrendered, and the republic is dead.

Will Germans Support Persecution of Jews?

The theory that Hitler's rule means the smashing of capitalism and the rule of the middle class is pure piffle for this reason: Hitler is in, not on his own, but on sufferance of the Hugenbergs and Von Papens. These represent the aristocracy of the junkers and industrialists. And these are not enemies of capitalism; and they are far from being friends of the middle classes.

When the Hugenbergs and Von Papens become cup bearers for a dictator proposing an interference with property rights, we are dreaming.

There are parts of the Hitler program which those on whose support he is dependent can support.

And in the building up of a militant German nationalism.

Will they support him in his plan for the persecution of the Jews? Bismarck had too much sense for that.

Bismarck Relied On Jewish People

Lloyd George, writing in the N. Y. American, thinks it probable that Hitler will adopt repressive measures against the Jews; but the brilliant little Welshman is not quite sure that Hitler has the power to carry on. Comparing him with Bismarck, he finds much lacking—"practical sagacity . . . will power . . . experience . . . tenacious grasp of affairs."

If Hitler dreams of an anti-Semitic movement he lacks something else that Bismarck had—a sense of reality, common sense.

It was Lasalle, a Jew, with whom Bismarck could not talk enough on matters of state. It was Bleichroder, a Jew, to whom he entrusted the management of his property. It was of Simon, a Jew, that he wrote:

"He is filled with genuine patriotism; is a noble vessel into which the most sublime sentiments have been poured."

It was Cohen, a Jewish physician, to whom he entrusted his health.

It was Bismarck who forced the emancipation of the German Jew politically, on the ground that a nation with no state religion cannot discriminate; and because of "special capacity and intelligence for affairs of state" in the Jews.

Will Hitler imitate Wilhelm and "drop the pilot?"

Hitler Forbids Radio to Enemies

The Hitler government, as Hugenberg shows, does not take the coming elections seriously, and he implies that regardless of results Hitler will hold on. There is another reason why it is not a real election: The other night Hugenberg and Von Papen addressed 15,000 people in Berlin, but the radio carried their speeches to every nook and corner. Every important speech for the Hitler government will be carried on the air.

And not one speech by anyone speaking for the republic and democracy will be carried on the air.

It will not be carried on the air because the Hitler government forbids it.

Need any more be said?
